RUSSIA SAID PLANNING IBCM BASES IN CHINA

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Times quotes a "very reliable source on the China mainland" that Russia will start this spring to build intercontinental missile bases in nine northeast provinces of Red China.

The paper, which supports Nationalist China, says an advance team of over 100 Russian experts and a few Germans are completing a survey in central Manchuria.

The newspaper publishes a map showing Alaska, Honolulu and Australia as the main potential targets.

Missile Firing A-Subs for U.S.

Delivery of First of Three Likely In 1960; Total Cost $300 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy today awarded contracts for three atomic-powered submarines to fire Polaris guided missiles.

The first deliveries of the new missile-firing submarines, which will cost an estimated $300,000,000, are expected in 1960, to coincide with the time when the ballistic missiles are expected to be ready for quantity production.

It has been estimated the first vessel will cost between $105,000,000 and $110,000,000, with the cost of the next two dropping to between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000.

The Polaris subs, designed to launch 1,500-mile range ballistic missiles while submerged, will be the largest known submarines ever built, of about 5,600 tons displacement.

The submarines will be 380 feet long, with a 33-foot beam, and presumably with a hull structure high enough for mounting the 30-foot-long missiles vertically.

Up to 16 intermediate-range missiles will be carried on each ship, each missile presumably able to mount a hydrogen warhead capable of more than 10,000,000 tons of explosive force.

CRUSADER DIES

WIRE BRIEFS

Hurt by Land Mine

WIESBADEN, West Germany (CP)—A Canadian soldier, Cpl. R. D. Burton, of Wabamun, Alta., injured when he stepped on a land mine while patrolling the Israeli-Egyptian border with the United Nations Emergency Force, was flown here today for treatment at the United States Air Force hospital.

Admits Holdups

MANNHEIM, Germany (AP)—The state prosecutor announced today that Kurt Schuler, convicted in a robbery slaying here last November, has admitted eight other holdups in Canada and the United States. All the Canadian holdups were in the Toronto area.

Gagnon Sworn In

QUEBEC (CP)—Hon. Onesime Gagnon today was sworn in as Quebec's lieutenant-governor. It is the first time that a member of Quebec's Union Nationale party has been appointed lieutenant-governor.

8 Miners Killed

CALTANISSETTA, Sicily (AP)—At least eight miners were killed and another 64 injured, several of them gravely, in a terrific gas explosion that ripped through a sulphur mine here today.

U.K. Jobless Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — Unemployment in Britain is on the rise, it was announced by the ministry of labor. Those out of work Jan. 13 totalled 395,527, or 1.8 per cent of the working population

Expropriations Probe

TORONTO (CP) — Mines Minister Spooner said today he is meeting with Ontario fuel board officials to determine whether there should be restrictions on expropriation rights of pipeline companies.

EARLY SHOW OF 'YELLOW GOLD'

First shipment of field-grown daffs from famous Saanich daffodil farms was sent out today by William Mattick, Cordova Bay grower. This is earliest field harvest since 1941. Growers expect longer season and better than average production to give them a banner year. (Times Photo.)

Ex-Accountant Denies Hating BCFP President

(Special to The Times)

VANCOUVER—Trevor Daniels testified today that as former chief financial officer of British Columbia Forest Products he knew of no arrangement with Pacific Coast Services Limited for acquisition of timber.

The crown witness, who testified Thursday that $30,000 was paid by B.C. Forest Products to Pacific Coast Services, and that he had been told it was to go all or in part to former forests minister Robert Sommers, was under cross-examination in the preliminary hearing of bribery-conspiracy charges against Sommers, three other individuals and four companies.

He agreed with D. McK. Brown, counsel for B.C. Forest, that there probably was "some arrangement" between the company's late president, Hector Munro, and Pacific Coast Services for timber acquisition, but he didn't know of it.

Mr. Brown asked Mr. Daniels —who quit his job with B.C. Forest Products in December, 1954, in a row with the president over payments by the company—if he knew that in fact a total of $56,000 had been paid to Pacific Coast Services.

Magistrate Oscar Orr interjected that the question was improper from a hearsay point of view.

Mr. Brown rephrased it and asked Mr. Daniels if he knew that B.C. Forest had paid Pacific Coast Services more than $30,000, namely $56,000.

The witness replied: "I know of no other payment than the two $15,000 cheques mentioned yesterday and a further $2,000 as the first two monthly installments on a contract in 1954." He admitted that the $1,000-a-month payments probably had to do with the purchase of timber.

Mr. Daniels reviewed the setting up of BC. Forest from a group of companies in 1946 and said he had been asked by Toronto lawyer M. W. McCutcheon and E. P. Taylor to come to B.C. and take care of the new company until a management was formed for it.

STEWART McMORRAN
. . . Sommers case prosecutor

Ambition for Presidency Denied

He agreed his position could be described as financial "watchdog" of the company until he left in 1954. Mr. Munro had succeeded Mr. Taylor as president of the company, but Mr. Daniels did not agree with a suggestion by counsel that he might have got the job instead.

"I don't think I would have been competent to take over Mr. Munro's place," he said.

At one point Mr. Brown suggested Mr. Daniels had become "livid" during examination by police over something which was alleged to have been said by a B.C. Forest Products official.

Mr. Daniels admitted he had been resentful.

Mr. Brown: "You disliked Hector Munro?"

Mr. Daniels: "That's ridiculous."

Mr. Brown: "I suggest you hated Munro."

Mr. Daniels: "Oh, come now, I have been to dinner with him and to his house since I left the company."

Mr. Brown: "I suggest you hated him."

Mr. Daniels: "That is an absolute fabrication."

Mr. Brown: "You resented the fact that he had been made president of the company."

Mr. Daniels: "I certainly did not."

Mr. Daniels had said Thursday the company paid out $30,000 in consideration for a forest management licence and that all or part of it went to Mr. Sommers.

Mr. Daniels told Mr. Brown that he did not have any direct participation in the ultimate decisions on timber purchases by BCFP.

Big Commission Would Be Paid

He said he had no knowledge of any services performed by H. Wilson Gray or PCS in connection with attempts by BCFP to acquire Jorgenson Timber Co. or the Kapoor Timber.

However, he agreed that a substantial commission would be paid to anyone who could arrange purchase of the assets of Kapoor. He said he believed BCFP was prepared to pay $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 for the Kapoor company.

Mr. Daniels said BCFP "definitely decided" to buy Kapoor if it could purchase the assets and not the shares of the company.

"You wouldn't be surprised to learn that Pacific Coast Services were engaged to help in attempting the purchase," asked Mr. Brown.

"It would surprise me considerably," Mr. Daniels said.

Mr. Daniels later said he had heard rumors about Schultz Ltd. and had thought they should be investigated because BCFP had retained the consultant firm in an application for a forest management licence.

Magistrate Orr ended the exchange between Mr. Brown and Mr Daniels by ordering a five-minute adjournment.

Mr. Daniels, who was flushed, complained that his latent ulcer was acting up. It had begun bothering him recently.

Winter Hits Prairies, Maritimes

EDMONTON (CP) — The coldest weather of the winter held the Prairies in a firm grip today with temperatures dipping as low as 39 degrees below zero.

Prince Albert, home of Prime Minister Diefenbaker and site of his nomination meeting today, was the coldest reporting spot in Canada overnight with a 39-below reading.

Elsewhere, temperatures ranged from around 35 below in northern regions to 10 below in southwestern Alberta where cloud cover kept thermometers up a little.

HALIFAX (CP) — A sneak snowstorm that howled up from Maine early Thursday dumped up to 10 inches of snow on the Maritimes.

A fire at Wellington Station, P.E.I., destroyed five buildings and caused damage estimated at $100,000.

The captain and three crew members of the 42-foot Saint Pierre escaped in a dory when the fishing boat grounded near Glace Bay, N.S., at the height of the storm.

TRIBUTE TO ACCIDENT VICTIM

'Feeling of Deep Sadness Pervades Our School'

"A feeling of deep sadness pervades our school this morning, when we learned of the sudden and untimely end of one of our best-liked and pleasantest schoolmates, James (Jimmie) Sheard, who was killed in a car accident yesterday evening.

"Everybody in our school who knew Jimmie (and nearly everybody did) found him a good sport, a cheerful companion, a valuable friend, and a hard-working student. His small stature housed a big heart and a dynamo of energy that worked always to the advantage of our school. Whatever he did, he did well, and in every branch of school life—sports, house activities, social affairs, students' council and studies —we were always aware of his cheerful, smiling enthusiasm.

"His passing leaves a gap in our ranks that can never really be filled. May he, in some fuller and better life, find expression for all the talent that he would have shown in this one, had it not been denied to him."

This was Mount View High School's tribute to a model student.

James Alfred (Jimmie) Sheard, 16, of 65 Lotus, was killed almost instantly when he was in collision with a car at Trans-Canada Highway and Wascana at 6.20 p.m. Thursday.

An inquest—second for a traffic death in Greater Victoria this year—will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at McCall's funeral home.

The boy, student manager of Mount View basketball team, was going home from an after-school practice in company with three other 16-year-old players.

According to police, the boys had just walked down Wascana and were waiting to cross the highway through fairly heavy traffic when Jimmie looked to his left and started to run across.

A car driven east by Allan W. Gray, 2803 Admirals, approached from the boy's right in the dusk.

DIDN'T LOOK RIGHT

The other boys said their companion did not look to his right and ran immediately in front of the car, which was travelling at about 30 miles an hour.

Sheard, an only child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Sheard, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

It is believed he had neck and skull fractures.

Terry Kochems, 16, of 3125 Earl Grey, said "Jim decided not to wait for the traffic to pass but to run for it. We yelled for him to stop but I guess he didn't hear us."

The other boys were Fred Wright, 16, of 3061 Earl Grey, and Terry Johnston, 16, of 7 Gorge West.

They said Jimmie looked as he let one car pass, but did not look the other way as he started to run.

Apparently he saw the oncoming car as he got to the white centre line, veered to try and avoid it, but failed. The others thought he had made it safely, then saw his feet fly as the impact threw him.

The driver said he did not see the boy until the collision, when he put on his brakes hard.

Kochems said he ran across the highway to where his friend lay on the gravel shoulder about 50 feet from the point of impact. He felt for a pulse.

"There was still a slight beat," he said.

At Mount View where Jimmie was in grade 11, there was a subdued, respectful aura in the rooms and corridors as teachers and students alike mourned his death.

The tribute above was run off this morning for inclusion in the school newspaper due for circulation today.

Principal Frank Rendle said: "It is not often we get such a combination of good student and sportsman."

He described the boy as a superior student, but also active in all school sports.

"He was all-around good in everything," his principal said.

Romania Reds Hold British Envoy Worker

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain complained today that Communist authorities abducted a local member of the British legation staff in Bucharest, Romania, last Wednesday.

A foreign office statement said the legation worker, a Romanian, was accosted by five men in front of the legation and "with considerable violence" was bundled into a car and driven away.

Iraq-Jordan Merger Rivals Egypt-Syria

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Iraq and Jordan joined today in a new Arab federation—Al Ittihad al Arabi—proclaimed shortly after sunrise on the Muslem holy day.

Their merger created a pro-Western rival to the United Arab Republic Syria and Egypt proclaimed two weeks ago.

King Faisal II of Iraq and King Hussein of Jordan—22-year-old second cousins of the Hashemite dynasty—agreed to merge their countries' finances, economies, and foreign affairs. They will retain separate local governments and thrones, but Faisal was named chief of state.

The federation differs sharply from the UAR, which on paper will reduce Egypt and Syria to provinces of one highly centralized government to be run by Egyptian President Nasser. The Iraqui-Jordanian merger also cements the geographical wedge between Syria and Egypt, posing Nasser the problem of controlling his new province from 120 miles away. Also in between is Israel.

Leaders of the UAR look to the Communist world for military, political and economic aid. Iraq and Jordan look to the West, which buys Iraq's oil and bolsters improverished Jordan with military and economic aid.

Although the new federation is expected to continue the pro-Western policy which both governments have followed individually, one of the first results is likely to be Iraq's withdrawal from the Western-backed Baghdad Pact. This would pave the way for Saudi Arabia, which borders the federation on the south, to join.

Give-Away Poll

OTTAWA (CP) — Private radio broadcasters today asked the CBC board of governors to test public opinion before adopting regulations to restrict broadcast contest and give-away programs.

Macmillan Returns To Political Crisis

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today returned from a 30,000-mile eastern Commonwealth tour to find his government facing a political crisis at home.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler, who was the leader of the government during Macmillan's six-week absence, was at the airport to give the prime minister a report on the shattering Tory setback in the Rochdale by-election this week.

Sun-tanned and chipper Macmillan told reporters at the airport that the by-election was "disappointing to me, but I am not discouraged."

"I do not intend, if I have the support of my colleagues in parliament, to abandon my task."

Macmillan scored a personal triumph in a precedent-making tour that took him to India, Pakistan, Ceylon, New Zealand and Australia. He also stopped in Singapore.

$8 Million Fire

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A spectacular fire, fed by drums of gasoline and chemicals and punctuated by periodic explosions, destroyed a block-long warehouse Thursday night, causing damage tentatively estimated up to $8,000,000.

'IDEAL PLACES' IN RUSSIA SAY DOUKS

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Four leaders of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect said here today they found several "ideal places" in Russia for settling some 3,000 followers now living in British Columbia.

William Moojelsky of Shoreacres, B.C., would not say where his group travelled in the Soviet Union but maps of a Siberian area near the Mongolian border were hung on the walls of his hotel room.

Moon 'Traveller' Tired But Recovers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Air Force officials said today Donald G. Farrell, on the downhill side of a make-believe seven-day trip to the moon, had shown his first signs of real fatigue in the experimental space cabin here.

"However, this morning after a real good sleep he sounded much more alert and we are very optimistic he will complete the full seven days," said Lt.-Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine at Randolph air force base.

"It was during last night's work problems that we saw for the first time indications of real fatigue. He skipped a couple and slowed down in reaction on others."

Farrell entered the experimental space cabin last Sunday morning and is scheduled to be removed at 9.35 a.m. this Sunday.

'A KICK IN THE APOGEE'

One More Rocket Motor—Zoom Jupiter Missile Circles Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Put one more rocket motor on the Jupiter-C missile that launched the American satellite and you could reach the moon.

Scientists who designed Explorer I made this claim Thursday at a press conference called to report on the satellite's progress through the heavens.

California Institute of Technology's jet propulsion laboratory has formally asked government permission to try to circle the moon with some future satellite.

The plan is called the "kick in the apogee" technique.

There is no thought at the moment, scientists said, of trying this with Explorer II, the second United States satellite now being rushed to completion at the jet lab.

Dr. Henry Richter explained how the "kick in the apogee" technique would work.

A fifth rocket stage would be added to the four stages of the Jupiter-C. The first, four rockets would put the satellite into an orbit similar to Explorer's.

The part of the egg-shaped orbit closest to earth is called the perigee. The part farthest from earth is called the apogee. Because the satellite would be hundreds of miles farther out in space at the apogee, that is the best point at which to give it another boost, or "a kick in the apogee" with the fifth rocket.

Richter and other scientists at the press conference said Explorer I is performing as they expected it would. All information it has radioed back so far indicates that a human could live in a satellite. "Room temperature" is being maintained inside the satellite and measuring devices indicate no great peril from cosmic rays or small meteorites in space.

A little more push an' some o' them election promises c'd circle th' moon, too.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

What do Social Crediters believe in?

That is a question which has exercised many minds, great and small, since the present B.C. government swept into power over the corpse of the old Coalition administration in 1952.

Tony Gargrave, the vigorous young CCF member for Mackenzie, over-simplified matters Thursday when he said their general creed seems to be "For God and against sin."

But Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan—that devout looking man with the long critical nose and flowing grey hair—had a more detailed answer.

"We believe," he said, "in free enterprise under a reasonable restraint. We believe in the importance of the individual above the aims of state—in a proper balance between authority and responsibility.

"We believe that a monetary system must be the servant of the people and not its master."

So compact, so idealistic, so reasonable . . . and so simple that we old sophisticates wonder if life can ever be as straightforward and decent as Mr. Kiernan would have us believe.

So much can happen between the ideal itself and the end result.

Anyhow, it was Mr. Kiernan's day in the legislature and, aside from his full and detailed account of the mines ministry, he revealed an aggressive side to his nature.

He repeatedly needled the Opposition and went so far as to say that the comparison drawn by Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan) between the land given to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway many years ago and the Wenner-Gren project in north-central B.C. was "a deliberate falsification."

This brought an angry response from the CCF benches and a reproof from Speaker Shantz who asked the minister to withdraw the words "deliberate falsification."

Mr. Kiernan complied but still insisted the CCF had "poisoned" people's minds against the Wenner-Gren scheme.

The mines minister also referred to the press.

"We believe in a free and responsible press," he said. "We have no desire to dictate to them and they, in turn, have no desire to dictate to us.

"They feel free to criticize us whenever they choose, and I am sure they will allow us the freedom to criticize them."

Mr. Kiernan half apologized for distributing a map of B.C. to illustrate his survey of B.C.'s oil and gas resources.

"You needn't have bothered," said 83-year-old Tom Uphill, the perky Labor member for Fernie. "Anyone who plays the stock market knows that map inside out."

★ ★ ★

Tony Gargrave, a student at Victoria College when he isn't battling for the CCF in the House, mentioned Charles Dickens, an illustrious social reformer, in his criticism of the government's social service cuts.

He suggested that Mr. Dickens, if he were alive today, would regard these curtailments as "typically unenlightened Toryism."

Then, referring to Premier Bennett's promise that the province would be debt-free by 1960, he said:

"I don't think they (the government) will last until 1960. This debt reduction talk is just a political gimmick."

★ ★ ★

Mr. Gargrave also put in a word for those much-harassed folk, the B.C. school teachers.

"Even the janitors have better bargaining rights than they have," he declared.

To which the self-respecting, properly-organized janitor might reply: "Sir, I resent the word 'even'!"

★ ★ ★

George Massey, the voluble member for Delta, began speaking at 4.42 p.m. and had so much to say the House had to adjourn at 6 pm.—the official adjournment time—to allow him to finish.

He finished at 6.25 having declared:

"I don't have to cross the floor of this House to get the results I want."

Most members agreed. Mr. Massey had worn them all down.

MORE PRESSURE PUT ON FRENCH BY TUNISIANS

TUNIS (AP) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba increased his diplomatic pressure on France today and put a police blockade around three French consulates.

Bourguiba previously had asked the French to close five of their consulates. The French refused

Police guards around the consulates at Medjez, Le Kef and Gafsa put consular officials under the same restrictions as France's 15,000 troops in Tunisia, now bottled up in their bases.

Bourguiba has asked France to withdraw her troops and give up her big naval base at Bizerte as a result of the French bombing of a frontier village last Saturday.

However, he urged the people to keep calm and limited to four hours a general strike called for today in national mourning for the bombing victims.

U.K. H-Defence Alarms Press

LONDON (Reuters) — Two British newspapers have expressed concern over government plans to develop nuclear weapons side by side with the United States.

British plans to develop an advanced type of ballistic rocket, which some papers describe as a new "wonder weapon," were revealed Thursday in the annual defence department white paper.

"Outside NATO, we are still giving priority to the nuclear deterrent, and we are developing a more advanced ballistic missile than the American rockets which are to be stationed here," says The Times in an editorial.

"But can we afford the future ramifications of an offensive capacity based on missiles?

"There will always be a better missile, or a better antidote, just around the corner."

The Manchester Guardian says the government is making a mistake in going ahead with a separate British nuclear deterrent.

"Is there anything to be gained by adding a British deterrent to the American deterrent?" the Liberal paper's editorial asks. "Obviously the answer is 'no'."

The Soviet news agency Tass said today that Britain's defence statement "contains unveiled threats against the Soviet Union."

The agency quoted a reference to medium-range rockets in the possession of the Western powers and located in Europe and other areas being able to "destroy practically all important targets in the Soviet Union."

Start Ordered On New City Garbage Plant

First $82,130 portion of Victoria's planned new $240,000 garbage plant was approved Thursday for immediate construction.

After more than a year of discussion, the plan passed city council almost without comment.

Funds for the project will be taken from the "tax sale lands account" and will make no direct effect on the 1958 mill rate.

NEW INCINERATOR

First phase of the renovation includes construction of a new incinerator at the garbage wharf, foot of Store Street, and reconstruction of an old building for office use.

Later developments will include a new scow, a compression unit which will make the garbage "sinkable" and complete roofing of the wharf installations.

The completed project will cut city garbage costs by $4,000 annually.

'Retaining' Case Remanded

George Gettle, 340 Burnside East, was remanded for two weeks in Saanich police court Thursday after crown evidence was completed in a charge of retaining stolen property.

Gettle was charged in connection with theft of about $500 worth of groceries, cigars, cigarets, cookies and a small clock from Bluebird Market, 3930 Douglas, last Dec. 24.

The defence admitted groceries, but nothing else, were stolen property.

Gettle has been found guilty of another charge of possessing stolen goods—two bottles of vodka—and awaits sentence.

World Peace Issue In Election Battle

By The Canadian Press

In the heat of political attack and counter-attack, the ability to contribute toward world peace has become an issue in the campaign for the March 31 federal general election.

Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson said in northern Ontario Thursday night that Canadian voters must decide which party "can make the most effective contribution for Canada in the search for peace and security at this time."

Following a day of wintry whistle-stopping across Saskatchewan, Prime Minister Diefenbaker defended his Progressive Conservative government's farm prices stabilization legislation in a speech at Saskatoon.

HITS TAX REDUCTIONS

And in a statement issued before leaving Ottawa by train for Saskatchewan, CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said to Conservative and Liberal parties are engaging in "insincere and hypocritical competition of large-scale tax reductions." His party would have no part of that.

Thursday was a busy day for both Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Pearson, who won the 1957 Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts as external affairs minister, was nominated at Espanola, Ont., for his home constituency of Algoma East.

He told his constituents that in addition to the issues of trade and unemployment in the election campaign, there is also the issue of war and peace.

He wanted to make clear that other parties pursue the same objectives, to preserve peace. The voters must decide whether the others would be as effective as the Liberals.

DEFENDS FARM BILL

Mr. Diefenbaker concentrated in Saskatoon on his farm price stabilization legislation.

If farmers read the bill, passed at the last session of Parliament, "they will find it is the greatest single advance on behalf of agriculture ever made in this country," Mr. Diefenbaker said. Opposition parties had "misrepresented" it to the farmers.

As Mr. Diefenbaker spoke, a heckler shouted disagreement with one of the prime minister's statements.

"My friend," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "you're all by yourself in your loneliness."

Three young men at the rear of the hall hoisted placards. One said "Pearson: Peace, Prosperity, Progress."

FLORIDA'S GEO. WARREN?

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UP)—It snowed in northern Florida Thursday, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported, but according to a Chamber of Commerce official:

"Anybody who says it was is just trying to undermine sun-kissed Florida's tourist business."

Charity Sales Clampdown By City Council

City council Thursday clamped down on house-to-house sale of goods by charitable organizations.

The decision followed application by Victoria Optimists for a sale of Easter baskets, proceeds to go to boys' work in the community.

Council refusal indicates a new policy which will stop all such charity sales.

Last year, following imposition of Victoria's first business tax, council was approached by groups of merchants who opposed the charity sales to residents.

NO LICENCE

They said while they pay business tax, organizations are given the right to sell door-to-door many items which affect merchants' sales. The canvassers have not required licence.

City manager C. C. Wyatt reported to council that city by-laws call for issuance of a $60 pedlar's licence for each door-to-door salesman. He suggested there might be no objection to the charity sales if the clubs sponsoring them would sell products not normally available in stores.

Council couldn't think of anything which would fall in this category.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

● Operation S-H-R-I-N-K

Q. Are fat people more likely to have diabetes than people of normal weight?

A. Diabetes occurs more often in fat people than in those of normal weight but this does not mean that diabetes is always the punishment for obesity. The tendency to develop diabetes is often inherited. If you have inherited this tendency then piling up weight certainly won't help matters.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Palsy Clinic Area To Be Doubled

Teaching and treatment area of the Cerebral Palsy Clinic at Royal Jubilee Hospital is to be doubled in area, it was announced today.

Jubilee administrator George Masters said due to the increasing number of children patients (there are now 52 being brought to the clinic in three Lions-donated Bunny buses), the clinic will take over the medical lecture room. The Cerebral Palsy Association will pay part of the conversion costs.

A new medical lecture room will be set up in the old isolation wing at the northwest corner of the hospital plant.

The Hurricane

RECENTLY WE PRINTED ON this page a rather grim report from Washington concerning the state of the American Presidency. Some readers, we hear, were shocked to read that the Presidency no longer functioned effectively after Mr. Eisenhower's last illness. Such readers will be interested to learn what the editor of Harper's Magazine has to say after a visit to Washington.

John Fischer, whose magazine is the most quoted in America, sums up his Washington observations in a paragraph of rather ghastly candor:

"Today, of all times, this country needs somebody in charge. A leaky ship in a hurricane, with a committee on the bridge and a crippled captain sending occasional whispers up the speaking tube from the sick bay, might stay afloat. But its chances would be a lot better if the First Mate—any First Mate—took the wheel."

This is not the remark of a casual visitor to Washington. It is the considered opinion of one of the most respected editors in the United States.

Given that diagnosis of the present situation, Mr. Fischer reaches a clear conclusion. He says that a President who already has given lifelong and devoted service to his people should now perform "one last great service." He should resign.

It is not for Canadians or other foreigners to advise the President of the United States or his people about business exclusively theirs. But it is likely that the demand for Mr. Eisenhower's resignation, now made openly by Harper's, will grow in volume and force.

This demand is not aimed at the President's character, which is above reproach, but at a constitutional situation which many thoughtful Americans find intolerable. For the whole constitutional system is built by law around one man and if he is unable physically to perform his full duties the system suffers what Mr. Fischer calls "semi-paralysis." That, in his opinion, is the present state of the system.

Assuming that Mr. Fischer is right, it will not be easy to explain this problem to the American people when, to all appearances, the President is active, cheerful and confident.

The true force of the Presidency, however, cannot be judged by these public appearances. It rests in the President's ability to work long hours and full weeks, to give complete and detailed direction to affairs, to exercise the constant, intangible force of leadership over the whole administration—in short, to fulfill a job almost past human endurance, a job possible only for a man in perfect health.

As Mr. James Reston has written in The New York Times, government by the Presidency has been replaced of late by a government of committee—committees of all sorts set up to deal with specific problems and always seeking to spare the President the burden of work and decision. Mr. Fischer thinks that the government cannot be successfully carried on by these methods which are, in fact, the denial of the method inherent in the Constitution.

All such questions are for the consideration of our neighbors and for the sole decision of the President. But it should not surprise foreigners if a man as honest, courageous and dedicated as Mr. Eisenhower decides before long to hand his burdens on to the successor whom he personally selected long ago. The President still stands before the spotlight of the world but Mr. Nixon is waiting in the wings.

Can We Afford This 'Economy'?

MR. WESLEY BLACK'S DEfence against widespread attack on the Government's mental institution policy boils down to one paragraph of his speech in the Legislature.

"The truth of the matter is," says the Provincial Secretary, "that now that the medical profession is able to tackle the problem of mental illness realistically there is a wide shortage of professional personnel trained in this field. I mentioned to the House last year that in the area of psychiatry itself the demand for doctors with the specialty in psychiatry is so great that the competition for their services has developed almost to the level of an auction. The province cannot compete without disturbing to an unacceptable degree the whole pattern of civil service salaries."

This apparently applies not only to doctors but to other professional personnel, including specially trained nurses. And because of a shortage of such staff, British Columbia is not using all the physical accommodation available.

There are, of course, limits to the funds that can be devoted to mental hospitals or any other services. But if, through adequate attention, the mentally ill can be rehabilitated and restored to productive life, the cost entailed yields a profit economically as well as in humanitarian terms.

Mr. Black is drawing his distinction in lines that are too sharp. He says, in effect, that British Columbia cannot afford to bid in the highly competitive market for skilled persons specially trained in psychiatry. Because the Government takes this stand, service that could be provided is not furnished to the limit of available physical facilities.

If British Columbia needs more special staff members trained in psychiatry it will have to pay the price for them. The pattern of civil service salaries cannot be considered so sacred that such payment is impossible.

And surely, without interfering with general financial policy, certain economies could be made to provide the funds required for mental institutions to do a fuller job. British Columbia, for instance, might curtail a few miles of road construction to that end.

Nanaimo's Crystal Ball

EXPERTS HAVE GAZED SCIENtifically into the crystal ball and drawn some sound conclusions on Nanaimo's future.

For some time to come the "Hub of the Island" will derive its prosperity from servicing rather than creating industries, the experts say.

The overcutting of timberland adjacent to the city early in the century has effectively removed resources for immediate expansion of forest industries there. It will be another half century before regeneration creates an adequate supply of trees for local conversion.

Nanaimo will, however, continue to enjoy the business that comes from acting as middle-man for big concerns further north and elsewhere on the Island. And it could improve its economic position by devoting attention to the tourist business, according to the survey just completed.

The experts have faced facts and offered suggestions to the up-Island city. They are facts and suggestions which should be of very considerable interest to Victoria.

Over the years the capital has seen a substantial amount of its business diverted to Nanaimo—a diversion immeasurably assisted by fast and regular ferry service with Vancouver.

At present Victoria is exerting efforts to establish a competitive ferry link from the north end of Saanich peninsula. If that line of transport can be created, Victoria may look forward to regaining some of the trade it lost to our energetic friends further north.

But while it is concerning itself in this matter, Victoria might also look at the advice the survey experts have given Nanaimo on the tourist and recreation issues.

We congratulate our fellow Islanders on the efforts we expect them to make in this field. And with the congratulations we join the hope that Victoria will keep them hopping in the highly competitive activity of attracting the visitor dollar—an activity for which the capital is ideally suited, but in which it cannot afford to be lethargic.

Mr. Shelford Disagrees

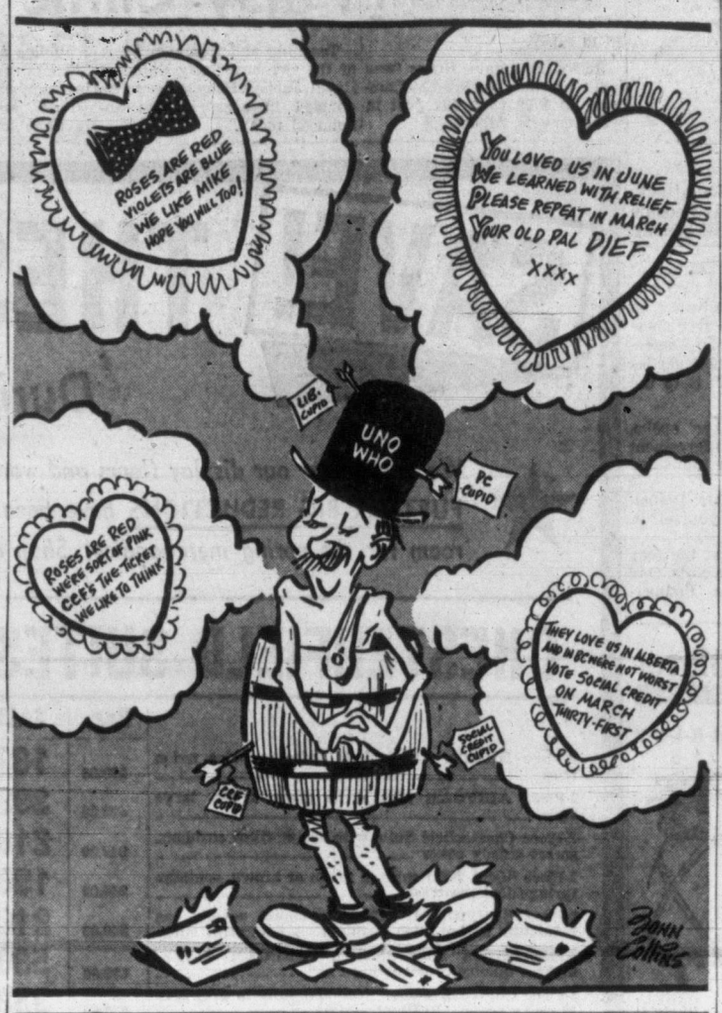
MR. CYRIL SHELFORD, SOCIAL Credit member for Omineca, has delivered his criticism of certain government policies and Premier Bennett and Mr. Bonner in particular. His statements have been forthright. He says he is not breaking with Social Credit—is not prepared to cross the floor—at this time.

It is to be hoped that the up-country critic of such policies as those covering agriculture and mining will not now become the victim of a personal attack by the premier as was the earlier dissident, Mr. Melvin Bryan.

Mr. Shelford has expressed a sturdy independence of mind. Whether his difference with the Government policy-makers is such that he can no longer retain his self-respect in the Government ranks is a matter for the member himself to decide. The public will await that decision with interest.

He has spoken out and has given Mr. Bennett another opportunity to prove the Premier's frequently repeated statement that the Government he heads is thoroughly democratic and encourages its supporters to speak their minds.

Plenty of Valentines This Year



BEHIND THE FIGURES — By B. A. TOBIN

A Spotty Subject

THE fluoridation issue keeps cropping up in Victoria despite the fact that there is no vote in prospect on this question. But most parents must think about it every time they take a child to the dentist and find another tooth must be filled. They must think about it particularly when they get the bill for the work. For in certain cities where the water is fluoridated careful records show that children's tooth decay is cut by a half or more. But each time a pro-fluoridationist says something in favor of this treatment he becomes the target for a barrage of anti-fluoridationist publicity.

Tobin

The latter arguments take many forms. The medical and dental authorities of this continent who advocate fluoridation are accused of knowing nothing about it. They are charged with voting for it in their medical and dental association resolutions with an irresponsible disregard for the "truth." We are told that fluoridation will have harmful physical effects, despite the fact that long observations by medical authorities show that this is not the case where the amount is controlled.

We are told that fluoridation is a communist plot to poison the capitalist world; that it will rot the brains of those who use it, or render men sexually impotent.

Such arguments must sound odd to the many communities in North America where the water is fluoridated and has been so used for many generations.

Taken in Vain

A couple of years ago in correspondence to this newspaper half a dozen "eminent authorities" were named and quoted in various ways as condemning fluoridation.

A well-known medical doctor of this city took the trouble to write to these authorities and ask them if they had been correctly quoted. As I recall it, half of them denied flatly that they had said what the anti-fluoridationists claimed, the others replied that their words had been taken out of context to give a meaning opposite to what was intended.

Such misuse of words and figures by those opposed to fluoridation have made me cautious in accepting their statements. Thus when a letter was sent to this paper at the end of January quoting certain statistics, I thought it would be interesting to check them. The results were rather startling.

Here is the letter, which I quote since it was submitted for publication:

* * *

"In the March, 1956, issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association a table dealing with 'Evidence of Fluorine Injury to Children' in Newburgh, N.Y., fluoridated artificially for ten years, discloses the following facts.

"Out of 438 children examined for enamel opacities due to fluorosis, which Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary describes as 'An abnormal or poisoned condition caused by fluorine, as the spotting of the enamel of teeth caused by too much fluorine in drinking water,' seventy-eight children were found to have mottled teeth to a greater or lesser degree.

"Comment is needless.

"M. E. PICKELL.

"408 Lampson Street."

* * *

I found, on the contrary, that comment is very much needed.

I have obtained a copy of the Journal of the American Dental Association for March, 1956, which is full of statistics showing how the teeth of children in Newburgh, N.Y. (with fluoridated water), were so much better at the end of a ten-year test period than those of the children in Kingston, N.Y. (without fluoridated water).

The table quoted by our correspondent is indeed there—but oh, what a different picture is presented!

Here is the text accompanying the table (page 324):

"In a study of enamel opacities among children ages 7 to 14 in Newburgh and in Kingston, there was no evidence of any disfiguring mottled enamel among the Newburgh children. Forty-six Newburgh children had questionable fluorosis, 26 had very mild fluorosis and six had mild fluorosis. (This adds up to the 78 quoted in the letter.) There were 115 children in Kingston who showed non-fluoride enamel opacities and 36 such children in Newburgh."

Now for those 78 cases.

Can't Be Seen

On page 322, speaking of the extent of mottling recorded in the table, the report says:

"The distinctions between questionable, very mild and mild fluorosis (the only categories found in Newburgh) are based wholly on the extent of the tooth surface involved. In these three categories noted, the involvement consists of slight whitish flecks or opaque areas on the surface of the enamel without any breaks in surface continuity, excessive wear or staining. A trained eye is required to detect these stages of mottling, and the average dental practitioner would have difficulty finding them. None of these instances of dental fluorosis was disfiguring."

On page 321 we read: "In the milder forms of fluorosis the tooth enamel has a high lustre which enhances the beauty of the teeth rather than disfiguring them."

So much for the mottling in Newburgh. It affected only 78 children out of 438, and it was so insignificant even a dentist would have trouble in finding it. In fact the treatment added a lustre to the teeth and made them better looking.

Now for other mottling. The table that shows the figures for fluoride mottling also shows figures for mottling due to other causes. In Newburgh, with fluoridation, 36 out of 438 children showed non-fluoride "opacities." In Kingston, without fluoridation, 115 out of 612 children showed such effects.

This type of non-fluoride mottling is in most cases "obvious even to the untrained eye," appearing as white patches on the tooth.

The Journal concludes (page 322) that: "The relatively infrequent occurrence of non-fluoride opacities in Newburgh compared to Kingston tends to confirm a previous report that the intake of fluoridated water at the recommended concentration appears to reduce the hazard of hypoplastic spots on teeth."

Comment is needless.

'Millions Are in Accord'

Millions of Americans are in thorough accord with Cyrus Eaton's views, as expressed in the press from time to time, but either cannot voice their thoughts or are afraid to do so.

Any dissent from the official viewpoint subjects the dissenter to all kinds of charges, from high treason to idiocy; he is either knowingly betraying his country, or is a stupid oaf brainwashed by the super-clever communists.

But since Cyrus Eaton is one of the foremost capitalists of the United States—being included in the "Forbes List" of the 50 top business leaders in America—it is unlikely that his name will be on any of J. Edgar Hoover's lists of subversives.

Canada, his native land, should get right behind Eaton's plan to assemble "a broad international conference of scientists" to discuss the dangers to mankind in the present chaotic world politics. He would have not only atomic scientists of all countries but also biologists, medical scientists, philosophers of all schools, economists, historians, sociologists, educators etc. In short, assemble all those who have collectively all the knowledge that the human race has acquired during several thousand years, and plan for a peaceful use of this knowledge for the benefit of mankind rather than for destruction.

Will continued devotion of our national wealth to building ever greater and greater armaments bring world peace? Shall we continue indefinitely this insane world-waste, or shall we accept Mr. Eaton's proposal to have the real brains of the East and West come together on a 50-50 basis to see whether it is possible to avert the destruction of all our material wealth?

Or shall we continue to follow Mr. Dulles in a dance of death to the brink of war where one false step will bring on the holocaust in which neither side can escape annihilation? There's not much time left to choose!

Fighting Polio

The 1958 Mothers' March for the B.C. Child Care and Polio Fund, sponsored by the Vic-Van-Isle and Sidney Kinsmen Clubs has realized $42,950.34 in the Greater Victoria area and the Saanich Peninsula.

Through the medium of your newspaper, we would like to thank the many individuals and organizations who so generously contributed their time and energy to make the drive a success. We are especially grateful to the 3,100 mothers who canvassed on Feb. 1 and the fathers who rallied to their assistance and protection.

The local press, radio and TV stations once again gave us their strong support; along with theatre and store managers who helped publicize the campaign by allowing us space for displays.

May we extend our sincere thanks to the citizens of Victoria and surrounding communities who responded so generously to our appeal and have made it possible for the Fund to carry on its work by providing assistance for those less fortunate.

President,
Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen Club

Thanks to Labor

The Senior Citizens' Housing Society Inc. would like to thank publicly, every member of the labor unions who contributed to the $10,000 which we have received from the Victoria Labor Council toward our low-rental unit for elderly citizens—"Banfield Lodge."

We understand this is labor's Centennial Year project and the first of its kind to be completed.

The need for donations is still great. Every dollar of cash we can invest will cut down our mortgage overhead and therefore make lower rents possible.

GLEN HAMILTON,
Hon. Secretary,
Victoria Senior Citizens' Housing Society Inc.

Objective Reporting

Can we not have articles on political happenings without the writer's opinions?

Do you really feel your newspaper is doing the community a service with the type of news reports we have been getting?

The comments on Mr. Sommers' speech in your "Publisher's Notebook" and many other stories seem to dwell more on the sarcasm which was hurled than the speech itself (which was described by at least one radio commentator and on radio news reports as possibly the best speech of the session.)

Let's keep the news articles unbiased and the editorials on the editorial page.

If the fullest possible information on every speech was reported, I'm sure the readers could form their own opinions without having some other person's forced on them.

I hope this letter will be taken as constructive criticism and be printed with your letters to the editor.

FROM PARIS — By JOSEPH ALSOP

The French Situation

IN a tragic manner the bombing of the little Tunisian village of Sakiet Sidi Yussef has underlined all the anomalies of the present French situation. Here was a military operation whose political penalties were out of all proportion to any imaginable military reward. According to French Foreign Minister Pineau, this heavy attack upon Tunisian territory was never authorized by the French government. Pineau even told this reporter that he did not believe that such an operation had ever been knowingly authorized by the French commander in Algeria, Gen. Salan.

Alsop

One's first reaction to such statements is simple amazement. It is easy enough to understand the feelings of the French professional soldiers, who have lived through the long and bitter war in Indochina and now find themselves involved in a long and bitter war in Algeria, with Tunisia playing the "protected sanctuary role" that China played before.

But what of the fantastic indiscipline that is revealed by the triumph of these feelings, by the actual commission of a fairly major act of war, without the slightest authorization from the French cabinet? Who should bear the responsibility of this?

Politicians' Fault

As every American knows who has read foreign comment on the problems of the United States, diagnosing other nations' inner ailments is a pastime which wise men will generally forego.

But in the present instance, this reporter would like to suggest that the fault lies, not really with the soldiers, but chiefly with the politicians.

The defects of the French political system are frequently exaggerated. The ability of France's political leaders is widely under-rated. But with the possible exceptions of Gen. de Gaulle on the Right and Pierre Mendes-France on the Left, almost every French political leader is flagrantly guilty of the same flagrant sin of omission.

None of them will get up on their hind legs, in the Chamber of Deputies or elsewhere, and say in so many words:

"France cannot have her cake and eat it too."

Several grave issues of policy were posed, for example, when the Algerian rebels began to use Tunisia as an out-of-bounds base.

The most obvious was the simple issue of peace or war. As lately revealed by this correspondent, the French Cabinet finally put this central issue up to the French General Staff.

The military had been saying the Algerian rebellion could not be crushed while the Tunisian base existed. So the civilians asked the military whether the Tunisian base ought to be eliminated by the reconquest of Tunisia.

The French Chief of Staff, Gen. Paul Ely, replied unequivocally that the venture could not even be considered, for want of men, the munitions, and the money for the job.

Single Alternative

The one efficient course of military action against Tunisia was thus ruled out. Logically, that left only a single other alternative, leaving Tunisia alone and strengthening the measures against border-crossing inside Algeria.

But this degree of toleration was in fact insupportable. Hence a kind of creeping border war against Tunisia was begun, which has now produced the Sakiet Sidi Yussef bombing.

No one who has much familiarity with situations of this type will believe for a moment that this kind of operation is at all likely to impede the Algerian rebels' use of the Tunisia base.

It is an attempt to have the cake and eat it too—to satisfy the understandable impulse to hit at the Tunisians, without the impossible expense of the kind of blow that might do some real good.

There is just the same pattern in the French government's treatment of Tunisian Prime Minister Habib Bourguiba.

As French Premier Gaillard himself recently admitted to this reporter, Bourguiba has always wanted to be a friend to France, but he has never possessed the authority to prevent the Algerian rebels from basing themselves in his country.

In this situation, it was about equally logical to try to crush Bourguiba, because of his failure of responsibility, or to try to forget about Bourguiba for the time being, because of his basic friendship.

But it was not logical—once again, it was trying to have the cake and eat it—to do everything possible to alienate Bourguiba without doing anything effective to crush him.

Prickly Problem

The story does not end either with the prickly and sad problem of France's relations with Tunisia. The bravery and efficiency of the French Army in Indochina has been almost universally underestimated. But as conducted by successive French governments, the Indochinese war was one long obstinate attempt to have the cake and eat it.

There are unpleasant signs that the same may be true of the tragic fighting in Algeria.

In truth, constant attempts to have the cake and eat it in many departments of national policy are a natural consequence of the uneasy balance of the present French political system. And these strange attempts are all the more disheartening, because they distract the world's attention from the new French reality, of a nation in full renaissance, almost bursting with a splendid renewal of energy and vigor.

ON THE TIMES By ART STOTT

Swing of the Pendulum

WHEN Bing popularized "Swinging on a Star," he couldn't foresee the paraphrase today's educationists would make of the title line. But if educationists ever focussed on a slogan, it's "Swinging on a Sputnik" today.

Stott

Ya gotta get educated because the Russians got educated.

Quite a few people thought education had been kicking around for a long time before the Soviets discovered it in modern terms. Quite a few other people are reacting to the idea as if it were shiny new—a sort of a baby twin that appeared immediately after man (and a Russian at that) fathered the first satellite to be heaved into space.

They're swinging on a satellite, sho' nuff. And in the Royal Oak School PTA "swinging" is the operative word. Some folk out that way want the pendulum to cross the centre line and head back to a more traditional system.

Next Monday night they'll continue a great debate on a motion to that effect—a motion calculated to help children of superior intelligence.

FLAT ON ITS FACE

Protagonists seem to believe that the educational system in recent years has leaned too heavily toward student "adjustment." It has leaned so far that way, they appear to say, that it has fallen on its face.

If I understand their position correctly, they feel they've had the course, aren't impressed, or are unfavorably impressed, and want to get back to fundamentals with a few variants.

They want emphasis on the three Rs, the humanities, and the relatively routine courses of a quarter-century ago, with science brought up to date.

They want departmental examinations at the end of each year in high school, with results—in actual marks made by the student out of a hundred—reported to the parent.

They want a firmer discipline in the schools, with children required to observe decent manners, though they don't want rule by martinet.

For those youngsters who cannot handle the routine courses of more intellectual content, they suggest less academic work transferred to a vocational school, which would also offer present high school courses in industrial arts and home economics.

Under one clause of the proposal, special facilities and guidance would be provided for students with outstanding intellectual capacities.

Under another, consideration would be given to increasing the school day, week or year.

To handle all this, sponsors of the motion suggest higher salaries and other inducements to attract the best material possible into the teaching profession. And they suggest that economies might be made in gyms, auditoria, cafeterias, and other facilities not essential to the educational process.

CONTROVERSY

To a lot of people who have interested themselves professionally and otherwise in education, this program will seem a return to the past. They'll have a number of arguments against it. One of them, quite properly, will be that some extremely bright young people have gained a broad range of knowledge from the system now in operation. They'll argue that attitudes are vital features of the school's purpose and that knowledge does not necessarily adjust the person who possesses it to the world in which he lives.

The latter point may be very true. It is also very true that many young people have come through high school in recent years with a surface adjustment that seems to equip them for their times, but that such apparently adequate adjustment falls to pieces when the young person has to face the hurdles of life which modern practice lowers or removes for them in school.

Among the sad people of this world are those who, by being unable to keep up to average in class, have developed inferiority complexes that stay with them.

On the other hand, are they any sadder than young people who have no inferiority complexes because they lack completely an appreciation for their own limitations?

The debate seems to be nicely joined at Royal Oak. It should be worth listening to.

UN CORRESPONDENCE By STANLEY BURKE

Machines on the Attack

NEW YORK—Reaction at the UN to the long-last launching of the American satellite might be described as one of frightened hopefulness.

Everyone knows why the launching was frightening—and few can have watched TV pictures of its awesome, fire-thundering ascent without feeling added pangs of fear. But disarmament specialists at the UN point to reasons for new and more exquisite fear. This lies in progress toward the not-far-off day when machines rather than men will make decisions to push the buttons.

Burke

Disarmament men say that if enemy missiles, travelling at around 20,000 miles an hour, are detected in flight there will be no time for human minds to ponder the decision to counter-attack, perhaps the most fateful decision in history. They refer, for example, to a recent statement by Dr. W. H. Pickering, head of the California Institute of Technology propulsion laboratory and one of the men chiefly responsible for launching the Explorer.

Here's part of his statement: "The decision to destroy an enemy nation, and by inference our own—will be made by a radar set, a telephone circuit, and electronic computer. It will be arrived at without the aid of human intelligence. If a human observer cries 'Stop. Let me check the calculations,' he is already too late. His launching site is destroyed and the war is lost."

Complex equipment will be needed for detection and identification. For example, equipment must be able to state, quickly and with absolute accuracy, whether an object hurtling through space is a death-bearing missile or harmless meteor. And the scientist points out that machines can make mistakes. In fact he says a period of intense, prolonged crisis would strain the "nerves" of machines, just as those of men, and failure of some components would be inevitable.

". . . the failure of a handful of vacuum tubes and transistors could determine the fate of our civilization," he said.

Here are Dr. Pickering's concluding words:

"In a few years it will not be governments which make the choice. The governments will be committed to rely on the reliability of some electronic equipment."

And finally: "If the answer is not found in a very few years there will be no need for the answer because all that is left of humanity will be starting the long climb from the stone age."

This is a marrow-chilling statement from one of the best-informed men in the world on this subject.

But among disarmament men it brings a glimmer of hope. They're hopeful because the era of the electronic general staff will bring madness to its penultimate stage. They are hopeful it will force some sort of agreement.

The American satellite rouses hopes for more immediate reasons. This is because it strengthens the West militarily and psychologically. Diplomats have been stressing that talks with the Russians are impossible until the United States has a satelite in orbit and long-range missiles on the launching pads. They say these are necessary to impress the Russians and to reassure the American people because American diplomats say privately that their ability to bargain, to make concessions, is limited at the moment by the mood of a frightened, shocked American public.

GUNS DRAWN

Senior officials of the Canadian external affairs department have said the same thing ever since the first post-Sputnik demands began to rise for talks with the Russians. "We must wait until the Americans have some hardware in the air," they've been saying.

You might say that the two great powers will soon be standing like old-time gun-fighters in a crowded saloon. Each man has his gun drawn, neither dares put his gun back into its holster, neither will be satisfied with anything save a gun as good as his enemy's, and with an equal hair-trigger.

"Force is the only thing the Russians respect," American foreign officers have been saying, and Canadians have been repeating it.

But Americans also respect force. Certainly American thought has undergone basic changes since the Sputniks went up. Things which American allies have been urging to little avail for years are now under active consideration. Today both sides have a dreadful respect for one another. Soon, when the United States can hold her head high in space, it may be possible to translate that respect into action.

The thought that man might be destroyed by a mentally defective calculating machine will surely be an added incentive.

SYNOPSIS—Winter struck in the Cariboo and Prince George region of B.C. as the mercury fell to more than 20 below zero to mark the coldest night of the winter. However, the cold air mass blanketing the interior of B.C. is retreating northward again as another active disturbance from the Pacific approaches the B.C. coast. Gale force winds have developed in waters off the northern coast and rain now falling over the Queen Charlottes and Vancouver Island will spread to the mainland during the forenoon. Present indications point to unsettled weather through the next 24 to 48 hours.

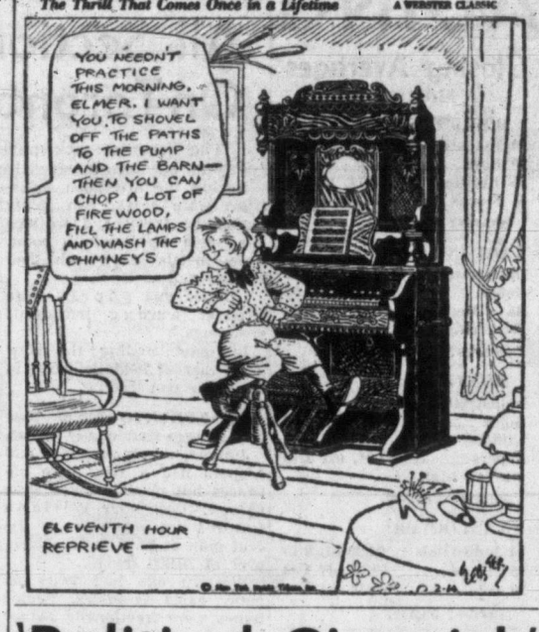
The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime — A WEBSTER CLASSIC



'Political Gimmick' Seen in Debt Cuts

Debt reduction program of the Social Credit government was labelled a "political gimmick" in the legislature Thursday by Tony Gargrave, CCF member for Mackenzie.

Mr. Gargrave said the government had no right to set aside an additional $12,000,000 for reducing the direct debt this year, while at the same time cutting essential services.

"This government has failed miserably in all their other policies," the CCF member said, "and this is all they have to talk about."

The government is raising a "public clamor" about reducing the debt so that it can "expand it into a political balloon to release at election time."

"UNCONVINCING"

Mr. Gargrave said Provincial Secretary Wesley Black was "most unconvincing" Tuesday when he explained staff conditions in provincial mental institutions.

Staff cuts in the mental hospitals are a retrogressive step, he said.

A cut in the 1958-59 budget for the provincial child guidance clinic is a "public disgrace," Mr. Gargrave said.

This government's policy on welfare services is typically unenlightened toryism belonging to the era of Charles Dickens."

The CCF member said that if the government can't run the province with its swollen revenues, it should make way for someone who can.

"A few years in opposition for this government would give to it a sense of proportion which up until now it has never had."

Mr. Gargrave claimed the government is "blaming everything under the sun, the press included, for its troubles."

The government should be more responsive to public opinion, he said.

It is "disintegrating" because it has no policy on the basic activities of the province such as forestry and agriculture.

Mr. Gargrave urged the government to grant more scope to the B.C. Power Commission and let it develop Columbia River hydro.

LARGER

On education, the CCF member said members of the present royal commission should have had more experience with grade school curriculum.

He suggested the commission should have been larger to include experienced members of the education department and a wider representation from the community.

Status of teachers must be raised, Mr. Gargrave said, and they should be given full bargaining rights with the school boards.

He said there is a need for more direct aid to needy university students.

Actress Dies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Helen Twelvetrees, one-time star of stage and screen, died in hospital Thursday. Her age was given as about 50. Miss Twelvetrees began her movie career in the early 1930s and stayed in Hollywood until the middle 1940s, playing opposite John Barrymore, Robert Taylor, Spencer Tracy and Clark Gable. One of her last pictures was "The Painted Desert" with Gable.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Herbs Grow Easily

At dusk Thursday I saw the first flight of Canada geese winging its musical way northward.

This means the time has come for seed sowing and planting, and a daily article. The more people who become ardent gardeners the more peaceful and beautiful will be our part of the Island, at least.

Hilda

A small herb patch near the kitchen door, or an area given over to herb growing on a larger scale, either will give satisfaction to the senses of sight, smell and taste.

Herbs are easy to grow, but require restraint in their use until you become thoroughly familiar with the effects of their various flavors.

The perennial herbs, sage, thyme, rosemary, lemon balm and chives are found in many gardens, but it is among the annual types that marvellous shades of flavor occur.

SUNNY SPOT

In addition to the usual summer savory, sweet marjoram, anise, fennel, and dill, seed is available of such interesting things as coriander, chervil and caraway.

Seed of horehound and wormwood were also found locally. These are both perennials.

When deciding to grow some of these herbs, choose a sunny location. Even a slightly raised bed will make the planting of more interest, especially if some shrubby types are grown as permanent features.

Seeds of perennials may be sown now indoors, and the annuals outdoors where they are to grow, during April, using no additional fertilizers.

9% Drop During 1957 In Canadian Car Sales

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canadians bought 457,320 motor vehicles in 1957, down 9 per cent from the 499,921 they purchased a year earlier, the bureau of statistics has announced.

Total retail value of the sales was $1,366,902,000. In 1956, the total value of new vehicle sales was $1,455,375,000.

Passenger car sales were down to 381,123 units from 408,233 a year earlier, while commercial vehicle sales dropped to 76,197 units from 91,688.

Used car sales also registered a decline, falling to 365,293 units from 382,026 a year earlier. Used commercial vehicle sales totaled 48,341 units compared with 56,818 in 1956.

EARNINGS UP

MONTREAL (CP) — The Shawinigan Water and Power Co. has reported net earnings of $12,515,060, or $1.48 a common share, for 1957, compared to the previous year's $11,355,083 or $1.41 a common share, after adjustment for the three-for-one split in the company common shares in 1957.

Western Plywood Earnings Decline

VANCOUVER (CP)—Western Plywood Limited has reported [illegible] of $510,603 for 1957, compared with $1,417,459 in the previous year, a drop of 64 per cent. Sales declined 5 per cent to 17,779,551 from 18,809,105 in 1956.

President John Bene said the company opened a new outlet in Calgary last August and the Edmonton plant completed its first full year of operation in 1957.

MARKET SUMMARIES

All Sections Rise On Toronto Exchange

The Toronto stock market was higher in all sections today as buying appeared for the first time this week.

During the afternoon industrials were nearly two points higher on index and western oils were up one-half point. Base metals and golds had smaller gains.

Utilities and papers were stronger among industrials groupings.

In quiet trading the New York market held its gains in late afternoon trading.

AT TORONTO senior base metals were fractionally higher.

Juniors, uraniums, golds and coppers had a few more advances but most changes were narrow. Cochenour Willans featured trading with an 18-cent gain at $2.39 amid a turnover of 30,000 shares.

Western oils had twice as many gains as losses. Senior issues were fractionally higher while low-priced stocks moved up in a 15-cent range but most gains were 10 cents or less.

AT NEW YORK leading Canadian issues gained. International Nickel led the way, up 1½, Aluminium Ltd. was up ½, Distillers-Seagrams ⅜, Dome Mines ¼ and Granby Mining ⅛. Preston East Dome lost ¼ in a quiet Canadian section of the American exchange.

AT MONTREAL prices turned stronger on the stock exchange. Industrial volume was moderate and mines and oils light.

Dominion Steel stood out with a gain of 2¼ at 21. Other steel issues were about steady.

Base Metals were mixed. International Nickel was down a point to 71 and Aluminium was up ⅜ at 27⅜. Producing mines showed some weakness with Steep Rock at 8.50 and Continental at 3.30, off 15 cents each. Other groups were finer.

AT LONDON stock market gilt-edged securities and industrials were firm today with several leading issues showing good gains.

Electric, motor and aircraft issues also improved. Textiles were unsettled and shipping shares lost. Dollar stocks were uncertain and oil shares generally were lower. South African gold shares improved slightly.

AT VANCOUVER light trading saw slight price changes during the forenoon. Bata Pete sold 5,000 at 8. Giant Mascot moved 2,000 at 10. Trojan traded 5,000 at 19. Skeena moved 1,500 at 10.

Wheat Exports Show Decline

OTTAWA (CP) — Although wheat exports from the four major exporters slipped by more than 81,200,000 bushels in the first five months of the current crop year, supplies for export and carryover at Jan. 1 were 14 per cent lower than a year ago.

The bureau of statistics reported today that total exports in the August-December period dropped to an estimated 351,300,000 bushels from 432,500,000 in the corresponding period last year. The crop year ends July 31.

Canada was the only major exporter to improve its export position, shipments rising to 127,100,000 bushels from 126,700,000 a year ago. United States shipments dipped to 152,300,000 bushels from 204,200,000, Argentina to 37,200,000 and Australia to 34,700,000 from 63,000,000.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most of the activity appeared in flax today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Early dealings disclosed liberal offerings and prices declined. However, buying by overseas and American houses and exporters produced price rallies in the late stages.

Oats and barley trade was domestic and prices moved narrowly.

Rye trading was erratic, buying by commission houses and shippers kept prices steady.

There were no reports of overnight loadings of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all down one-half cent from Thursday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly all grain futures prices held close to their previous finishes in light dealings on the board of trade today.

Belief that considerable export business might develop in the near future, held wheat to the upside during most of the session. Turkey asked U.S. exporters for offers of about 3,000,000 bushels of wheat and 720,000 bushels of corn after the close of business today.

At the close, wheat was 1¼ to 3½ cents a bushel higher, March $2.15⅝-16, corn unchanged to ¼ lower, March $1.09⅞-¾; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March 64⅞-65; rye 2½ to 4¼ higher, March $1.28½-¾, and soybeans ¼-1 higher, March $2.21-20¾.

BRIEFS INVITED

THE ROYAL COMMISSION ON PRICE SPREADS OF FOOD PRODUCTS

Public hearings are to be held in the following cities on the dates indicated, with hearings in Saskatchewan and other provinces to be scheduled later:

VANCOUVER, B.C. —APRIL 9, 10, 11
EDMONTON, ALTA. —APRIL 14, 15
WINNIPEG, MAN. —APRIL 17, 18

Briefs are invited from organizations and associations wishing to provide information on the extent and causes of the spread between the prices received by producers of food products of agricultural and fisheries origin and the prices paid by consumers for such products.

Briefs must be in writing and should reach the Secretary of the Commission, 69 Sparks Street, P.O. Box 2003, Ottawa, by March 24. At least twenty copies should be forwarded. The city at which a brief is to be presented should be indicated.

Organizations and associations intending to submit briefs should inform the Commission's Secretary without delay, and will be provided with a copy of the order-in-council, which includes the terms of reference.

Interim Report Planned On Natural Gas Industry

CALGARY (CP) — The Borden energy commission today stepped into its second round of steady examination of prices paid and charged by Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., for the natural gas it pipes through British Columbia to the United States.

It also has announced that an interim report will be made on aspects of the gas industry after all available evidence is heard. The seven-man commission expects to end its month-long Calgary hearing March 4, then will move to Regina, about April 14, and later to Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Meanwhile, commission counsel Arthur Pattillo continued his persistent cross-examination today of Westcoast's price structure.

He repeatedly asked for answers to two questions—why did Westcoast settle for a 22-cent payment for its gas at the U.S. border, and why did the company's agreements with gas producers in the Peace River area of B.C. and Alberta allow for only a scaled 2½-cent increase in 20 years.

He indicated that "from our own calculations" Westcoast may be providing gas to the United States at below cost while charging its British Columbia markets 32 cents for 1,000 cubic feet. He did not pursue that line of questioning immediately.

Pacific Northwest and Westcoast signed a 20-year agreement in 1954 allowing the American company to buy Peace River gas for 22¼ cents a thousand cubic feet delivered to the international border to the end of this year. After next Jan. 1 and for the length of the contract the price will be 22 cents.

Mr. Pattillo argued that a 10-cent price paid for 1,000 cubic feet to Canadian gas producers was low and a sliding scale to 12½ cents by 1977 unprofitable. Paul Kayser, chairman of the board of Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation, disagreed and felt the price was fair.

Referring to the 22-cent border price, Mr. Borden asked if "it is a right thing for Canada to be in a position where it can't increase the price of gas to the United States?"

The witness replied that "it is unusual."

He said the 22-cent price was established on a competitive basis. Gas from U.S. fields to the huge California market drew rates of 34 cents for 1,000 cubic feet. Estimated cost of getting Canadian gas from the border to California was 12 cents, leaving a net value for Peace River gas of 22 cents.

SETS LIMITS

Mr. Kayser agreed, under questioning, that it set the price limits which could be paid Canadian producers. But he insisted it reflected market conditions of the time and suggested prices paid for additional imports of gas in future would be higher.

"Obviously," he added, "it would have been a more favorable contract to Westcoast if the border price agreement had had an escalation clause in it."

Mr. Pattillo claimed the 22 cents is an unfair price since Canadian gas is not being used in the California market.

SEATTLE GROUP AFTER U.S. PRO GRID BERTH

SEATTLE (CP)—A syndicate of Seattle-area businessmen seeking a professional football franchise today incorporated "pro sports" with $1,000,000 capital.

The group has two immediate aims—to obtain the University of Washington's 55,000-seat stadium as a playing site and to petition for a franchise in the National Football League.

The 18 corporation members elected Willard Rhodes, Seattle grocery executive, as president. Rhodes owns Miss Thriftway, speedboat which twice won the Gold Cup, premier event of unlimited hydroplane racing.

SIDELINE SLANTS BY Doug Peden

While a strange silence has been hanging over the Vancouver Island lacrosse front, cheerful chirpings have been heard from the boxla bailiwicks of New Westminster and Vancouver.

The loudest and happiest noises, of course, have been coming from "Deacon" Jake Proctor, who will again be calling the shots for the Salmonbellies.

As a player, Jake was no stranger to Mann Cup playoffs. He was in six of them and shared two Canadian championships—with the old New Westminster Adanacs and the 1955 Victoria Shamrocks.

Last season when it became evident that Nanaimo Timbermen and the Shamrocks were going to battle it out for the Inter-City Lacrosse League crown, Jake growled that he wouldn't consider his boxla career complete until he had piloted a team to historic boxla bauble.

"And," he grinned, "it might just be next year. We've got plans."

Well, next year is here. And why is the Deacon preaching a happy sermon?

He has Jack Bionda's signature on a player form. That in itself is enough to set any lacrosse coach to whistling "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," which was a hit tune about the time Jake first picked up a lacrosse stick.

Jake will get an argument from the Shamrocks over Bionda. His transfer has yet to be approved and the Rocks claim the scoring whiz is still their property.

But whether operating from the floor or from the bench, Proctor thinks before he acts and seldom lays his cards on the table until he holds aces. So, it will be surprising if Bionda isn't decked out in New Westminster livery come May.

At Least Jack Has One Consolation

In addition, the Bellies have acquired the services of Johnny Coleman, the never-say-die guy with Long Branch Pontiacs who gave the Rocks some trouble in last September's Mann Cup final. And it appears the Deacon also has rawboned Harold Fox, the Timberman of last season who bolstered the Irish in the Canadian final.

Add to that starry trio the likes of Jack Byford, Doug McRory, Jack Barclay and Cliff Sepka and it's easy to see why the Deacon is beaming.

Most vulnerable spot on the Salmonbelly armour could be in goal and word around Vancouver is that Jake is trying to snatch rookie John Ferguson from Pilseners to back up Stan Joseph, the ageing "Wooden Indian."

Pilsener pilot Jack McKinnon is also making noises, but his may be a case of putting on a brave front. At least McKinnon has one consolation. Things can't be worse than the last-place finish of last season. There's only one way his club can go—and that's up.

Anyway, lacrosse is moving back into Vancouver Forum after an absence of two years. The Pils, long-term tenants at Kerrisdale Arena, wanted to get back on a wooden floor and will play Tuesday night home games at the Forum.

Although the Timbermen and Shamrocks haven't been talking, don't think they haven't been busy trying to line up new talent. Neither Nanaimo coach Harry Wipper or Victoria's Whitey Severson wants to tip his hand and chance competitive bidding until he has imports signed and sealed.

Time Running Out on Island Teams

But since the deadline for east-west transfer is Feb. 28, the continued silence can only mean they have hit snags in their player hunts.

Wipper, who has taken over the job of managing the Nanaimo Arena, may have snared John Lumley, a Nanaimo stalwart a few years back, but is almost certain to lose Fox and Derry Davies, now working in Victoria. And Gogi Stewart will probably be too busy with Nanaimo's soccer club to tackle lacrosse this summer.

Severson, trying to talk some of his Mann Cup champions out of retirement plans and attempting to bring classy Don Gear back to Victoria, has had a couple of disappointments. For a while it appeared that Bob Pulford, rookie star of Toronto's National Hockey League club, would be wearing the Irish green. But now it's almost certain Pulford will stay in Ontario to attend school this summer.

Whitey still has a couple of irons in the eastern fire and will be sitting close to the telephone this weekend, waiting for calls that may either tell him his import problems are solved or that he will have to start again.

One thing is sure. Time is running out on the T-Men and Rocks. If they don't trap some import talent in a hurry, Jake will probably realize his goal in '58.

He may reach it in any case.

Ontario Lacrosse Association has turned down a request by Peterborough Timbermen to have the OLA's one-year suspension of their senior players lifted. The Canadian association last September suspended all but four members of the Petes for five years after they refused to start the Mann Cup playoff at Memorial Arena, but the OLA made the suspension effective in Ontario for only one year. The OLA also turned down an application by Florie Tomchishen of Long Branch to transfer to B.C. because Coleman had already been granted the one east-west transfer allowed from one team by a new CLA rule.

LUMLEY BLANKS WINGS

Playoff Cash Is Fine Nerve Tonic

By The Canadian Press

Hefty Harry Lumley, spending his declining years in the relative quiet of hockey's minor leagues, was none too anxious to return to the National Hockey League but a cut of Boston Bruins' playoff money should soothe his frazzled nerves.

Thursday night he made that cut more certain as he shut out Detroit Red Wings 5-0 to lift Bruins into a second-place tie with New York Rangers, a point ahead of Detroit.

The 31-year-old veteran was stopping pucks for Springfield Indians in the American Hockey League when he got a summons from Boston, sliding towards the bottom of the league after an injury to regular netminder Don Simmons.

He had already refused an opportunity to return to the NHL with Chicago Black Hawks, but general manager Lynn Patrick's offer was attractive so Lumley packed his bags for service with his fourth NHL team.

In 13 games since then the Bruins have lost only five, while the 200-pound Lumley has registered two shutouts and owns a solid 2.61 goals-against average.

KEEP TERRY BUSY

He stopped 33 shots Thursday night and Bruins backed up this defensive display with one of their best offensive efforts this season, throwing 41 shots at Detroit netminder Terry Sawchuk.

The goals—two in the first and three in the second—came from four of Boston's big men and rookie Buddy Boone—the first of his NHL career. The others were scored by Bronco Horvath, his 21st this season; Vic Stasiuk and Jerry Toppazzini, their 19th each, and veteran Leo Labine.

Stasiuk and Toppazzini got the two first-period goals and both were scored on tipped-in long shots by rearguards Allan Stanley and Fern Flaman.

Horvath let a 25-foot slapshot go at 1.16 of the second period and the puck whistled past Sawchuk, grazing the post on the way into the net. Centre Larry Regan set up Boone for his goal, from 15 feet out, at 14.13, and Labine got his sixth this year on Horvath's backhand pass in front of the net.

LONDON (Reuters) — Barrow Thursday defeated Liverpool City in a Rugby League Cup first-round game postponed from last Saturday.

TWO-BALL EVENT AT COLWOOD

GOLF GOES TO HIGH SCHOOL

Extra Icing for Celebrations

BY ERNIE FEDORUK

The Victoria and District Golf Association, keeping in step with the Centennial celebrations, Thursday night added an extra major tournament on its 1958 fixture card.

The tournament — the B.C. Centennial Two-Ball Foursome—will be held at the Royal Colwood Club May 25. Although a limit will be placed on the number of entries, the 18-hole event will be open to any golfer with an established handicap. Entry fee will be $5 per person.

Association officials, pleased that they were able to arrange an extra tournament in the centennial year, said they would continue to make it an annual affair.

Final details, including the method of handicap scoring for the Scotch foursomes, will be worked out by a seven-man committee headed by the association's newly-elected president, Harry Young of Oak Bay. Other members of the committee are Bill McColl, Colwood; Claude Heggie, Uplands; Orv Fox, Navy; Reg Wilde, Oak Bay; Ab Robertson, Gorge Vale, and Art Turner, Cedar Hill.

The association, at its well-attended meeting in the Gorge Vale clubhouse, also announced plans for junior golf development in Victoria and district high schools. At least four high schools—S. J. Willis, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Mount View—have expressed a willingness to go ahead with the junior program. It is believed other district and city schools will also join.

Tentative plans call for leading Island golfers to provide lectures on etiquette and the general rules of the game. Professionals will then take over and provide actual instructions on fundamentals.

The program, to be financed by the B.C. junior golf development fund, is expected to be launched at the end of the month.

Young, elected by acclamation, replaces Gord Pellow of Uplands as president. Vic Painter of Colwood was named vice-president, while Leo Derman of Gorge Vale was again returned as secretary-treasurer. Dr. George Bigelow of Oak Bay was named chairman of button play while Claude Heggie was picked chairman of the monthly medal competition.

Those Parisians Just Loved Champion Pair From Canada

PARIS (CP) — Canada's Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul ruled as the world figure-skating pairs champions for the second year in a row today after their almost-flawless performance brought the house down in the huge Palais des Sports.

The women's singles competition opened this morning, setting the stage for the men's final tonight in single free skating.

At the end of the first compulsory figure defending champion Carol Heiss of the United States was well ahead.

In unofficial placings at the end of the first round, Margaret Crossland of Winnipeg was 12th and Sonia Snelling of Toronto 26th. They were the only Canadians in the women's singles.

The girls broke off for lunch after two compulsory figures were completed with Miss Heiss still well ahead. Miss Crossland had advanced to ninth in the unofficial placings and Miss Snelling was 24th.

Officials said two more figures would be run off during the afternoon with the final two Saturday and the free skating program Saturday night.

CROWD THRILLED

The young Toronto couple of Miss Wagner and Paul made it seem easy Thursday night as they blended perfectly in a series of daring movements that thrilled the crowd of some 12,000. The applause the Canadians received was tremendous.

The nine judges awarded the world champions the only high set of markings among the 16 couples from 10 countries. They received 10 placing points and 101.6 scoring points to beat the runner-up Czech couple, Vera Suchankova and Zdenek Dolezal, by a healthy margin. The Canadian brother-sister combination, Maria and Otto Jelinek of Oakville, Ont., drew third place.

WON TITLE LAST YEAR

Miss Wagner, a tiny 19-year-old brunette, and Paul, a 20-year-old six-footer, won the title for the first time last year in Colorado Springs, Colo.

In the men's school figures, Californian Tim Brown was ahead of defending champion David Jenkins, suffering from a pulled leg muscle that hampered his training.

Canadian champion Charles Snelling of Toronto slipped to 11th with 110 placing points. He had edged Brown for second place in the North American championships last year and was third in the world meet.

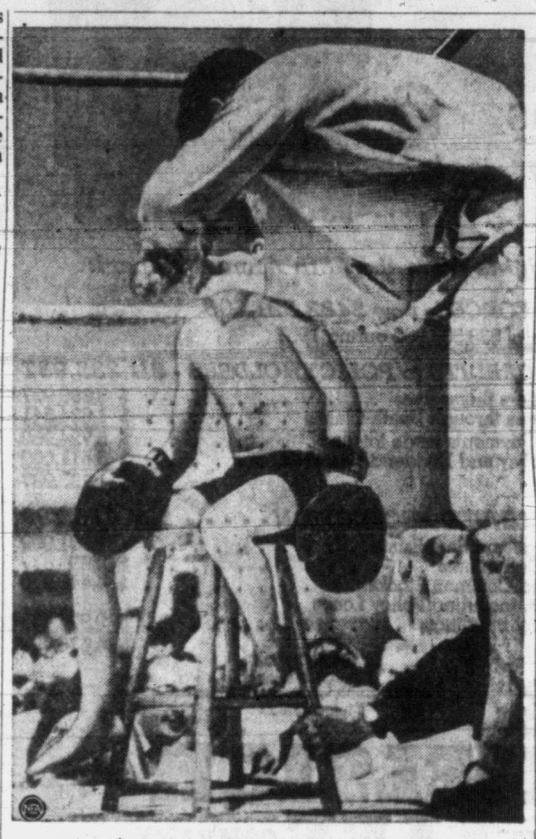
Don Jackson of Oshawa, Ont., 17-year-old runner-up in the Canadian senior championships for the last three years, was ninth with 78 placing points and Ed Collins of Ottawa 12th.

In the dance event, the defending British champions, June Markham and Courtney Jones, held a commanding lead after the compulsory figures.

Second were Geraldine Fenton and William McLachlan of Toronto, who finished also second to the Britons in the world championships last year.

ONE EACH WEEK

SPOKANE (AP) — Spokane Indians of the Pacific Coast Baseball League said Wednesday they will televise one home game a week this season. All games, home and away, will be broadcast on radio.



NO TACKS, PLEASE

After taking pounding in first round, Ricky Maxon kicked off shoes and took swig of water. Then the 112 pounds of barefoot boy with fists went out to earn decision in boys' club bout at Marietta, Ga. As long as nobody throws tacks on canvas, Ricky should do all right in future fights. (NEA.)

Prairie Skaters Top Pairs Events

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prairie competitors shone in the pairs events Thursday as the Western Canada figure skating championships opened here.

Saskatoon's skating twins, Margaret and Marlene Meldrum won their third successive Western Canada ladies pairs title with an assured performance at the Capilano Winter Club.

The blonde, 16-year-olds placed above six other pairs, including Winnipeg's Sharon Jacques and Maureen Dandenault, who came second, and Coralie and Barnie Phillips, also of Saskatoon, third.

Kamloops' Joan Turner and Marlene Hepburn were fifth and Carol Johnson and Janet Stenstrom of Victoria were seventh.

Bill Trimble and Elaine Protheroe of Winnipeg, winners of the 1956 Canadian waltz crown, headline four couples remaining in the waltz competition with Victoria's Douglas Doidge and Maralee Rutley.

In the novice men's singles, Vancouver's Glen Burns and Robbie Fiddes placed first and second.

Fourteen-year-old Patsy Hay, Vancouver, easily won the novice ladies' singles. Patsy got first place votes from four of the five judges to win over Leslie Lombardo, 14, Vancouver.

Thursday afternoon, in the junior men's figures, John W. Franks, Kelowna, B.C., counted 194.7 points to 186 for John R. Thomas, Vernon, B.C.

Included in the bronze couple first round winners are Victoria's Lorraine Hyne and Lennard Simpson. No points are awarded for the initial round of the pairs.

Eddie, Phil Continue Point Duel

Time is running out on Victoria's Eddie Dorohoy and Phil Maloney of Vancouver in their struggle to catch Guyle Fielder in the Western Hockey League scoring derby.

The Seattle ace, who was threatening to waltz to his second successive point crown, has been in a slump for several games but his closest pursuers, each with 20 games to play, have also been finding points hard to acquire.

As a result, Fielder, with 73 points on 15 goals and 58 assists, still enjoys a six-point lead over Maloney and a nine-point bulge over Dorohoy.

DUEL SATURDAY

Eddie and Phil, both former WHL scoring kings, will be duelling Saturday night when the Canucks move into Memorial Arena against the Cougars.

Both have a chance to gain ground tonight. Dorohoy, pointless for two games, will be watching Fielder at Seattle as the Cougars continue their last-ditch struggle to catch the third-place Amerks. Maloney will be at home against New Westminster Royals.

Maloney and Dorohoy also face a threat for the runner-up spot from a pair of Prairie Division snipers. Edmonton's Len Lunde and smooth Sid Finney of Calgary are only one point back of the Cougar centre.

Top five scorers:

	G	A	Pts
Fielder, Seattle	15	58	73
Maloney, Vancouver	28	38	66
Dorohoy, Victoria	29	36	65
Lunde, Edmonto	32	31	64
Finney, Calgary	33	29	64

WITHOUT HANCOX

Wokingham XI Plays West Auckland Again

LONDON (CP)—Wokingham Town, the team that reached the quarter-finals of the amateur soccer cup competition with the illegal assistance of a former professional, will get a chance to do it again without him.

The Football Association gave its ruling Thursday on a protest by West Auckland Town that the former professional, Ray Hancox had played for Wokingham under the name of Mike Ashford when Wokingham beat West Auckland 4-2 in their third-round match last Saturday.

West Auckland's claim that it should be awarded the match was rejected on the ground that Wokingham had been unaware of the infraction. The FA ordered the two teams to replay their match at Wokingham before Feb. 22, the scheduled date of the quarter-finals.

Wokingham did not escape without penalty. The FA ordered the club's share of the gate receipts of the replay to be donated to the FA benevolent fund.

Perhaps Wren Was Kind But Oh Those Dunlops!

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Manager Wren Blair has saved a few kind words for Sweden's defending world hockey champions after his powerful Allan Cup champions from Whitby smothered the Swedes 13-0 Thursday night in the first of seven exhibition games.

Concentrating on "European-style" hockey, where the emphasis is on speed and stick-handling, and body-checking in the true Canadian sense is frowned on, the Canadian entry in the forthcoming world tournament handed the Swedes their worst drubbing in several years.

A crowd of 10,000 sat stunned in the big outdoor rink while the Canadians piled up three goals in the first period and five more in each of the last two periods.

RUSSIANS IMPRESSED

Although they refused to comment, three Russian hockey officials obviously were impressed. For Sweden, which beat the Russians in Moscow last March for the world title, had been rated one of the contenders along with the Soviets in the 1958 tournament starting in Oslo, Norway, Feb. 28.

The Swedes pulled somewhat of an upset in the 1957 tournament, although Canada, the United States, and several Western European countries refused to send teams in protest against the Soviet suppression of the Hungarian revolution.

Thursday night, after the one-sided Whitby win, Blair said he feels sure the score won't be so high tonight when the two countries meet again on the same rink.

"Despite our scoring we don't count Sweden out in the world championships. They know how to play hockey, but they seemed to have a day off."

FIFTH STRAIGHT

It was Canada's fifth straight victory of a European exhibition tour aimed primarily at familiarization, with the continent's type of game.

After they landed in Britain earlier this month, the Canadians trimmed two British professional teams made up mostly of Canadians—by scores of 6-2 and 8-2. Then they journeyed to West Germany for a two-game series with the RCAF Flyers, which turned out to be little more than skating practice. Whitby wound up with 14-1 and 16-2 victories.

The 13 goals against the Swedes gave the Canadians a total of 57 in five games against seven allowed.

Jack MacKenzie, a Preston, Ont., teacher, was the star of the Canadian attack Thursday night with four goals.

Bob Attersley, Bus Gagnon and George Gosselin each scored two while Jean Paul Lamirande, Gordon Myles and Sid Smith, the player-coach, had one apiece.

In London, the U.S. entry lost an exhibition match and a star defenceman Thursday.

Eddie Kirrane of Brookline, Mass., suffered a broken right wrist during the second period of a 7-6 victory by the professional Wembley Lions over the U.S. The loss was the Americans' second in two nights against British teams.

GREATER IMPROVEMENT BY AIR CRASH VICTIMS

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Four players and manager Matt Busby of Manchester United soccer team, critically injured in a plane crash last week, were reported improving Thursday.

Twenty-one persons, including seven players of the British team, were killed in the crash.

Duncan Edwards, star United player, has "improved dramatically," a physician said, but he still is "very seriously ill." Dr. J. Graham Taylor, British physician, said Busby, John Berry, Jackie Blanchflower and Ray Wood also had responded to treatment.

B's RULE LADIES

Time Called At Wrong Time

Pressure was the telling point Thursday night at Central Junior High School when Dickinson & Dunn created the basketball season's major upset by defeating Dairy Queen Eds 56-52 to win the city senior "B" crown.

Unable to defeat the Eds all season and dropping the opener of the best-of-three series 53-37, Tiremen came booming back with 45-41 and 56-52 victories.

In what was by far the most thrilling of the three games, D & D evened the count when George Denison sank a technical foul shot in the final seconds of regulation time to make the score 47-47.

In the overtime period, the favored Dairy Queens enjoyed a lead twice before canny Norm Baker fired the shot that sent the Tiremen into a 54-52 lead.

FOULED AGAIN

Chuck Bennett wrapped up the victory when he sank two free thows to boost the margin to 56-52 just as the final whistle sounded.

Eds lost their advantage in the final seconds of regulation time when they were given the ball on an out of bounds play and quickly called time. Too quickly, as it turned out. They had used up all their time-outs and were handed a disastrous technical for their troubles. Denison stepped up to make the free throw and send the game into overtime.

Baker paced the winners with a 20-point outing and Denison hooped 13. For the losers, Gary Taylor dropped in 21 points.

Victoria B's won the city senior women's title in a preliminary game with a 43-34 victory over Meteors.

With Louise Heal leading the way with a 12-point effort, it was Bs' second straight win after taking the opener 45-25.

Dickinson & Dunn—Baker 20, Bennett 8, Simpson 9, Clarkson 3, Shaw, B. Bamford 3, Tooby, Denison 13, Gilbert. Total—56.

Dairy Queen Eds—Boyd 12, Jones 7, Saunders 7, Taylor 21, Jackson, Strank, Bond 2, Patterson 3. Total—52.

Victoria B's — Nita Wood 6, Barb Peterson 6, Verona Groome 4, Louise Heal 12, Chris Leach 8, Marg DeMontigny 1, Marlene Mitchell 4, Stella Camp 2, Beth Spiers. Total—42.

Meteors — Pat Winterburn 13, Joan Winterburn 4, Bobby Lawrence 1, Carol Gardler 4, Carol Casilio 2, Gerry Hodge 2, S. Lundquist 2, Joyce Coe 6. Total—34.

Vics Compete At Vancouver

Getting competitive practice for the forthcoming B.C. high school championships, coach Gordon Hartley has his Victoria High cross-country charges in Vancouver today and Saturday for races against mainland teams.

Today the team was in competition with South Burnaby, John Oliver and Lester Pearson High Schools, at South Burnaby. Saturday the Vics go to St. George's School for a race against the host school, Queen Elizabeth and Vancouver Tech.

Today's race was over a three-mile course while Saturday the circuit will be four and one-half miles.

Marlene and Partner Move Into Semifinals

JUPITER, Fla. (CP) — The favored team of Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto, the Canadian amateur champion, and the U.S. amateur king, Lieut. Hillman Robbins of the U.S. Air Force, advanced to the semi-finals of the United States mixed foursomes golf tournament Thursday.

Mrs. Streit, former U.S. and British champion, who has lost out twice in the finals of Florida competition this winter, and Robbins defeated Meriam Bailey of Evanston, Ill., and Paul Kelly of Ossining, N.Y., 4 and 3 in the quarter-finals.

BONUS SOUTHPAW

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers have signed William Weller, 18-year-old southpaw pitcher from Clyde, Ohio, for a reported $25,000 in bonus and guaranteed salary. It was Detroit's first such move since the bonus rule was repealed in December.

JACKIE'S TORRID ROUND HELPED WARM ST. PETE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Jackie Pung Thursday played a dazzling game of golf, shooting an eight-under-par 66 to lead the first round of the annual St. Petersburg Women's Open golf tournament.

She was seven strokes ahead of the field. Her 66 set a woman's record on the 6,116-yard Sunset course where women's par is 74 and men's par is 71.

Island Hopes High For Cage Conquest

This may be Vancouver Island's year to stop playing second fiddle in the B.C. high school basketball band.

It could be the big year if you would care to believe reports from Vancouver that their prospective representatives to the B.C. inter-high basketball championship tourney at UBC's Memorial Gym in March won't be quite up to the mark they have set in past seasons.

On the other hand, Vancouver Island teams have shown remarkable improvement and depth over their entries at the annual event last March, when Cumberland Toppers fell 57-40 to Vancouver College in the final.

Five teams have already been chosen for the Island tournament, slated for Cumberland March 7 and 8, and only lower Island entries have yet to be decided.

Representing the northern end of the Island will be Cumberland, Courtenay and Alberni while Ladysmith and Duncan's Cowichan High team will represent the centre section.

Three lower Island teams will be chosen Feb. 21 and 22 at Esquimalt High School gym when Victoria High, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Belmont, Mount Douglas, St. Louis College, Mount View and North Saanich play off.

Defending lower Island champion, Vic High Totems are favored to lead the trek to Cumberland. Two of the teams, Oak Bay and Vic High, will have a chance to test their strength tonight and Saturday in the inter-scholastic invitational tournament at Victoria High Gym.

They will be competing against Victoria College Vikings and Royal Roads.

Tonight's action will pit Vikings against Royal Roads at 7.30 and Totems against Oak Bay at 8.30.

Finals will be played Saturday.

Lower Island tourney draw follows:

FRIDAY, FEB. 21

1. 10.30 a.m.—Victoria High vs. North Saanich.

Four Rinks Unbeaten At Alberni

Only two Victoria rinks remained in contention for prizes as the third annual Alberni Valley Curling Club bonspiel moved into the late Thursday draws.

Gar Taylor had moved his pick-up foursome into the eights of the MacKenzie primary with an 8-7 win over Arthur of Alberni and Thomson advanced through the first draw of the Colonist second primary with a 10-6 defeat of Alberni's Brulotte.

The only unbeaten quartets in the spiel were skipped by Bob Cummings, Bill Osborne, Jules Wenezenki of the host club and Jack Coates of Parksville, also a AVCC member.

Cummings and Coates had advanced into the eights of the MacKenzie event while Wenezenki and Osborne were in the 16s.

Lew Steps Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lew Hoad turned on the power Thursday night and whipped Pancho Gonzales 6-3, 6-2 to increase his lead in their world championship professional tennis tour. The 23-year-old Australian went ahead, 10-7, in the 100-match series which began last month on the grass in Hoad's homeland.

It Often Pays Just to Listen

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—A hotel room bull session, in which the talk naturally got around to golf, paid off in spades for Dave Marr, 24, a Houston professional, who was leading the Texas Open golf tournament today by the monumental margin of six strokes.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver was six strokes behind the leader with 34-35—69, tied with three other players.

Marr and golf professionals Claude Harmon, Jack Burke, Jr., and Jackson Bradley held the bull session in a San Antonio hotel Wednesday as the wind drove snow across their window.

PAYS TO LISTEN

Marr listened closely as the three other golfers discussed their theories on putting. He said he put some of those theories into practice Thursday and as a result came up with the best round in his life—an eight-under-par 63 that gave him his wide lead in the $15,000 tournament.

The young golfer, who started taking lessons from his father when he was 12 years old, paid no attention to the sub-freezing temperatures as he sank one 25-foot putt, two 15-footers and several others of considerable length. He used only 27 putts in shooting a 33-30—63 on the par 36-35—71 Brackenridge Park course, and took a six-stroke lead on the field.

IT'S HEALTHY

It was the largest lead any golfer has compiled on opening day in a 1958 tournament and one of the biggest margins veteran tour followers can recall.

Six strokes back with Leonard were Tony Holguin, Bill Johnson and Dave Ragan with identical 35-34—69s.

Ten others had one-under-par 70s on a day which found the 6,490-yard layout dropped from the "pitch-and-putt" category.

Low scores are common in the Texas Open, yet the players who scored par 71 today were included in the top 23 players.

Other scores by Canadians were: Al Balding, Markham, Ont., 37-40—77; Lyle Crawford, Vancouver, 38-35—73; Murray Tucker, Toronto, 39-38—77 and Bob Wylie, Calgary, 36-37—73.

Key Witness Held War Jobs With U.K., Canadian Gov'ts

VANCOUVER—Trevor Leigh Daniels, who emerged as a key witness in the bribery preliminary hearing Thursday, is a financial and timber expert who held wartime posts withy the British and Canadian governments.

He now operates an automobile agency at Duncan, and lives on Genoa Bay Road.

Mr. Daniels became a chartered accountant and entered the timber business in 1927 in Great Britain.

"I didn't become an accountant to make that my specialty but to help me in the timber business, owned by my stepfather, which I then entered," he told the hearing before giving evidence.

In 1938 he went to work for the British government to oversee the building up of timber resources to meet the demands of the impending war. In 1939 the British government sent him to Canada to help dovetail a joint program.

COST EXPERT

The following year the Canadian government obtained his full-time services as a cost expert in the armaments field and later he joined the Crown's price stabilization agency rising to vice-president and chief inspector by the war's end.

He joined B.C. Forest Products Ltd. in May of 1946 "to take care of the financial end of the business for E. P. Taylor," he told the court.

Following a company merger and executive change, he served under Hector G. Munro, the new president. (Mr. Munro, who died suddenly last December, was named in the charge as one of the alleged conspirators.)

Mr. Daniels said he left the company's employ in December, 1954, when Mr. Munro refused to sever connections with Pacific Coast Services Ltd., one of the defendants in the case.

BRITISH DOCTORS SCORE OPERATIONS ON BBC-TV

LONDON (AP)—The British Medical Association took out after the BBC today because it plans to televise cancer, brain and heart operations.

"Bloodcurdling" and "deplorable" said a BMA spokesman of Your Life in Their Hands, a series of medical programs the government network plans to start soon.

The medical spokesman contended that the shots of surgery which have the full approval of the Health Ministry would make Britons more neurotic and that the British television chiefs "are determined to make people's flesh creep."

Show Luxury Tractor

MONTREAL (CP)—A futuristic tractor was among the features Thursday at the opening of the National Salon of Agriculture. The show will run to Feb. 23. The "tractor of the future" has an enclosed bubble cockpit, air conditioning, a two-way radio-telephone, cigaret lighter, a retractable mounting ladder and an indicator to tell when the tractor veers from a furrow.

Scholastically, "in every subject he was above the average, and he intended to go in for law," Mr. Rendle said.

Last year he did a job analysis in law and this year, in addition to his school work, he was taking a law correspondence course to familiarize himself with it.

The boy was interested also in the RCAF reserve tradesman training plan for the summer months, and was scheduled to be interviewed by an auxiliary unit counsellor Thursday night.

It was probably for this reason he hurried home where his mother had supper waiting.

Leonard Hawkins, physical education instructor who attended the basketball practice Thursday evening, said Jimmie played on the school junior soccer team of which he was "virtually captain."

TRIED HARD

"He knew he didn't have a chance to play senior basketball because of his size (he was about 5 feet 5 inches tall), which he tried hard to overcome.

"That's why he asked me if he could be team manager and statistician. It's not often you get a boy who will sit on the bench and keep a score sheet. He was always giving tips to the players to improve their game."

The boy was student council sports representative and only Thursday night completed house league standings to Jan. 31 in statistical review.

Another school interest was dramatics, in which his deep voice carried well, and an outside activity—again athletic—was the Babe Ruth baseball league.

The earlier traffic death also was on the highway. Pedestrian William Hopkins, 76, of 283 Helmcken, died in hospital after he was in collision with a light truck at Helmcken and the old Island Highway Jan. 5.

Licence Called All-Important

More Vital to Company President Than Top Official, Says Witness

By JOHN MIKA, Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — Trevor L. Daniels, former chief financial officer of B.C. Forest Products Ltd., testified Thursday the president of the company regarded obtaining a forest management licence more important than Mr. Daniels' services.

Mr. Daniels told the preliminary hearing into conspiracy and bribery charges against Robert Sommers that he resigned from BCFP when the then-president, the late Hector Munro, refused to stop payment of $30,000 ultimately intended "all or in part" for Mr. Sommers.

Charged with Mr. Sommers, now sitting as a Social Credit backbencher in the legislature, are: H. W. Gray, John M. Gray, Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., Charles D. Schultz, C. D. Schultz Ltd. and BCFP.

In a short session during the afternoon Magistrate Oscar Orr re-affirmed his ruling that Mr. Sommers could remain absent from the hearing. Prosecutor Stewart McMorran raised the point for clarification when he learned that it might not be permissible under the law.

Earlier Mr. Daniels had testified that "all of part" of $30,000 was to be paid Mr. Sommers by "Wick" Gray for obtaining a forest management licence.

Two $15,000 cheques were issued Pacific Coast Services which Mr. Munro said was for a legitimate deal in obtaining options on a valuable stand of timber held by PCS, Mr. Daniels said. Later he learned that Gray was connected with PCS.

Payment of the first $1,000 monthly retainer fees to PCS under another contract was delayed two months in 1954 because he carried on an argument with Mr. Munro "about whether it was feasible to enter into contracts with these people."

'Could Not Show on Expenses'

When he spoke to Mr. Munro about the size of bills paid Schultz Ltd. (engaged in 1953 to help obtain a forest management licence), he was told "Schultz had expenses which he could not show on his expense account."

After that, he tendered his resignation effective Dec. 31, 1954.

"I told Munro I had formed the conclusion that Pacific Coast Services was not on the level.

"I told him that possibly the same situation existed with C. D. Schultz Ltd., and I didn't want to be associated with the company any longer. We then had a tremendous verbal row." Mr. Daniels said just before Christmas, 1954, both of them tried to "patch things up."

"I said I was very distressed at having to give up my position with the company which I had helped in a small part to build up. Munro said he was distressed too. It would put him and the company in a very embarrassing position, losing my services so abruptly.

"I said I would be willing to carry on if he would cancel the arrangements with Pacific Coast Services and C. D. Schultz Ltd.

"He said he could not do that. He was committed on a course he could not deviate from and the best thing to do was to let the matter stand as it was.

"He gave me his reasons. He feared that pressure would be put upon him from outside and that obtaining forest management licences was more important than my services.

"He admitted to me I had justification in my attitude, that the two $15,000 cheques were in fact the original $30,000 to be paid to Gray in cash for any difficulties he might encounter in getting forest management licences."

Mr. Daniels said the "gist of the conversation" was that although a licence had been granted there was still work required on roads and other technical matters before it went into effect.

'Life Could Be Made Difficult'

"These were at the discretion of the government and Munro expressed the view that life could be made very difficult for him under certain conditions if he did not carry out the present conditions."

Mr. Daniels said that in 1953 more than 300,000,000 feet of the 3,500,000,000 feet of lumber controlled by BCFP was cut and the company had only about 10 years' supply of resources left.

Mr. Daniels, a surprise witness to everyone but the lawyers in the case, testified 2½ hours. He was to be cross-examined today. Most of his testimony brought frequent objections from tense defence lawyers, one of whom twice asked him to speak more slowly so they could take down every word.

H. F. Frederiksen, president of Tahsis Co. Ltd., was recalled to continue testimony as the first witness Thursday.

He identified 18 cheques totalling $36,000 paid by his lumber company to Schultz Ltd. in 1955 in connection with an application for a forest management licence.

Wednesday he identified similar cheques totalling $16,000. Prosecutor Stewart McMorran has claimed he will prove this money formed part of the alleged bribes.

Mr. Frederiksen said Tahsis had "no dealings" with PCS, Evergreen Lumber or the Gray Brothers in connection with its licence application.

He paid Schultz Ltd. the high retainer for services because it specialized in the complex work of "programming for a licence and there was no one more expert at the work than Mr. Schultz."

All told, Schultz Ltd. was engaged about 20 months in surveys and planning for the Tahsis application for a licence covering a large area on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

"We had several other applications but only this one was granted," he said.

He learned that BCFP was interested in engaging Schultz Ltd. for a licence application but he objected because he was paying for "undivided" attention by the company.

Only Canadian Forest Products objected to the Tahsis application when it came up for review.

Mr. Frederiksen said his statement to police that Tahsis gave no funds to anyone for the purpose of bribery or any other corrupt action was true.

CAMPBELL RIVER FIGHT

Inspector Asked To Check Records

CAMPBELL RIVER—Suspended village clerk John Stephenson was still out of a job at the close of a discordant special meeting of the Village Commission Thursday night.

A divided commission voted to have the inspector of municipalities check records of previous meetings which gave rise to the dispute Tuesday night, which in turn led to Stephenson's suspension by Chairman Joe Bundy.

Mr. Bundy charged before a packed audience that Mr. Stephenson had acted without authority when he wrote Provincial Secretary Wesley Black and the leader of the opposition recently on behalf of the commission after an allegedly closed meeting.

Three commissioners walked out of the village office Tuesday night after a dispute with Mr. Bundy, after which the chairman suspended the clerk.

PROTEST

The contentious letter contained a protest against the manner in which a plebiscite on a $2,000,000 waterfront development had been set by the government for March 3, and a claim that the commission had not been informed of the move.

Dan Campbell, Comox MLA and ardent supporter of the waterfront scheme, claims Mr. Bundy sent him a telegram Jan. 28 advising him that the proposal for a plebiscite had been accepted by the government.

Experts Plan Fish Check After Blast

Effects of the Ripple Rock explosion on marine life will be checked by scientists of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada and the department of fisheries when the big blast is triggered in early April.

Strategic test sites north and south of the explosion area have been mapped and two days before the event live fish will be set out.

Ground fish such as ling cod, soles and other varieties will be placed in crab pots. A limited number of surface swimming fish will be put in floating ponds.

Following the explosion the test areas will be left for 24 hours before examination to determine mortality rates.

34-Mile Scenic Trail Gets Chamber Backing

A proposal calling for the establishment of a permanent scenic trail from Great Central Lake to Buttle Lake for hikers and tourists has gained the solid support of the tourist committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

The 34-mile trail would take in Della Falls, the highest in North America, and pass through some of the most spectacular scenery on Vancouver Island.

It was suggested by Arnold Webb, secretary-manager of the Victoria Chamber, at an ACCVI meeting in Nanaimo this week.

Mr. Webb said today the ACCVI executive will be asked to approach the provincial department of recreation and conservation to inaugurate a program of trails on the island.

FIRST TRAIL

The Central Lake-Buttle Lake trail was singled out as the first one that should be developed.

"A scenic trail equipped with shelters and food depots would tourists to Vancouver Island," Mr. Webb said. "This field of recreation has been completely neglected by this province."

He noted that in the United States and in New Zealand scenic trails with camps and shelters have been established.

The Victoria Outdoor Club and the Alpine Club of Canada are also interested in a program of scenic trails.

This year the B.C. Centennial Committee awarded the two clubs a grant of $1,000 for improving the trail from Central Lake to Della Falls. Improvements will be carried out this spring and summer.

But the two clubs have no guarantee they will receive further assistance to maintain and develop it as a permanent scenic trail.

Driver Charged In Two-Death Highway Crash

LAKE COWICHAN (CP) — Charges of criminal negligence were laid Thursday against a Youbou man as a result of a highway crash Jan. 24 in which two of his companions were killed.

Melville Edward Hanson was charged in Lake Cowichan police court before Magistrate J. H. Boyd. The preliminary hearing was adjourned.

Killed in the accident 10 miles west of Duncan were Charles Petrie, 28, and his cousin, Robert Ketch, 16.

Seriously injured was Larry Ketch, 17, who was just released from King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, Thursday. Hanson, driver of the car, escaped with a cut lip.

Boat Ramp Rejected By Central Saanich

SAANICHTON — An application by Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce for establishment of a small boat launching ramp at Verdier Park in Brentwood was rejected this week by Central Saanich council.

Council objected that the site was too small, that its use would endanger children who use the park, and that parking at the site, adjacent to the Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry wharf, is restricted.

Assistance Pay to Jobless Highest Since Pre-War Days

Social assistance payments to the employable unemployed in Victoria during December and January, were higher each month than during all of 1956.

The present rate of fund disbursement to out-of-work persons who have no more unemployment insurance benefits, is heaviest since before the Second World War.

City welfare administrator William Hooson reports cheques totalling $2,972 were handed out to such cases throughout 1956.

In the month of December, 1957, the total outlay was $3,754. In January it was $4,360. It's still rising and the city welfare department is budgeting $20,000 this year to such assistance.

"It is clearly indicated the municipalities are faced with more expense for assistance to the employable unemployed," said Mr. Hooson.

He showed where in November, 1956, seven persons drew $92 when they were out of work and had no other source of income. Last month cheques went to 115 families or individuals.

The allowances, shortly to be increased by about 10 per cent, are $50 for a single person, $76.50 for a couple and $92.50 for a family of three.

Mr. Hooson points out payment is made on a weekly basis usually. That means a single man would draw just over $11.

"If he has a room at $8 a week, he has just over $3 to eat with for seven days. He can get toast and coffee and perhaps a small meal later, each day. There are plenty going without three square meals."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Thursday:

John Murdoch Latta, Work Point, $5 for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

Charles M. McMichael, 1407 Fort, $30; Emil Schubert, 2645 Wark, $25 for speeding over 30.

Douglas A. Wakelyn, 610 Kent, $10; Alexander E. Bull, 2734 Quadra, $10; John F. H. Schoor, 2631 Blanshard, $10; Tearth Singh, 3210 Bellevue, $10 for failing to stop at a red light.

Donald Richard Whittaker, 3903 Cadboro Bay, $10 for passing on the right.

Marion F. Cooper, 2844 Inez, $10 for failing to set brakes effectively.

Robert S. Manns, 556 Toronto, $15 for failing to notify Motor Vehicles Branch of a change of address.

Jonathon Sadler, 2731 Fernwood, $40 and restricted to business driving only for one month; Marie Hornsby, 2830 Dunlevy, $35 and licence suspension; George Brent Metcalfe, Work Point, $35 and licence suspension for careless driving.

NEWS BRIEFS

Rodney Gerald Cleaver, 18, 2014 Fernwood, was fined $15 in city police court Wednesday for being a minor in possession of liquor.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Billy Fullerton, aged 12, of Fredericton, N.B., for his question:

How Do Pictures Get on TV?

To most of us, TV is an everyday event. Yet it is but a few years old. A hundred years ago, TV would have seemed like a miracle from Aladdin's Lamp. This miracle could not become real until certain forces of nature were discovered and tamed. We had to discover electricity and tame its mighty power. Radio had to be discovered and put to work. The science of electronics had to be developed. Complex gadgets had to be invented to put these mighty forces to work. TV draws on our knowledge of electricity, radio, electronics, light and other mysteries, solved in the modern Age of Science.

Three factors operate together in television. One is the drama enacted in the studio, one is the copy of these events on your TV screen. The other is a powerful electromagnetic force which carries the show on invisible waves from the studio to home.

The carrier waves are sent out from the broadcasting station. They are electromagnetic or radio waves and they fan out from their powerhouse in all directions. These radio waves have been known for a long time. In TV, the trick was to make them carry a series of pictures. When you remember that they are invisible, this seems impossible. But the problem was solved. The pictures could be carried as electrical impulses. The scene in the studio is translated into electrical impulses and these impulses affect the radio waves which carry them. The TV set picks up the carrier waves and notes the electrical impulses. It translates these impulses back into pictures.

The translating job is done with scanners. One scanner works in the studio. It scans the scene before it in rows from left to right, from top to bottom. Look at a newspaper picture under a magnifying glass. You will see that it is built up from rows of small dots. A patch of heavy dots makes a dark patch, pale dots make light areas. The TV scanner also builds up a picture of dark and light dots.

Bright Dots Produce Impulses

The light, bright dots produce strong electrical impulses. The dark dots produce weak impulses. The scanner covers the scene before it much as you read a page but much faster. It builds up an entire picture 30 times every second. The pictures follow each other in rapid succession like a moving picture film. Our eyes are fooled into thinking we see a continuous performance. Actually, we are seeing 30 slightly different pictures every second.

The scanner in the studio feeds its series of electrical impulses into the powerful carrier waves. Instead of black and white dots, the radio waves carry a fast series of strong and weak impulses. They fan out in all directions seeking TV sets to tune in on them. You choose a program by tuning in on the special wave length used by this or that TV broadcasting station.

Your TV set picks up the electrical impulses carried by the radio waves. It translates them back into dots of light. This job is done by a wonderful electron gun which fires a stream of electrons at high speed. These electrons bombard the inside of your TV screen.

The inside of the picture screen is painted with fluorescent paint of another substance which is sensitive to light. The gun aims its series of electrons at the screen. The inside of the screen glows with light when struck by electron bullets. The gun scans the screen from right to left, from top to bottom. The screen is covered 30 times a second to match the scanner in the studio.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

By FREEMAN KING

First Duncan Group: The group committee met in the Guide Hall under the chairmanship of K. Kallock. Scouter Y. Poland was welcomed back to the group from a trip to Holland.

It was decided to pay the expenses of any leader who wished to attend the annual dinner of the Provincial Boy Scouts Association to be held in Vancouver March 21.

H. A. Denny, representing the district council, reported that the 1st Duncan Cubs and Scouts could put on a display in Hudson's Hardware window for Scout Week, Feb. 16 to 23.

It was decided to hold a "clean-up" week late in the spring to raise funds for the group. Mr. Kallock offered to be committee chairman for this and further details to be arranged at a later date.

Scouter Norman Howarth reported that there were at present 13 Scouts on the roll, and that Brian Green had come up to the troop from the Cub pack.

★ ★ ★

Fairbridge Group: The committee announced that a Scout troop has been formed under the leadership of Ray Smith and Michael Dodd, and will meet in the Fairbridge school every Thursday at 7 p.m. Any boy, 11 years or over, in the Fairbridge-Cowichan Station, who wishes to join is invited to send their names to Ray Smith, phone 267-L, or Mrs. Hazel Parker, 122-L1.

★ ★ ★

Campbell River Group: The annual Father and Son banquet will be held at the Scout Hall, Feb. 25. Rex E. Hollaway, secretary of the Campbell River school board will be the guest speaker; catering arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Webber.

The annual church parade for Cubs and Scouts will be at the United Church on Feb. 23 at 2.30 p.m.

Kenny Eade and Michael Meade received their second stars and moved on to the troop in an impressive going-up ceremony. Bobby Quanstrom, Jack Adams and Gordon Gange were invested as Wolf Cubs.

Glen and Garry Webster, Bruce Graham and Douglas Sanderson have joined the troop as recruits.

★ ★ ★

Sidney Group: Card parties will be held during the last two weeks of February by persons in the district interested in assisting the Cubs and Scouts. Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sidney group are making arrangements for these events which will happen during B.P. Week, Feb. 16 to 23.

Twenty of the Sidney Scout troop visited the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain last week. Tour of the observatory was conducted by Dr. R. M. Petrie.

★ ★ ★

View Royal: A dance and cabaret entertainment is planned by View Royal Scout group committee Feb. 28 between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m. at the Fraser Street Hall. The affair will bolster Scout funds.

Commons Approves Life Peerage Bill

LONDON (Reuters) — The House of Commons Thursday night endorsed a government plan to allow women to become members of the House of Lords. The lower house approved a second reading of the bill which would create lifetime peerages for men and women. Membership in the House of Lords now is based on hereditary titles. The House of Lords already has passed the bill.

Faubus Revokes Color Franchise

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Governor Orval Faubus has revoked the Arkansas state franchise of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as two new reports of racial incidents came out of integrated Central High School here this week.

School superintendent Virgil Blossom recommended the expulsion of a Negro girl from the trouble-ridden school, saying she had violated an agreement not to fight back against white students' harassment.

Faubus signed a proclamation taking the NAACP and about 300 other corporations off the roll of chartered organizations because they failed to pay 1957 franchise taxes by a Feb. 1 deadline.

His action had the effect of dissolving the NAACP in Arkansas.

Under a 1953 state law, the NAACP could regain its franchise by paying delinquent taxes and applying for reinstatement.

Agenda Prepared

LONDON (Reuters) — Commonwealth officials Thursday night ended three days of talks in which a proposed agenda was discussed for a ministerial Commonwealth trade and economic conference. The Commonwealth relations office said the Canadian government will announce later the time and place of the conference. It is expected to be held in Ottawa next September.

Island Lions' Clubs Collect Old Eyeglasses

Four South Vancouver Island Lions' Clubs are collecting old eyeglasses for distribution by CARE organization in depressed areas of the world.

Collection depots will be set up at various points in Victoria, Esquimalt and Langford.

Frames, single lenses and cases of all types are also being gathered and sent to New York where volunteer technicians will repair and grade them.

Lions' zone president Douglas Price announced the drive on behalf of the Victoria club, the Victoria Chinese club, Esquimalt and Langford clubs. He said in parts of South America and India the purchase of a pair of glasses is a comparative investment to the purchase of a new car by a Canadian.

When the glasses are distributed they may not be exactly correct for the new user, but much better than nothing, he stated.

Local collection depots will be identifiable by "Bank of Light" signs.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Saanich police court Thursday:

Thomas P. Chappell, Sidney, $30 for speeding over 50.

Arthur Leonard Tremblay, 912 Collinson, $25; Margaret F. Carpenter, James Island, $30; Barrie J. F. Colbourne, 435 Conway, $25 for speeding over 30.

Denis Gordon de Macedo, 1146 Hilda, $20 for reversing when unsafe to do so.

Robert Trickett, 4261 Torquay, $10 for leaving keys in ignition while car unattended.

Norman Horner, 1376 Hastings, $35 for driving with the wrong plates and $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

Horace Ronald Hawkins, 485 Claremont, $10 for failing to display vehicle registration.

Reuben Haugen, Brentwood, $50 and restricted to business driving only for two months, for careless driving.

IT'S JUST LIKE HOME SAYS VISITOR

From Rye, Sussex—one of the oldest towns in England—Mrs. Constance Smith paid an informal visit to the legislature Thursday.

"It is an inspiration," she said, "to know that the kind of government Britain forged out of so much anger and bitterness is carried on in every part of the British Commonwealth.

"It is wonderful to see our own type of government reproduced in this great province."

Ex-Prisoner Of Japanese To Tell Story

Six grim months in a Japanese prison camp will be described at the Evangelistic Temple here in a series of lectures by Rev. R. D. Bullock, scheduled for 8 p.m. today and 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. Bullock was a missionary in Hong Kong when the city was attacked on Pearl Harbor day. After 17 days of bombardment which the missionary describes as the worst part of the ordeal, the city fell.

With other "aliens" Mr. Bullock was rounded up and placed in prison camp. He said there was not very much violence in the camp: "They tried to starve us to death. We were given 4½ ounces of wormy rice in the morning, the same at night. Some of us starved."

The prisoners were finally released in exchange for Japanese prisoners in U.S. hands.

Big Square Dance At Arena May 19

More than 2,000 dancers from 30 clubs are expected to take part in a giant square dance spectacle May 19 at Memorial Arena.

The Victoria Day event will be the centennial year project of the Vancouver Island Western Square Dance Association, to which all the participating clubs belong.

Also on the floor will be about 20 beginners' groups from all parts of the Island.

Present plans call for entry of floats in the Victoria Day parade, lunch from chuckwagons at the Arena, and dancing both afternoon and evening.

The program will be interspersed with other entertainment so dancers can "save themselves for the evening," a spokesman for the association said, and there will be provision for spectators at nominal fees.

The event will be considered as an expansion of the annual spring "roundup" that attracted close to 900 dancers to Central Junior High School auditorium last year.

"Interrupted Melody"
Beyond question one of the most stirring pictures ever made. Music lovers will take this offering to their hearts and emerge shouting its praises. Based on the life of the Metropolitan Opera prima donna, Marjorie Lawrence—her talents, her love, and indomitable courage. Glenn Ford—you loved him in Teahouse of the August Moon—is cast as her doctor husband. Eleanor Parker takes the part of Miss Lawrence and portrays the dramatic story of the crises in a woman's life.

RESUME AFTER BRIER

Ramsay Lays Off Arena—For Now

A lingering controversy over operation of Memorial Arena ice plant is due to be aired again following the Macdonald Brier Curling championship bonspiel in March.

City Council Thursday received a report from a special committee set up last November following complaints directed at manager Joseph Dukowski.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay, who sparked the investigation, wanted to know why he was not invited to attend the last meeting of the committee, Jan. 30.

He wondered whether arena commission members who threatened to resign when he began his investigation (chairman Forrest L. Shaw and commissioners George I. Warren and F. G. Mulliner) had withdrawn their resignations.

"I am trying to keep my tongue in my cheek as far as this report goes. Anything further I have to say, I'll say after the Brier is over," he added.

The report dealt with three complaints leveled by Ald. Ramsay. First, that the manager had failed to maintain the correct chemical composition of the freezing mixture, which could have brought the system to its present state of corrosion; second, that Mr. Dukowski had read to council only part of a text dealing with this matter thus confusing the issue, and finally that the manager had made statements to the press which were later denied.

The committee felt the portions of the text which Mr. Dukowski did not read to council had little bearing on the matter. And finally the committee pointed out Mr. Dukowski had been "duly reprimanded" with regard to his public statements.

Ald. Ramsay cautioned council to read the report carefully.

Council tabled the report.

CITY COUNCIL BRIEFS

Victoria Blocks Proposal For Elk Lake Scenic Road

A Saanich proposal to build a lakeside drive along the west bank of Elk Lake was blocked Thursday by city council.

Council voted against selling Saanich a strip of property required for the right-of-way. Instead the lands will be reserved for park development.

Council approved Victoria and District Cricket Association plans for enlarging the cricket pavilion in Beacon Hill Park, under supervision of parks administrator W. H. Warren.

The city will advance $1,500 to the project on the understanding the club will repay the funds at the rate of $250 a year.

The city will purchase or expropriate a lot and building at the northeast corner of Pandora and Cook to provide for future widening of Cook.

The project is not planned to start immediately, but it was felt the lot should be taken over before any major construction was undertaken there privately.

Removal of a group of elms on Stanley Avenue, requested by property owners, between Pandora and Pembroke, was approved by council.

Placing of 17 additional parking meters on Wharf between Courtney and Broughton upset Ald. D. J. Proudfoot.

"What is the policy, to make money? I can see where they'll soon have meters up to Jubilee Hospital," he stated.

Acting-mayor M. H. Mooney explained: "It's to keep traffic moving and share the facilities, not to make money. If you check, you'll always find a legitimate reason for extending meters."

Council approved a public works department proposal to spend $2,000 for hard-surfacing a roadway between Memorial Arena and Victoria Curling Rink.

Council supported a plan to extend daylight saving time one month later this fall, to end October 26.

The Victoria-Saanich Royal Oak Cemetery Board will be asked to report to council on the proposal that burial plots be sold on the instalment plan.

Victoria Labor Council advocated that step in a letter to council. Most aldermen agreed with the idea, but felt the question should be fully explored before any recommendation was passed to the board.

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee decorations chairman, Bart Carson, told council one-third of the provincial celebrations grant would be spent on decorations.

He said pennants are being purchased for all lamp standards in downtown areas and large vertical signboards will be erected on lamp posts on the causeway.

Cost would be $5,500 and the city was asked to erect them.

He said a group of local businessmen are considering erection of a lighted welcome sign near the Fountain Circle.

Until this is definite, council tabled for two weeks a Junior Chamber of Commerce request to place another lighted sign at that point. It would indicate Victoria's score of traffic fatalities and accidents.

Convicted of bootlegging last September and fined $300, a local taxi operator appeared before council and asked for return of his chauffeur's licence. It was suspended for six months. Time is almost up, but every day earlier that he could have it is precious, he said.

His wife is an invalid, he has to pay a driver, and keep a son at school.

"I made a mistake. I don't intend to do it any more," he told council.

He was warned, said Chief John Blackstock. Council agreed to uphold the chief's recommendation and the man will have to wait out the six months.

Full-Scale Drilling Due for Saturna Oil

Driver 'Poor' After Pile-Up On Government

Two Others Hurt In Grinding Crash

Henry Porter, 32, of 3916 Wilkinson, was reported unchanged at St. Joseph's Hospital today after being admitted in poor condition from a two-car smash at Government and Fisgard Thursday night.

He was one of three given emergency treatment. The others are:

Lily Rose Finbow, 20, of 3371 Oak, admitted with shock and face lacerations and now in good condition; and,

Kenneth Thompsett, 20, of 3119 Alder, treated for shock and head cuts, also in good condition today.

Police said Porter was driver of a car going north on Government and attempting a left turn to go west on Fisgard.

Thompsett, driver of the car in which Miss Finbow was a passenger, was going south on Government. Impact stopped this car, but the Porter car continued into a lamp standard on the west side of Government.

The accident was reported to police at 11.45.

Police cars were assisted by the navy shore patrol in taking the injured to hospital.

Porter, father of four children aged six months to six years, is a foreman for Lloyd Newton, 991 Tulip, lath contractor, who was just getting out of his parked car on Fisgard when he heard the crash.

Bigger Rigs Going To Island Project

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

First major drilling prospect ever conducted in the Vancouver Island area is about to enter its second stage.

Boyles Bros. Drilling Co. Ltd., working for Charter Oil Co. Ltd., of Vancouver, sank an exploratory hole on Saturna Island to the depth of 2,206 feet, then took down its light rig and moved out.

The drilling site, at the head of Lyall Harbor, now is being gravelled by a fleet of trucks preparatory to bringing in a full-scale drilling rig from Alberta.

It will be operated directly by Charter Oil, which is working with Imperial Oil Co. Ltd., Canadian Collieries, Pacific Petroleums, and Standard Oil of California on the prospect.

Three Shifts

Boyles Bros. moved to the site in October, and by Oct. 30 had started drilling. They worked three shifts per day, seven days each week, with a total crew of 16 until winding up their part of the operation a few days ago.

First recorded drilling in this area was between 1910 and 1913, when a hole was sunk in the vicinity of Point No Point, beyond Sooke, to a depth of 1,560 feet. It produced just as much as the second prospect, drilled in 1920 to a depth of 2,000 feet on Whiffin Spit, which was nothing.

'Tight Hole'

The Saturna Island venture is the third, and the first with modern equipment and techniques.

The company is operating the project as a "tight hole," or one about which absolutely nothing is said except the depth reached.

Oddly enough, the novel activity has caused hardly a ripple in the quiet life of the island. Clarence Matthews, Charter Oil engineer, and Ralph Smith, Boyles Bros. foreman, have made a point of using local help and materials at all time, and a bit of mild prosperity ensued, but nothing to cause any speculation of any kind.

Buy Locally

Drillers buy all their provisions at the local store, and their gas and oil from the Imperial agent on the island. The post office noted a bit of increased revenue, but otherwise no one is excited.

Children at Saturna Island Elementary School play on their slides and swings with hardly a glance at the activity on the drill site just a stone's throw away. Very rarely does a resident saunter along to the prospect out of curiosity, and even people who might stand to gain by the finding of oil are calm about the whole thing.

Ownership of under-surface rights can be complicated but the following condition applies on most properties:

If land was Crown-granted prior to 1891, then the owner holds both surface and undersurface rights. This type of land is known as freehold, and generally the undersurface rights stay with the surface rights unless specifically charged out for some reason.

There is a good deal of this freehold land in the Gulf Islands, and it does not matter how many times the property has been sold since its granting prior to 1891—the rights go to the new owner.

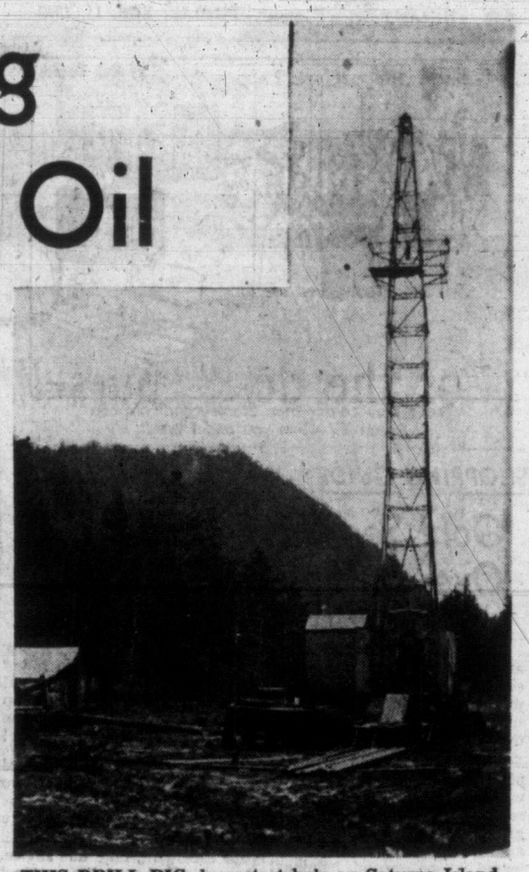
Crown-Owned

In grants made since 1891, the subsurface rights belong to the Crown.

Therefore if oil was found, and if the area was developed, and if owners of land could make satisfactory deals with oil companies, then some people might stand to make money. It so happened that at one time Royalite Oil Co. held leases on 20,000 acres of Saturna Island land, but it is not known now how many of these are active.

Saturna is a charming island, with a population of about 70 persons in winter and 300 to 400 in the summer. It could almost be called an outpost of the Gulf Islands, since it lies on Georgia Strait in the very tip of a little tongue of Canada that extends into American waters.

Drilling and prospective oil prosperity notwithstanding, the residents show every intention of leaving progress and rush to the other fellow, and retaining the jog-trot charm of Saturna for themselves.



THIS DRILL RIG drove test hole on Saturna Island to depth of 2,206 feet. Dismantled this week, it will be replaced by big Alberta derrick almost double size of prospecting unit. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1958 17

MONTE ROBERTS

This department appears to be irrevocably involved with squirrels, also chipmunks.

Several of the constituents have taken up the pastime of squirrel watching, and faithfully report their findings.

Last Sunday Capt. and Mrs. A. J. Barr went squirrel watching in the Thetis Lake area. They walked clear around the lake, and succeeded in watching one squirrel.

This was a red squirrel, they tell me, and Capt. Barr got a good look at it through his field glasses.

It was sitting on the end of a log, minding its own business, and not saying a word.

Mrs. Barr says it must have been a squirrel, not a chipmunk, because chipmunks are forever saying something.

An anonymous correspondent reports as follows:

"I have personally chased chipmunks through the tree tops in the Triangle Mountain area of Colwood, and taken pictures of them sassing me from a tree trunk 10 feet away at Camp Bernard in Sooke."

(You see the type of constituents I have? They go chasing chipmunks through tree tops.)

I have also been told there are lots of chipmunks around the lower part of the Island, but no squirrels.

This is a little hard to understand, as chipmunks ARE squirrels—ground squirrels, the dictionary says. But the chipmunks I remember from eastern Canada always seemed to be up a tree.

As if this isn't confusing enough, the dictionary tells me the preferred spelling of chipmunk is chipmuck, and it is also called chipminck, chipmonk and chipmuk.

It is actually a chipping squirrel, although I am not sure what it chips, and where the chips fall when they are chipped.

Why do I start things like this, anyway?

While we're on the subject of four-footed friends, I've been sent a copy of the publication issued by the Cat's Protection League of England.

In it is an item which caught my eye; it reports that the oldest cat in England finally had to be put to sleep—at the amazing age of 34 years.

Helen Kerswell of the local CPL tells me the normal life span is from 12 to 14 years. She believes there are several fairly old cats in Victoria, 15 years or perhaps more, but never heard of one here older than 20.

Is there a feline fancier in the audience who would care to make a nomination for the oldest cat on Vancouver Island?

(There I go, starting something again. Will I never learn?)

Man Buys 91c For $115; Show Tonight

It is news when a man pays $115 for 91 cents.

This happened at Lunds auction rooms Thursday when collector J. R. Pipes bid $115 for the first set of coins issued by the Royal Mint in Ottawa in 1908.

The set comprises five coins—a 50, 25, 10, five and one-cent piece—with an original value of 91 cents. They have never been used as currency but are slightly tarnished from handling by collectors.

Mr. Pipes, a charter member of Victoria Numismatic Society, said prior to 1908 Canadian coins were minted at the Royal Mint in London, England.

"These were the first coins made when the Canadian mint was set up. One complete set of five coins was presented to each of the then nine lieutenant-governors in Canada.

"The set I have originally belonged to Thomas William Paterson, lieutenant - governor of British Columbia from 1909 to 1914."

TRAFFIC FINES

Frank Molnar, 219 Quebec, $25 for driving alone with a learner's licence, and $25 for driving without proper insurance.

Walter W. Shumanski, HMCS Naden, $10 for going through a stop sign.

Monte R. Preston, 3409 Shelbourne, $35 for careless driving.

D. A. Wheeler, 512 Simcoe, $35 for careless driving.

Full Staffs Promised Institutions

A provincial government spokesman confirmed today that the B.C. mental health service has been authorized to hire "a full complement" of medical and nursing staff in any area of the service.

Authorization has been given to Dr. A. M. Gee, director of the B.C. Mental Health Service in Vancouver, the official said.

This order did not mean the government was "back-tracking" on an earlier economy measure, he said.

"There is no question of economy where skilled help is concerned," the spokesman said. "The kind of nurses and doctors needed for this work are always difficult to find. They cannot be picked up on the street."

Disaster Plan Revision Slated

A complete revision of local disaster planning in view of more devastating nuclear weapons was approved today by Victoria civil defence planning committee.

Target director, Commodore V. S. Godfrey said immediate steps will be taken to prepare a new overall plan.

Woman Driver Convicted After Pedestrian Death

Mrs. Herta Bishop, 1243 Rudlin, was found guilty in city police court today of careless driving following the death Dec. 2 of pensioner Charles L. Sheats, 65, of 1140 Queens.

She was remanded by Magistrate H. C. Hall to Tuesday for sentence.

"You should have seen that pedestrian," said the magistrate.

Accused admitted she had struck Sheats in a crosswalk at Pandora and Vancouver Street as he was walking from south to north on the west crosswalk at the intersection.

"I suddenly saw this figure, and immediately applied my brakes," she said.

She was travelling west on Pandora at the time.

Tire burns ran 17 feet, court was told.

The fatality took place shortly after 5 p.m., at the height of rush-hour traffic.

Dairymen To Stick With Board

Vancouver Island dairymen have decided not to withdraw from jurisdiction of the B.C. Milk Board.

This was disclosed today by Dairymen's Association president, Cecil Bulman of Nanaimo, following a meeting with the provincial cabinet.

Mr. Bulman said the association executive will meet again Monday with Agriculture Minister Stacey and the Milk Board.

He said he believes a satisfactory solution will soon be reached to the problem created by the recent action of the board in eliminating the milk producer price differential paid to Island dairymen.

SELLING AGENCY

It was indicated the solution might be the creation of a single selling agency by the dairymen. The price differential might be restored until agency is established.

Mr. Bulman said the association has withdrawn its earlier demand for replacement of the three members of the Milk Board.

The association president said the dairymen had a satisfactory meeting with the cabinet today, and were appreciative of the two hearings granted this week by Premier Bennett.

The discussions with the cabinet followed an angry demonstration by some 300 Island farmers who stormed the legislative buildings Monday.

Faster Cars Considered For Police

Victoria police chief John Blackstock today said "souped-up" police cars are "under consideration" here, but he doubted any allocation would be made for their purchase in the 1958 budget.

The interview was conducted following magazine reports that Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Vancouver both were using "tailor-made" interceptor cars, capable of catching speeders in high-powered sports cars or hot-rods.

Cowichan returns March 2.

Fortune, James Bay, Miramichi return March 6.

ON SOUTHERN SOJOURN

Flying Phil Hits CCF 'Downdraft'

Expenses charged by Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi while on a special inaugural flight to South America in 1956 were questioned today in the legislative public accounts committee.

Mr. Gaglardi said he made the trip at the invitation of Canadian Pacific Airlines.

CCF members on the committee asked why he had charged $15 a day expenses to the government while on the trip.

"It sounds to me like a holiday," said Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook).

CCF Leader Robert Strachan discovered the trip reference while scrutinizing highways department travel vouchers.

SIGNED

The voucher said: "Vancouver-Kamloops-Trail-South America. 18 days at $15—$270."

The inaugural flight took place May 14-26. The voucher was signed by the minister.

The minister first said no expense was involved in the trip.

"I don't know why the secretary put that down," he said.

Mr. Gaglardi said later, however, that guests on the trip paid for their own meals and other expenses. He would be entitled as a representative of the government to charge expenses, he said.

ON DUTY

"In other words, Phil, you were on duty," said Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy.

Mr. Gaglardi said he had talked with government officials in Mexico, Peru, Argentine and Chile about trade and said there had been some "follow-ups" which had gone to the provincial department of trade and industry.

The opposition members also questioned the frequency of the highways minister's trips to Kamloops.

Mr. Gaglardi said Kamloops is a regional office and the most central place in the province as far as highways are concerned.

"If you weren't living there, maybe it wouldn't be the centre, eh?" grinned Mr. Nimsick.

"That could be," Mr. Gaglardi replied.

Health Minister Martin defended Mr. Gaglardi: "He's got nothing to hide."

"How do you know," Mr. Nimsick interjected. "You've got no right to say that."

4-Month Delay In Finishing Customs Block

Delays in getting final specifications for the new Victoria customs and immigration building may stall its completion for another four months, it was learned today.

"We have been waiting since last May for the (federal) government to give okays on various parts," contractor William Hamilton of Luney Brothers and Hamilton, said today.

The renovation and partial new construction to the old Victoria post office building at Humboldt and Government has been underway almost two years. The project is estimated to cost over $1,000,000.

NEARLY FINISHED

Mr. Hamilton said the front portion of the building, entirely rebuilt, is almost completed. Crews are now carrying out renovations to the rear of the premises, which houses the customs offices at present.

Mr. Hamilton said there is no doubt the project will be completed in time for an official opening during the height of centennial celebrations this summer. No target date has been set yet however.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Langford volunteer firemen confined an attic fire to wall damage at the home of H. Mitchell, 831 Hockley, Thursday afternoon.

The blaze started when wood next to a chimney caught fire from overheated bricks next to a utility room. Estimated damage was $100.

Love Walked Out

In the spirit of Valentine's Day, I asked my friend Sam, the Chinese shoe-shine man, what he thought of the mail-order bride squabble which has upset Vancouver's Chinatown.

Keate

"Oh, velly bad, velly bad," said Sam, sadly. "Gull no good."

I asked him what had happened.

"Velly nice boy want wife," he explained. "He work hard chop suey house, save up money, send out maybe one, two thousand dolla. Lotta money, boy twenty-two year old."

Then he had never seen the girl?

"No," said Sam, "all-time done by letta. He lite letta—fo', fi', six years, Hong Kong.

"She lite boy 'I likee you,' 'I love you,' I come Van'-clouva on—what you say?—steam-shlip.

"Velly nice boy, velly hon'-able, send out mebbe one, two thousand dolla, get nice wife.

"She come Van'clouva, see boy. She make plomise, she blake plomise. Gull no good. No dam' good."

But couldn't the boy have married a Vancouver girl? Why did he have to send to Hong Kong for a bride?

Sam stopped shining and shrugged.

"I dunno," he confessed. "But Chinese people velly angly. Gull blake contlact. She say 'I mally you, I likee you, I love you.' Then she come, meet Van'clouva boy, say she no want mally him."

I told Sam the newspapers said the girl was afraid in Vancouver, and had left for San Francisco.

"Yes," he said, frowning anxiously. "Now she say she mally other man, go back Hong Kong. Takee money, takee steam-shlip, lite letta 'I likee you, I love you, I mally you,' come to Van-'clouva, no likee boy, hide in hotel, Chinese people kick gull out.

Ooh! See the Selection Over in the Food Freezer!

By PENNY SAVER

I popped my head into a frozen food locker this morning and saw all sorts of frozen vegetables and fruits. I even found complete meals. Looks as if the working mother has her meal problem all solved. Why? Because these cartons are made up in such a way that all the housewife has to do is turn on the oven and pop the foil-wrapped packages in for 15 or 20 minutes!

One of these meals is a turkey pie. It's a large square filled with big pieces of turkey surrounded with vegetables and gravy. It serves two people and a bit, because there are bound to be second helpings! Directions for preparation are simple. You just place the pie in the oven for 15 to 20 minutes, and dinner is ready! The price is 43 cents.

Doesn't this sound like a tasty treat? It's fillet of sole with lemon butter. There's enough sole in the silver and blue foil packages to feed four of five healthy appetites! Then, of course, the lemon butter adds a new and interesting note to the meal and makes it worth; it's 75-cent price tag!

Every homemaker likes to economize and she can this weekend when it comes to purchasing frozen vegetables. Yes! Peas and carrots either mixed separate, are selling at two packages for 35 cents.

If you're one of those lucky housewives with a freezer in your basement, take this advice. Keep it full at all times. That way, meal planning and shopping headaches will decrease and your budget will increase! You'll also be prepared for unexpected guests at mealtime. You can be, you know, if you've lots of frozen foods on hand.

★ ★ ★

Do you know that even fancy dessert planning has become a three-minute job, too? Sounds unbelievable but it's true! The dessert is pie, and in the selection there is apple, blueberry and cherry. Two of these delicious pastries are in each package, selling at 49 cents.

FORMER VICTORIA WOMAN WINS SAN DIEGO CONTEST

Former Victorian Mrs. Richard H. Whidden has won a sewing contest in San Diego, sponsored by the Federation of Junior Women's Clubs. Mother of two children, Mrs. Whidden is the former Gwen Pready of this city. She believes that fit is more important than style or fabric in dress. Her winning costume is a three-piece ensemble cut in the new chemise lines. "I like the chemise. The only thing against it, really, is the men," she said. She made the ensemble in three days, "at night after the children were in bed." Sewing time totalled about 12 hours.

"WIDOWHOOD"

The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the third in a series of articles frankly written about widowhood as a service to the four out of five women in this community who will outlive their husbands.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
CHAPTER III

The first decision a widow makes with the fervent hope they are as her husband would have wanted them, are the funeral arrangements.

Wilson

Often, and without being morbid, older people who have outlived many of their contemporaries discuss last rites preferences. Younger couples, full of plans for living, seldom make any for death with the exception of buying insurance.

The task of the older widow is therefore easier. Chances are that the couple has already picked a burial plot and a funeral director. To such a widow setting the wheels in motion is so perfunctory that a friend can do it, giving her more time to compose herself.

MUST SEARCH MEMORY

If all couples were as farsighted it would help, for the widow without any real plans must search her memory for any casual remark made in her husband's lifetime which could guide her.

About a friend's funeral: "I can't see wasting all that money with a family left behind. Don't you ever be that foolish!" About being buried in the family plot up north: "I dread the idea of snow over my grave." About cremation: "I just don't like the idea."

In some cases permission to perform an autopsy is a request made by physicians and hospitals before the body is removed to the funeral home.

A CONTRIBUTION

Fearing that post-mortem surgery would harm the appearance of her husband's body, some women hesitate. They should not. Autopsies cannot be detected. And the medical knowledge gained through this continuous research program is a contribution to the living that the dead can make.

Within hours, after death a funeral director must be named to handle the body and arrangements. Although directors try to educate the public about their services through advertising, the confused widow must sometimes rely upon the judgment of a respected friend or business associate in choosing one.

Prices for funeral services range from several hundred dollars to more than a thousand, depending upon the elegance of the casket.

GIVES MANY SERVICES

But with most reliable funeral homes the services offered are just as comprehensive with the less expensive caskets as with the elaborate ones. Price of burial lot, mausoleum, or cremation is additional.

The funeral director collects biographical data and supplies it to the newspapers for obituary notices. He will notify out-of-town relatives, if necessary.

He provides limousine service to transport the mourning family to and from the funeral home and to the graveside, plus a casket-bearing car, attendants and escorts.

The widow chooses her husband's wardrobe for the last time. A few hours later she is called upon to view him so that his friends will see him as natural-looking as life.

SERVICES

A part of funeral services is a parlor where staff members bank the flowers as they arrive. There is a register on hand for friends to sign if they wish.

The funeral director's staff turns the register along with a complete list of flowers received to the widow so that she may properly acknowledge these expressions of sympathy.

She may request that the flowers later be delivered to hospitals, homes for the aged, or children's homes, however she feels her husband would want it.

In recent years the practice of omitting flowers has grown. Instead families request that a donation be sent to the late friend's favorite charity, or a medical research organization.

Sometimes the widow is guided by her husband's expressed wishes on the matter, but much of the time the choice is hers.

Actually these promised contributions to charities are often forgotten after the moment of shock has passed and are therefore embarrassingly meagre, a local funeral director pointed out. I for one prefer to make up the loss of these small amounts of money to these groups with service in future years.

"Flowers are for the living. Not the dead," is true.

It was a great solace to me to see my husband for the last time caressed by the symbols of love, the warmth and beauty of flowers. What else but flowers which spring again from their seed speaks the sermon of everlasting life so well?

TOMORROW—Mourning.

Shrove Tuesday: Peach Pancakes

Invite a few friends over for cards or conversation on Shrove Tuesday and treat them to Sunset Peach Pancakes. These dollar-sized pancakes with peaches and whipped cream are quick to make friends.

Let the refreshments be the make-your-own type. It's easier on the hostess and it assures the guests of getting just the amount they want. Set up the electric griddle and let each guest make his own tiny pancakes. While the griddle heats, shake the pancake batter in a shaker or quart jar. This new shaker method saves on dishes and makes it so easy to pour the batter from the container to the griddle. Then, too, your favorite pancake mix saves time and promises light and tender pancakes every time.

Sliced frozen peaches make a wonderful topping and later on you will want to use the tree-ripened variety. A dollop of whipped cream sweetened with maple-blended syrup makes this a dessert to dazzle your friends. It goes without saying that cups of fragrant tea or coffee are all you will need to complete the dessert menu.

Try these delicious sunset peach pancakes

SUNSET PEACH PANCAKES

Pancakes: One cup milk, 1 egg, 1 cup pancake mix, 1 tablespoon melted butter. Topping: One cup whipping cream, ½ cup maple-blended syrup, 1 10-oz. package frozen peaches, drained.

For the pancakes, place milk, egg, pancake mix and melted butter in shaker glass jar. Shake vigorously 10 to 15 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Pour about 1 tablespoon batter for each pancake onto a hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

For the topping, whip the cream; lightly stir in maple-blended syrup.

To serve, overlap 5 or 6 small pancakes on each plate. Place peaches and whipped cream mixture on each serving.

Makes 6 servings.

On Etiquette

Hats at Memorial Service:

An officer of our company died the other day. The executives have arranged for a memorial service for him to be held next week in our office building. Everyone from the president down will be going to it. Should we women employees wear our hats for the ceremony?

Louise Davis Answers:

There is no reason for wearing hats at the memorial service. If you were leaving the building to attend the service some place else, then you would naturally wear them, but it would look too obvious and forced for you to leave your desks, don hats and go to the service in the same building. You will not be on consecrated ground, such as a church, where, with some denominations, hats would be required. Your solemnity and dignity are enough so that hats would be irrelevant and almost foolishly conspicuous. If any of the officers' wives and the widow of the bereaved should be coming from home to the service, there would be no special reason for them to remove their hats.

Louise Davis

A Thank You Is Never Remiss:

When a servant passes food at a dinner party, should guests say "Thank you" or "No, thank you"?

Louise Davis Answers:

Yes, but the words should be said unobtrusively without disturbing the conversation even for an instant. They can be said inaudibly, for they are only for the one passing the food. A guest can take it for granted that the servant can read the lips, but it is always thoughtful to indicate the "Thank you" in some way, whether it is yes or no. A smile is sometimes a good substitute, for it can be "translated."

Guides, Brownies Need Leaders

East District Commissioner Mrs. E. Kennedy presided at annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the district's guides and brownies. Gonzales Division Commissioner, Mrs. Mary MacDougall was a guest.

Increase in membership and great need for leaders was shown in reports. Three new Brownie Packs were started last fall.

Guides made 265 visits to the Aged Women's Home in the year; canned foods and volunteer help was given the free food stall for the needy; a party was given for children of the Protestant Orphanage; letters were written to patients in the Solarium and a knitted blanket made for an elderly woman.

Five hampers were packed at the holiday season and a party given for retarded children.

A sum of $61.35 was collected by Guides for the Save the Children Fund and a donation of $20 given for the TB Clinic in Korea.

The group realized $468.66 at a fall fair.

The secretary, Mrs. May Jones reported 222 badges earned by Guides in the year and 163 by the Brownies.

A report was given by Mrs. Eve Robinson on the new hall being built by the Oak Bay Kiwanians for the use of Guides and Brownies.

YOUR SCHOOLS

PRESENT SCHOOL BOARD SALARY POLICY MAY HURT YOUR CHILD'S EDUCATION.

1. In the years when Victoria teachers' salaries were among the highest in the province, a high percentage of outstanding teachers was attracted to and held in Victoria.
2. During those same years, able and ambitious Victoria students achieved some of the highest scholastic honors in the province.
3. We believe that the Board's chief responsibility is to the children, the parents and the community in ensuring an adequate supply of well-trained, competent teachers.
4. There are not enough fully trained teachers to staff B.C. schools today. This situation is growing worse. Victoria must maintain a competitive salary scale if it is to attract a reasonable share of available teachers.
5. The scale arbitrarily "fixed" by the present board would leave the Victoria teachers among the poorest paid in the province.
6. This could only have a disastrous effect on the educational standards of the community.

Quality salaries attract quality teachers. We are sure that Victoria citizens will support this view.

Royal Bride Chapter Under Way With Fresh Project, New Officers

With newly-elected regent, Mrs. Lance Muirhead, in the chair, members of Royal Bride Chapter, IODE, wasted no time in making plans Thursday evening for their first money-raising project of the year.

Decision to sponsor a fashion show at the Empress Hotel in March was made at the chapter's annual meeting held in the James Bay Hotel, following reading of reports for the past year and installation of officers.

Secretary's report, read by Mrs. F. Gray, reviewed outstanding projects of the year which included a coffee party, Halloween dance, home cooking sale, raffle and sale of holly.

Mrs. D. Kerley, treasurer, announced that disbursements for the year totalled $1,656.96 and receipts were $1,478.50.

Two $100 scholarships were presented to students of Belmont High School, the chapter's adopted school, reported educational secretary, Mrs. G. Sullivan.

Book prizes were awarded to other outstanding students at the school and a series of silk screen prints was presented for use in art classes. The chapter's second adopted school at Atlin received a library valuing $15. Donations were made to the Golden Jubilee Scholarship Fund, the Provincial Centennial Bursary Fund and the Municipal Secondary Education Fund.

In the services at home and abroad report, Mrs. G. Langdon reported that the sum of $117.50 was spent on hall and stair carpeting at Sevenoaks home for emotionally disturbed children.

COMPLETE HOME BUILDERS' SUPPLIES

GOOD LUCK
Good luck, so they say, is a lazy man's explanation of a worker's success. Looking around these days we find a lot of "lucky people"—at least some people call them lucky. You probably know the type — making money building houses — remodelling old places and selling them at a nice profit, turning over property or a subdivision for a nice thing. Yes, in spite of all the gloomy talk and pessimistic predictions the lucky guys are making money, and you know something: they'll make more because the opportunity is here. Drive around and see the new buildings in progress—more employment and activity than for many a month. Why don't you be a lucky guy and share in the opportunities available with available loans and low-cost building material.

LUMBER PRICES LOWEST
For many a day and remember that building materials total only 40% of the building costs. Naturally if the building boom continues prices will firm this spring—so take advantage of present low lumber prices.

	per 1,000-ft lots
1x6 Dressed boards economy	$25.00
1x8 Dress boards economy	$27.00
1x8 Tongue and groove economy	$27.00
1x6 Economy shiplap	$32.00
1x6 Premium shiplap	$40.00
1x8 Premium shiplap	$45.00
1x8 Mill run shiplap	$58.00
2x4 Dressed economy	$29.00

A complete stock of all No. 2 and better grades boards, shiplap, joists, etc. Delivery to all Island points.

HERE'S A REAL BUY
1x8 Economy grade shiplap—better than usual quality — suitable for house sheathing on floors, walls and roof, minimum waste — a special Stewart & Hudson buy enables us to offer this in 1,000-ft lots at $35.00. Special prices on house-order lots.

USE YOUR CREDIT
A 30-DAY CHARGE ACCOUNT COSTS NO MORE
LONGER-TERM FINANCING AVAILABLE AT LOW RATES
Take advantage of our generous terms for building and modernizing while men and materials are available.

LOG CABIN SIDING RAILS
Suitable for fencing, outbuildings, siding, garages, etc. Cheaper than lumber, easy to handle, attractive in appearance.
ft long, each 13c
Quantities of 100 .... 12c
Special on a few of last season's stock slightly weathered outside but OK inside. Load lots only (approx. 150 pieces) each 10c

FENCING
Is the only way you can be sure of privacy and safety for your yard, and garden. Stewart & Hudson specializes in fences—picket-type in square-cut, pointed and round-top; tight board fences; and the new attractive basket weave style. Complete picket fences available at 50 ft. only $15.95. Remember too fences of $50 or over can be purchased $10 monthly.

SEE HOW EASY
It is to make your own coffee table for the family or a present for mom or daughter. Sample on display.
1 panel mahogany plywood, 24x48x¾ $3.50
Set of 4 hardwood matched legs with angle brackets, 14¼" high $4.50
Woodtape edging to finish $1.30
.... $9.30
You're not restricted—there's lots of other lengths in table legs.

GOING LIKE HOTCAKES
The new Flamenco lino floor tiles—the gayest colors in town—with lots of combination and patterns to harmonize in any room—why not be among the first to have this new pattern in kitchen, bathroom — hall or bedroom. They are so easy to lay —all accessories available. Bring us your floor size for free estimate. You would expect to pay premium prices for these extra-quality tiles but because of Stewart & Hudson carload buying arrangements you have these top grade 9"x9" tiles for only 13c each.

FIXING UP THINGS
around the house but don't know quite what extent you will go or what the cost may finalize? Then you need a revolving credit account. If you can pay $10.00 a month
You can buy up to $60.00
$15.00 per month buys $90.00
$20.00 per month buys $120.00
and so on. Drop in soon and make your arrangements.

Opening lead—♠ 5

West opened the five of spades and the late Dick Richards of Detroit, one of the greatest players of that day had no trouble playing the 10. He saw that his side's only chance for a trick was his king of clubs and was afraid that the play of the king would give declarer three spade tricks and his contract.

The late Ely Culbertson, one of the greatest players of all time, won with the jack. (A false card of the queen would have been slightly inferior.)

He ran out all the trumps discarding the three of clubs from his own hand. West's first discard was the nine of spades which told Dick Richards that West did not hold the queen. He would have discarded that card if he held it.

Then Ely ran out the four hearts and let a club go from dummy. Dick was forced to unguard his club king to retain protection for the spade king.

Now Ely cashed the ace of spades, led a club, went up with dummy's ace and made his grand slam on a squeeze.

Actually a simple play for the master. He was sure West would not lead from a king against a grand slam. Hence, Dick was saving his king of spades and surely would not have done so unless he also held the king of clubs.

T.V. with Lee

Cougars at Seattle, 8.30 on 13; Person to Person, 9.30 on 7

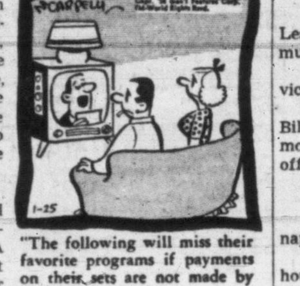
By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

OF THIS AND THAT—Although the Canadian TV season hasn't been anything to rave over owing to a pitiable lack of derring-do and pioneering by those in control, it becomes more and more apparent that our artists at last are beginning to get the "feel" of the new medium.

Two shows we rarely fail to watch, not as a critic but because we genuinely enjoy them, are Monday night's "On Camera (8.30) and Tuesday evening's "GM Theatre" (9).

Just as an advanced student will experience his days of fumbleitis and outright error, so "On Camera" and "GM Theatre" have their off-days. But more and more, as producer, director, actor, cameraman and soundman gain confidence in themselves, the plays become more solid and, therefore, more entertaining, the unsure air of the amateur giving way to the articulate air of the professional.

TV TEE-HEES



"The following will miss their favorite programs if payments on their sets are not made by Monday!"

★ ★ ★

A case in point would be last Tuesday's "Return From Darkness." A year ago this play about a wife and her lover preparing to slay the woman's husband, believed dead, would probably have dissolved helplessly early in the second act in the actors' knowledge that the ending was weak, that it was bound to bog down under its own improbability. But principal actors Katherine Blake, Austin Willis, Cec Linder and Kay Hawtrey displayed such belief in their roles that it wasn't until the dying moments of Lester Powell's play that the audience began to ponder about the whys and the wherefors. As it was, they almost carried it off.

Because of these GM Theatre plays, Tuesday night has become quite a favorite around our house.

★ ★ ★

Shooting has begun in Toronto's High Park and Rosedale areas for the all-Canadian play, "Now That April's Here"; John Drainie and Katherine Blake will star. It will take four weeks to film.

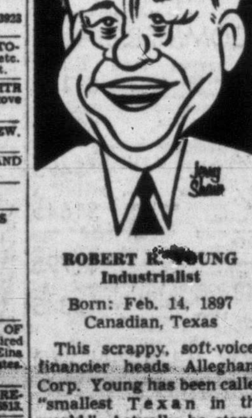
Today's CELE-BIRTHDAY



ROBERT R. YOUNG
Industrialist

Born: Feb. 14, 1897
Canadian, Texas

This scrappy, soft-voiced financier heads Alleghany Corp. Young has been called "smallest Texan in the world." Actually he stands five feet six, 135 pounds. As a boy, R.R. was nicknamed "Railroad." He grew up to be board chairman of the giant New York Central rail system. Young made his first million on Wall Street in the 1929 market crash, parlayed it into a fortune.

1006 NEWPORT

THERE IS DIGNITY AND AN ATMOSPHERE OF FINE QUALITY AND SOLID WORKMANSHIP IN MANY OF VICTORIA'S SO-CALLED "OLDER" HOMES.

They were built for good family living, the rooms are large and high—the beamed ceilings and oak-panelled fireplaces are too costly for today's "built-to-a-price" homes. With a considerable floor area on two floors, they are economical to heat and taxes are proportionately lower.
We present for your viewing such a home with a beautiful living room, dining room 16x13, den, TV or reception room, all fine hardwood floors, 4 bedrooms, 3 being twin-sized with double closets and 4-piece Pembroke bath. A large full basement with extra plumbing and Oil-O-Matic hot-water heating, and a greenhouse. A very fine home indeed for only $17,500
With some terms.
For appointment to view, please telephone Stuart Simpson, 5-7369.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Take care that you conduct yourself in such a way that outsiders as well as intimates like and admire you. Great time to put appearance in finest form, also to be helpful to others you like.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Here is the right time to take that little trip out of town for a bit of nonsense and gaiety. Bring a really vital friend with you and learn a great deal, too. P.M. study when you return home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—With an eye on your income and salaries, go out today and price the lovely things you would like to buy, the musical apparatus, furniture or statuary. If within your means, invest. Tonight, be loving.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Make a beeline for the individual who means the most to you and show your affection, regard. Don't stammer, but come right out with what is on your mind. Hence you clear the air and cement relations for life.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Put in those little gadgets, touches of art, etc., that will make your surroundings more attractive, efficient. Also, get the good will of fellow workers. It may mean some effort, but a pleasant manner will accomplish much.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—A day for dressing in the nicest fashion, great taste, bringing out best points, magnetism. Then meet those fascinating persons who can help you, and in p.m. get together with dearest friends for favorite sports, amusements.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Here is the free day you have wanted to devote to beautifying your home and surroundings. Wield the paintbrush, cleanse drapes, venetian blinds, etc. Then in p.m. have a group of artists or friends in for dinner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—A great many little outside tasks should be taken care of early today and with alacrity. Later, you can step out with friends and enjoy amusements that most uplift and entertain. Be gay.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Your real estate has been permitted to get rundown. Attend to getting repairs made at minimum expense and maximum of beauty and value. Look to your credit, set up a more flexible budget with a bigger savings account.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Your dynamism is at its peak today, so that it would behoove you to go after what you desire. Praise the fine qualities of others. P.M. excellent for being with longtime friends, meeting fine new ones.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Here is a wonderful day for taking inventory of your assets that will give a clear picture of your progress. Also, impress others with your indefatigability, wonderful qualities, and they back you. Give yourself credit for once.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—A good-looking pal is now in the mood to accord you the prestige, help you need and work along with you in some co-operate effort towards assured success. Make other fine agreements, too, in conjunction with this.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY

The delightful child born Saturday is the type who knows exactly what will make others like and respect him or her, but also is cognizant of the needs of others and does something to be of help. Only when this youngster knows the value of a dollar, however, will the personality be ideal. Give a formal education, teaching the religious tenets to counteract a tendency towards cold-bloodedness.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—There may be a series of arguments today with intimates if you pick them up on the slightest provocation, and vice versa. Indicate quickly your spirit of co-operation and then all will be harmonious.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Take care you do not hurt unnecessarily someone who means much to you but is in need of rest instead of enforced activity. Do own work and have patience, then all is secure, and the future will be better.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—While you would prefer to go off with irresponsible, gay persons today, it is far better to attend your church, or study those things that elevate the soul, bring about greater success. Live right and live.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—A most wide-from-the-mark intuition occurs to you which makes you feel is just what you have waited for. Ponder and reflect seriously, for it may be but the father of your desires. Discard it, and use commonsense.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—A clever associate today reacts in such a peculiar fashion that it has you nonplussed for a while. But remember that this is one of those days when all sorts of strangeness prevail. Keep perfect equilibrium yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—While mentally you are very eager to get a great deal of work done, the aspects indicate that rest is wisdom. Think and plan more methods of operation instead. Force will only cause accidents.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Although entertainment at any cost is your goal today, if you persist in following this whim, you will pay dearly, especially since it leads you into the path of rather worthless persons. Devote time to true mate instead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—If you give those about you any heed today, you will feel very frustrated and annoyed. Give only half an ear to their complaints as you labor diligently. Once they have aired their grievances, all is well again.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Particular care must be taken today not to get into any unfortunate accident en route to work or pleasure, walking or driving. Guard your words, too. Show appreciation instead, and confer with kind advisor.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—This day calls for wisdom and tenacity of purpose, since you must decide between carrying through with old-fashioned standards learned at parents' knee, or go modern, as the saying goes. Stick to old, put on veneer of new.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Here is one of those days when those in your immediate orbit all seem bound to effect great changes in you and your mode of living, which would be unfortunate if you capitulated. Study deeper into the truths instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You have real cause for feeling so angry you could pick up heavy objects and heave them, or give off a volley of terrible language. Don't! Your poise today will throw the other person instead. Learn a very great lesson.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY

The rascally little type of young individual born Sunday is the tyke who early thinks that by being an instigator, then standing by judicially, he can make a great hit in the world. Put your youngster early in the hands of some fine religious leader, give a very good education, and the potentially great mind-power will then be released in the right directions, and you have a leader, a real success.

18 ESCAPE PLANE CRASH

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—A twin-engined Western Airlines transport, making its daily run from this desert resort to San Diego, crash-landed and burned just after takeoff Thursday afternoon. Authorities said 15 passengers and the crew of three ran to safety after the Convair transport slid to a stop. Flames then destroyed the ship. One of the plane's occupants was injured.

Rescue Came Late; Hiker Found Dead

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—A daring rescuer who Thursday inched 300 feet down a jagged, crumbling cliff found a 13-year-old boy dead on an icy ledge.

Donald Burns plunged over a waterfall during a hike with schoolmates. He tumbled 100 feet down in the waterfall, then hurtled another 200 feet down the rough face of 11,485-foot San Gorgonio Mountain.

John Matthews of Alhembra, a member of the Sierra Madre search and rescue unit, reached him 25 hours later.

He signalled that the boy was dead.

Matthews' descent climaxed the efforts of 24 rescuers—sheriff's deputies and air force men—to reach Donald.

His mother, Mrs. Eula Burns, who had stood quietly at the base of the cliff, 400 feet below her son, got the news of Donald's death from San Bernardino's County Sheriff Frank Bland.

"Oh, no! Oh, God! Don't let it be true," she sobbed.

Strike of 300 Affects 40,000

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—A strike by 300 key men threw 8,800 other automotive employees out of work yesterday.

The labor trouble also threatened the jobs of 40,000 more men employed by the British Motor Corporation.

The dispute began Tuesday when the 300 men stopped making axle parts and walked out of a BMC plant here in protest against the employment of one member of a small breakaway union.

Kiernan Barbs Spark Hottest House Flare-Up

Minister Clashes With CCFers; Forced to Withdraw Harsh Words

A stinging attack on the Opposition by Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan produced the hottest fireworks of the session in the Legislature Thursday.

Mr. Kiernan tore into the Opposition on a number of counts, but had his sharpest words for CCFer Randolph Harding.

He described Mr. Harding's comparison of the Wenner-Gren plan with the E&N land grant as "the most cold-blooded, deliberate falsification of facts I have yet witnessed."

Mr. Harding objected angrily and Speaker Hugh Shantz ordered Mr. Kiernan to withdraw the phrase "deliberate falsification."

The minister complied, but kept after the Opposition by accusing it of attempting to "poison the minds of the people" over the Wenner-Gren scheme.

That touched off a general uproar, with CCF Leader Robert Strachan repeatedly calling the minister's remarks "garbage," and the Speaker pounding his gavel for order.

Speaker Threatens Discipline

The Speaker finally restored order by threatening to discipline some of the members.

Mr. Kiernan said Mr. Harding could not produce "one iota" of evidence to back up his charge that the proposed Wenner-Gren development is a giveaway.

"He was deliberately misinforming the public," the minister said.

"There are no secret documents. There is no giveaway, and you know it."

It is not fair to "deliberately misconstrue" the project, Mr. Kiernan said, adding that misinformation about the Wenner-Gren agreement had spread all over the country.

"You're deliberately poisoning the people's minds against a project that can be nothing but good for the people of this province," he said.

Mr. Strachan asked the Speaker if "deliberately poison minds" was acceptable in the House.

"Because if it is, I'll use it plenty," he said.

"That's no change," interjected Attorney-General Bonner. "You've been doing it for years."

"Garbage, that's what that is," Mr. Strachan retorted hotly.

Mr. Kiernan twitted the Opposition for not being able to take criticism.

"Nothing personal was intended," the minister said, "but when I see people not prepared to deal with projects on their merits, I have a right, a responsibility . . ."

"Political garbage," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Kiernan got the Opposition leader angry again when he said the government had made provision for a research assistant for him "partly in self defence" so he would get the facts.

"I expected this," Mr. Strachan commented.

'Gladly Repeat Outside House'

Mr. Harding said the government showed by its actions it is "worried and ashamed."

"You'll be ashamed of what you said," he told Mr. Kiernan.

"I'm never ashamed of anything I say," Mr. Kiernan replied. "Anything I say in this House I'll gladly repeat outside the House."

"That's how low you are," said Arthur Turner (CCF, Vancouver East).

Government members began shouting "withdraw, withdraw" at Mr. Turner and the Speaker broke in.

"If I have to speak again to some members," he said, "I will use my authority under the standing orders."

(The rules permit the Speaker to order a member out of the assembly chamber for wilfully blocking the procedure of the House.)

Mr. Kiernan's free-swinging attack was the strongest delivered by any government member so far, and his barbs were repeatedly applauded by his supporters.

He hit out at Opposition "innuendos" over a number of issues, including the appointment of former chief justice Gordon Sloan as government forests adviser, and the settling of the IWA strike last summer.

The minister defended the government's current economy drive.

"It's the taxpayers' money we're spending," he said, "and we want to get the best possible value for it."

The minister also upheld the government's policy of listing borrowings of the PGE and Power Commission as "contingent liabilities" and not direct debt.

The debt of these self-sustaining agencies should be paid off by the people who use their services as in any other business, he said.

Sunset Shows To Be Subject Of Meeting

Annual sunset and retreat ceremonies by all service branches, will be subject of a special meeting at Bay Street Armories, 8 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 20.

Brig. John S. Adam, Commander 25 Militia Group, said five years of the tri-service programs has provided ". . . a wealth of satisfaction to both the participating units . . . and the public."

He added, "A precedent has been set for the rest of Canada . . . in 'bringing the flag to the people'."

Representatives of 18 military and naval units, and cadet groups, as well as civic officials, are expected to attend the meeting in the officers' mess of 5 Independent Medium Battery, RCA.

The sunset ceremonies, featuring a military band, guard of honor, parade and flag lowering before the Legislative Buildings, has been a major attraction to tourists and residents alike, in recent years.

Blasts Hoped To Eliminate Snowslides

VANCOUVER (CP) — Blasting of heavy snow deposits next week at Ross Point in the Glacier, B.C., area may lead to the elimination of devastating snowslides in the Rockies, a CPR spokesman said Thursday.

The army announced in Calgary Thursday that the blasting operation would be carried out next Tuesday.

The CPR spokesman said a "great deal of scientific study has been given this plan and the results may solve many snow problems for railways and highways in the future."

Proposal to Close Douglas St. Old Hat

There is nothing new in the suggestion of Prof. Fred Lasserre of the University of British Columbia, that downtown Douglas Street be closed to vehicular traffic and become a pedestrian shopping area.

Prof. Lasserre made the suggestion to a Kiwanis Club this week.

The idea was expressed some time ago by Dr. Jackson Faustman, consulting traffic engineer from California, in his 1956 Victoria traffic survey report.

At the time, Roderick Clack, architect, who has since become assistant city magistrate, in charge of planning, strongly supported the scheme.

Mr. Clack who argued in favor of the Faustman proposal at the time felt that such a scheme would do much to solve the parking problem and would make the shopping area more attractive to shoppers.

A SKYFULL OF THESE HUGE "Flying Boxcars" spewed paratroopers into the sky Thursday in operation "Bulldog Four" near Wainwright, Alta. Fat planes carried about 28 men each, plus equipment, can handle more than 70 persons without equipment. Speed is around 150 m.p.h. Drop was made in sub-zero temperatures from 1,200 feet. The U.S.-made Boxcars came in three abreast, dropped troops, and circled again to dump supplies.

MASS AIR DROP 'CLEAN AND PRETTY' SAY EXPERTS

Paratrooper Hangs in Space 15 Min. Before Pulled Back

WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—One of Canada's biggest mass paradrops, staged near here Thursday as a Mobile Striking Force exercise, was described by military observers as "clean and pretty." But it wasn't without some close calls.

One paratrooper hung in space from a Flying Boxcar about 15 minutes when he became entangled in the plane's "static" parachute lines after jumping. He finally was pulled back into the aircraft while it headed to its Edmonton base. He was reported "all right" on arrival there.

The soldier, Private Gordon Parker, 20, of Meadow Lake, Sask., was put in hospital for observation but later was allowed to return to his barracks.

NEARLY HIT BY LOAD

Another soldier who just got out of his 'chute on snow-covered ground was almost struck by a falling 4,000-pound supply platform, which may have drifted off course when one of its three parachutes ripped. A second before it struck the ground he jumped clear by about five feet.

One soldier was taken to hospital with tonsilitis after the jump. He said he felt sick before the jump but was afraid his companions would call him "chicken" if he reported his illness before the jump.

Four supply toboggans fell free 600 feet to the ground when their 'chute failed, but dropped away from the troops.

In all, about 320 officers and men of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, jumped from 15 Flying Boxcars into 400-square-mile Camp Wainwright, 120 miles southeast of Edmonton.

Once on the ground the Patricias immediately prepared for simulated Arctic combat, moving to rallying points marked by red, green and yellow smoke grenades.

Forming into five-man tent groups they prepared to spend the night on the prairie with the temperature at 20 below. Some light patrol action was reported.

At dawn today they advanced quicly against the exercise "enemy"—110 members of the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, now in possession of a supposed radar station where they have set up a missile guidance "Gizmo."

Punishment Carried Too Far, Father Told

A parent's rights and duties include punishment of his children, Magistrate H. C. Hall said in Saanich police court Thursday, but it can be carried too far.

Thomas Edward Drysdale, 1570 Arrow, was given a suspended sentence and placed on $250 bond for six months' good behavior when he was found guilty of assault causing actual harm to his 12½-year-old daughter Linda.

"A parent has the right and duty to chastise the child," the court said. "Under the circumstances I think you went beyond the normal . . ."

During a family disagreement in which Drysdale's two daughters refused to obey him, the accused struck Linda on the ear, resulting in medical treatment for a perforated eardrum, the court was told.

FBI Probes Alleged 'Fix' In TV Deal

WASHINGTON (UP)—Attorney-General William P. Rogers has ordered the FBI to investigate charges that FCC commissioner Richard A. Mack accepted at least $2,650 from an attorney known as a "fixer," whose firm won a lucrative Miami TV channel.

Rogers issued the order immediately after the charges were aired before a House commerce investigating sub-committee by Bernard Schwartz, the group's ousted chief counsel.

Schwartz dropped a double bombshell at the hearing by also disclosing the existence of a wire-recorded interview with Mack which he said would back up the charge. Sen. Wayne Morse, who had the recording, said he sent it to the sub-committee.

All efforts to reach Mack for comment were fruitless. His office said, however, that he would have nothing to say "at this time."

Labor Crews Cut At BCPC Plant

CHEMAINUS — Construction work on the B.C. Power Commission power plant at Bare Point is now being carried on by a reduced labor crew.

Engineers are awaiting arrival of parts for the second power unit, and for the arrival of the final two generating units.

The one unit now in operation is ready to furnish power when needed.

Scout Shoots Sheriff

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Burl E. Justice was accidentally shot just below the heart Thursday by a boy scout. The boy was examining the sheriff's .32-calibre revolver during his troop's visit to the county jail here. The sheriff is in critical condition.

Rail Dispute Talks Under New Referee

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice H. F. Thomson, 72, has taken over one of the hottest spots in Canadian labor relations as chairman of the federal conciliation board dealing with the contract dispute between railways and 140,000 non-operating employees.

Mr. Justice Thomson, of the Saskatchewan Court of Queen's Bench, was announced Thursday as successor to Hon. C. P. McTague of Toronto in the chairmanship of the three-man body.

Mr. McTague originally named by the government as board chairman, withdrew when the unions protested his suitability, on the claim his business connections made him unacceptable.

Mother, 3 Tots Burn to Death

HOLLIS, Okla. (AP)—Three children and their mother were burned to death Thursday after a gallon can of kerosene exploded. Police said Nathaniel Sanders was pouring the kerosene into a stove in an effort to get the fire to burn hotter. The victims were Mrs. Sanders, 28, and the children. Two other children were seriously burned. Sanders himself was burned on the hands, and two youngsters escaped injury.

Edmonton Man Requests Jury Trial

An Edmonton man was committed in city police court Thursday to trial by judge and jury on a charge of false pretenses, involving a worthless cheque for $62.57.

Robert Young faces four false pretense charges, one of which was withdrawn and preliminary hearings for the two remaining were set for next Wednesday.

Charges went back to July 22, 1955, and involve Alan's Ladies' Wear, 725 Yates; W. and J. Wilson Ltd., 1221 Government; Coronation Motors Ltd., 2978 Douglas, and O. H. Dorman Ltd., 1328 Douglas.

The Wilson charge was withdrawn today when the principal crown witness was unable to identify the accused positively.

Young was committed on the Coronation Motors charge. It is alleged he obtained gasoline, oil and grease to a value of $6.08, receiving the balance of the cheque in cash.

The accused is represented by H. L. Matthews. Bail was set at $1,000.

300 Surrey Teachers to Fight Award by Arbitration Board

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER — More than 300 teachers in suburban Surrey municipality have decided to take court action against an award of a 7.9 per cent wage increase made by an arbitration board.

The teachers decided at a meeting Thursday to donate $5 a month each to pay legal costs for the battle against the award, made in the face of their request for an 11 per cent raise. Letters are to be sent to parents of school children explaining the teachers' stand.

General secretary Charles Ovans of the B.C. Teachers' Federation told the Surrey teachers the federation will give its full support.

Chairman Hal Sinclair of the Surrey Teachers' Association said the group is prepared to spend $10,000 to $20,000 in fighting the award, which he said was made after the school board obtained a court order appointing an arbitrator.

SWEET-TOOTHED THIEF

VANCOUVER — A thief with a sweet tooth stole 1,680 chocolate bars from the parked auto of Leon Kahn early Thursday.

Police believed a youth was responsible for taking the bars, worth $168, and a $300 camera. Several other cars in the area were broken into, but nothing was stolen.

CRIME REDUCED

VANCOUVER — The general crime situation in Vancouver last month was "better than we had dared hope," Chief Constable George Archer said here Thursday.

But he said the breaking and entering picture was still bad with a total of 336 breakins for the month—13 more than in December, 1957.

LAWYER, CLIENT ON TRIAL

VANCOUVER—The trial of a lawyer and his client charged with attempting to defeat the course of justice opened in county court Thursday before Judge R. A. Sargent.

George G. Chapman, 39-year-old barrister, and Samuel J. Carra, 27, are accused of conspiring to defeat the course of justice, attempting to defeat the course of justice by counselling witnesses to commit perjury, perjury, and conspiring to commit perjury.

The charges grew out of Carra's trial on an impaired driving charge.

DAMAGES AWARDED

VANCOUVER — Judge Stanley J. Remnant, one of two new county court judges sworn in here Thursday, awarded $240 damages to a woman for "nausea" suffered when she found a blood-soaked bandage in a hot cross bun she had purchased.

The damages were awarded to Mrs. Marie Evans. The defendant was baker James T. Knight.

CITY GETS ALL OPTIONS ON NEW FIRE HALL SITE

A special meeting of city council to wind up negotiations for the site of the new main fire hall at Yates and Camosun, has been set for Tuesday.

Council fire wardens committee chairman Ald. A. I. Curtis told council only that the meeting was required in connection with land dealings for the hall.

He later confirmed that options on all the required property have now been obtained. Approval of a $90,000 purchase must be obtained.

The committee hopes to regain $30,000 through resale of some of the homes involved.

Outspoken Taxpayers Upset Revision Court

A three-man court of revision sitting in the Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall Thursday started hearing 250 complaints against increased assessments on property and dwellings in the urban part of Saanich.

The hall was crowded with about 160 ratepayers, but only 25 managed to present their cases at the session. The remainder were assigned to appear at hearings to be held within the next two weeks.

The court is composed of lawyer J. G. McIntosh, ex-city alderman Waldo Skillings and ex-Saanich councillor Eugene Diespecker.

Three reductions were granted by the court.

One woman won a $50 reduction in land assessment because the lot was poor.

UNDER WATER

Another taxpayer had a $150 assessment on improvements wiped out because the improvements—a shack—was situated on adjoining property. The same person received a reduction on land assessment after he complained the property was under water during the winter months.

Some ratepayers were dissatisfied with the methods used by Mr. McIntosh to maintain order in the court.

The chairman reminded outspoken taxpayers that the court had the power to find them in contempt, and impose fines.

The court warned a man who complained that he had taken the day off to appear before the court and now had to appear on another day.

ABIDE BY LAW

Mr. McIntosh explained that the court had to work according to provincial law.

But the man continued complaining to the assessor.

The chairman told him: "Now, any more talk like that and we are going to fine you for contempt."

A woman who exclaimed, "Well, thank God for that," after the court told ratepayers they had the right to appeal their cases, also was warned of contempt.

"Might as well tell you now we won't take any abuse from you or anyone else," Mr. McIntosh said.

Chemainus Resumes Shipments of Chips

CHEMAINUS — MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus Division, this week began shipping pulp chips to the Harmac pulp mill near Nanaimo, which was strike-bound for three months.

The company has not yet announced plans for the disposal of the huge mountain of chips, some 24,000 units in all, stored in the ball park. The huge pile of chips circles the big ball park on two sides and completely blankets the former little league park.

Easing in Mining Laws Indicated by Kiernan

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Thursday he is hopeful that drafting of a new mineral act will be completed in time to present to the current legislative session.

He indicated the government may ease some of the new mining legislation passed last spring, but made it clear there will be no return to Crown-granted mineral claims.

The new leasing system is the only satisfactory way to safeguard the mineral resources of the province, he said.

The minister told the legislature he was confident a "reasonable middle ground" can be found by the government and the mining industry.

"Within what is fair and reasonable for the people of B.C.," he said, "we will do whatever we can to satisfy the mining industry."

Mr. Kiernan said the difficulties that a number of mines in the province are in are not the result of the new legislation.

"It's just a matter of dollars and cents," he said.

World-wide declines in metal prices have made some B.C. mines uneconomic to operate.

The minister also blamed this price slump for a decline in mineral exploration last year.

In the peak year of 1956 some 26,000 claims were staked in the province, but the figure dropped to 12,000 claims.

This was still one and a half times the average number of claims staked over the last 10 years, the minister said.

Mr. Kiernan defended the new government controls over iron ore mining.

STEEL INDUSTRY

B.C. does not have unlimited iron ore resources, he said, but does have enough to support the start of an iron and steel industry. That is the aim of government policy, he said.

Some 4,000,000 tons of iron ore have been exported from the province in the last few years, Mr. Kiernan said.

Decoy, Marked Cash Convicts Bootlegger

Police used a decoy and marked money to gain evidence for conviction of Joesph LeRuyet, 4355 Raymond, on a bootlegging charge in Saanich court Thursday.

LeRuyet was fined $300 or three months at hard labor when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Two five-gallon jugs and 28 bottles of wine were found at LeRuyet's home after an unidentified man was given money to go in and purchase a bottle.

Police found their $2 bill in LeRuyet's change purse.

RUSSIA SAID PLANNING ICBM BASES IN CHINA

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Times quotes a "very reliable source on the China mainland" that Russia will start this spring to build intercontinental missile bases in nine northeast provinces of Red China.

The paper, which supports Nationalist China, says an advance team of over 100 Russian experts and a few Germans are completing a survey in central Manchuria.

The newspaper publishes a map showing Alaska, Honolulu and Australia as the main potential targets.

Missile-Firing A-Subs for U.S.

Delivery of First of Three Likely In 1960; Total Cost $300 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy today awarded contracts for three atomic-powered submarines to fire Polaris guided missiles.

The first deliveries of the new missile-firing submarines, which will cost an estimated $300,000,000, are expected in 1960, to coincide with the time when the ballistic missiles are expected to be ready for quantity production.

It has been estimated the first vessel will cost between $105,000,000 and $110,000,000, with the cost of the next two dropping to between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000.

The Polaris subs, designed to launch 1,500-mile range ballistic missiles while submerged, will be the largest known submarines ever built, of about 5,600 tons displacement.

The submarines will be 380 feet long, with a 33-foot beam, and presumably with a hull structure high enough for mounting the 30-foot-long missiles vertically.

Up to 16 intermediate-range missiles will be carried on each ship, each missile presumably able to mount a hydrogen warhead capable of more than 10,000,000 tons of explosive force.

Ex-Accountant Denies Hating BCFP President

(Special to The Times)

VANCOUVER—Trevor Daniels testified today that as former chief financial officer of British Columbia Forest Products he knew of no arrangement with Pacific Coast Services Limited for acquisition of timber.

The crown witness, who testified Thursday that $30,000 was paid by B.C. Forest Products to Pacific Coast Services, and that he had been told it was to go all or in part to former forests minister Robert Sommers, was under cross-examination in the preliminary hearing of bribery-conspiracy charges against Sommers, three other individuals and four companies.

He agreed with D. McK. Brown, counsel for B.C. Forest, that there probably was "some arrangement" between the company's late president, Hector Munro, and Pacific Coast Services for timber acquisition, but he didn't know of it.

Mr. Brown asked Mr. Daniels —who quit his job with B.C. Forest Products in December, 1954, in a row with the president over payments by the company—if he knew that in fact a total of $56,000 had been paid to Pacific Coast Services.

Magistrate Oscar Orr interjected that the question was improper from a hearsay point of view.

Mr. Brown rephrased it and asked Mr. Daniels if he knew that B.C. Forest had paid Pacific Coast Services more than $30,000, namely $56,000.

The witness replied: "I know of no other payment than the two $15,000 cheques mentioned yesterday and a further $2,000 as the first two monthly installments on a contract in 1954." He admitted that the $1,000-a-month payments probably had to do with the purchase of timber.

Mr. Daniels reviewed the setting up of B.C. Forest from a group of companies in 1946 and said he had been asked by Toronto lawyer M. W. McCutcheon and E. P. Taylor to come to B.C. and take care of the new company until a management was formed for it.

STEWART McMORRAN

Ambition for Presidency Denied

He agreed his position could be described as financial "watchdog" of the company until he left in 1954. Mr. Munro had succeeded Mr. Taylor as president of the company, but Mr. Daniels did not agree with a suggestion by counsel that he might have got the job instead.

"I don't think I would have been competent to take over Mr. Munro's place," he said.

At one point Mr. Brown suggested Mr. Daniels had become "livid" during examination by police over something which was alleged to have been said by a B.C. Forest Products official.

Mr. Daniels admitted he had been resentful.

Mr. Brown: "You disliked Hector Munro?"

Mr. Daniels: "That's ridiculous."

Mr. Brown: "I suggest you hated Munro."

Mr. Daniels: "Oh, come now, I have been to dinner with him and to his house since I left the company."

Mr. Brown: "I suggest you hated him."

Mr. Daniels: "That is an absolute fabrication."

Mr. Brown: "You resented the fact that he had been made president of the company."

Mr. Daniels: "I certainly did not."

Mr. Daniels had said Thursday the company paid out $30,000 in consideration for a forest management licence and that all or part of it went to Mr. Sommers.

Mr. Daniels told Mr. Brown that he did not have any direct participation in the ultimate decisions on timber purchases by BCFP.

Big Commission Would Be Paid

He said he had no knowledge of any services performed by H. Wilson Gray or PCS in connection with attempts by BCFP to acquire Jorgenson Timber Co. or the Kapoor Timber.

However, he agreed that a substantial commission would be paid to anyone who could arrange purchase of the assets of Kapoor. He said he believed BCFP was prepared to pay $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 for the Kapoor company.

Mr. Daniels said BCFP "definitely decided" to buy Kapoor if it could purchase the assets and not the shares of the company.

"You wouldn't be surprised to learn that Pacific Coast Services were engaged to help in attempting the purchase," asked Mr. Brown.

"It would surprise me considerably," Mr. Daniels said.

Mr. Daniels later said he had heard rumors about Schultz Ltd. and had thought they should be investigated because BCFP had retained the consultant firm in an application for a forest management licence.

Magistrate Orr ended the exchange between Mr. Brown and Mr. Daniels by ordering a five-minute adjournment.

Mr. Daniels, who was flushed, complained that his latent ulcer was acting up. It had begun bothering him recently.

Winter Hits Prairies, Maritimes

EDMONTON (CP) — The coldest weather of the winter held the Prairies in a firm grip today with temperatures dipping as low as 39 degrees below zero.

Prince Albert, home of Prime Minister Diefenbaker and site of his nomination meeting today, was the coldest reporting spot in Canada overnight with a 39-below reading.

Elsewhere, temperatures ranged from around 35 below in northern regions to 10 below in southwestern Alberta where cloud cover kept thermometers up a little.

HALIFAX (CP) — A sneak snowstorm that howled up from Maine early Thursday dumped up to 10 inches of snow on the Maritimes.

A fire at Wellington Station, P.E.I., destroyed five buildings and caused damage estimated at $100,000.

The captain and three crew members of the 42-foot Saint Pierre escaped in a dory when the fishing boat grounded near Glace Bay, N.S., at the height of the storm.

'IDEAL PLACES' IN RUSSIA SAY DOUKS

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Four leaders of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect said here today they found several "ideal places" in Russia for settling some 3,000 followers now living in British Columbia.

William Moojelsky of Shoreacres, B.C., would not say where his group travelled in the Soviet Union but maps of a Siberian area near the Mongolian border were hung on the walls of his hotel room.

TRIBUTE TO ACCIDENT VICTIM

'Feeling of Deep Sadness Pervades Our School'

"A feeling of deep sadness pervades our school this morning, when we learned of the sudden and untimely end of one of our best-liked and pleasantest schoolmates, James (Jimmie) Sheard, who was killed in a car accident yesterday evening.

"Everybody in our school who knew Jimmie (and nearly everybody did) found him a good sport, a cheerful companion, a valuable friend, and a hard-working student. His small stature housed a big heart and a dynamo of energy that worked always to the advantage of our school. Whatever he did, he did well, and in every branch of school life—sports, house activities, social affairs, students' council and studies —we were always aware of his cheerful, smiling enthusiasm.

"His passing leaves a gap in our ranks that can never really be filled. May he, in some fuller and better life, find expression for all the talent that he would have shown in this one, had it not been denied to him."

This was Mount View High School's tribute to a model student.

James Alfred (Jimmie) Sheard, 16, of 65 Lotus, was killed almost instantly when he was in collision with a car at Trans-Canada Highway and Wascana at 6.20 p.m. Thursday.

An inquest—second for a traffic death in Greater Victoria this year — will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at McCall's funeral home.

The boy, student manager of Mount View basketball team, was going home from an after-school practice in company with three other 16-year-old players.

According to police, the boys had just walked down Wascana and were waiting to cross the highway through fairly heavy traffic when Jimmie looked to his left and started to run across.

A car driven east by Allan W. Gray, 2803 Admirals, approached from the boy's right in the dusk.

DIDN'T LOOK RIGHT

The other boys said their companion did not look to his right and ran immediately in front of the car, which was travelling at about 30 miles an hour.

Sheard, an only child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Sheard, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

It is believed he had neck and skull fractures.

Terry Kochems, 16, of 3125 Earl Grey, said "Jim decided not to wait for the traffic to pass but to run for it. We yelled for him to stop but I guess he didn't hear us."

The other boys were Fred Wright, 16, of 3061 Earl Grey, and Terry Johnston, 16, of 7 Gorge West.

They said Jimmie looked as he let one car pass, but did not look the other way as he started to run.

Apparently he saw the oncoming car as he got to the white centre line, veered to try and avoid it, but failed. The others thought he had made it safely, then saw his feet fly as the impact threw him.

The driver said he did not see the boy until the collision, when he put on his brakes hard.

Kochems said he ran across the highway to where his friend lay on the gravel shoulder about 50 feet from the point of impact. He felt for a pulse.

"There was still a slight beat," he said.

At Mount View where Jimmie was in grade 11, there was a subdued, respectful aura in the rooms and corridors as teachers and students alike mourned his death.

The tribute above was run off this morning for inclusion in the school newspaper due for circulation today.

Principal Frank Rendle said: "It is not often we get such a combination of good student and sportsman."

He described the boy as a superior student, but also active in all school sports.

"He was all-around good in everything," his principal said.

Romania Reds Hold British Envoy Worker

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain complained today that Communist authorities abducted a local member of the British legation staff in Bucharest, Romania, last Wednesday.

A foreign office statement said the legation worker, a Romanian, was accosted by five men in front of the legation and "with considerable violence" was bundled into a car and driven away.

Iraq-Jordan Merger Rivals Egypt-Syria

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Iraq and Jordan joined today in a new Arab federation—Al Ittihad al Arabi—proclaimed shortly after sunrise on the Moslem holy day.

Their merger created a pro-Western rival to the United Arab Republic Syria and Egypt proclaimed two weeks ago.

King Faisal II of Iraq and King Hussein of Jordan—22-year-old second cousins of the Hashemite dynasty—agreed to merge their countries' finances, economies, and foreign affairs. They will retain separate local governments and thrones, but Faisal was named chief of state.

The federation differs sharply from the UAR, which on paper will reduce Egypt and Syria to provinces of one highly centralized government to be run by Egyptian President Nasser. The Iraqui-Jordanian merger also cements the geographical wedge between Syria and Egypt, posing Nasser the problem of controlling his new province from 120 miles away. Also in between is Israel.

Leaders of the UAR look to the Communist world for military, political and economic aid. Iraq and Jordan look to the West, which buys Iraq's oil and bolsters improverished Jordan with military and economic aid.

Although the new federation is expected to continue the pro-Western policy which both governments have followed individually, one of the first results is likely to be Iraq's withdrawal from the Western-backed Baghdad Pact. This would pave the way for Saudi Arabia, which borders the federation on the south, to join.

Give-Away Poll

OTTAWA (CP) — Private radio broadcasters today asked the CBC board of governors to test public opinion before adopting regulations to restrict broadcast contest and give-away programs.

Macmillan Returns To Political Crisis

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today returned from a 30,000-mile eastern Commonwealth tour to find his government facing a political crisis at home.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler, who was the leader of the government during Macmillan's six-week absence, was at the airport to give the prime minister a report on the shattering Tory setback in the Rochdale by-election this week.

Sun-tanned and chipper Macmillan told reporters at the airport that the by-election was "disappointing to me, but I am not discouraged."

"I do not intend, if I have the support of my colleagues in parliament, to abandon my task."

Macmillan scored a personal triumph in a precedent-making tour that took him to India, Pakistan, Ceylon, New Zealand and Australia. He also stopped in Singapore.

$8 Million Fire

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A spectacular fire, fed by drums of gasoline and chemicals and punctuated by periodic explosions, destroyed a block-long warehouse Thursday night, causing damage tentatively estimated up to $8,000,000.

Moon 'Traveller' Tired But Recovers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Air Force officials said today Donald G. Farrell, on the downhill side of a make-believe seven-day trip to the moon, had shown his first signs of real fatigue in the experimental space cabin here.

"However, this morning after a real good sleep he sounded much more alert and we are very optimistic he will complete the full seven days," said Lt.-Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine at Randolph air force base.

"It was during last night's work problems that we saw for the first time indications of real fatigue. He skipped a couple and slowed down in reaction on others."

Farrell entered the experimental space cabin last Sunday morning and is scheduled to be removed at 9.35 a.m. this Sunday.

'A KICK IN THE APOGEE'

One More Rocket Motor—Zoom Jupiter Missile Circles Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Put one more rocket motor on the Jupiter-C missile that launched the American satellite and you could reach the moon.

Scientists who designed Explorer I made this claim Thursday at a press conference called to report on the satellite's progress through the heavens.

California Institute of Technology's jet propulsion laboratory has formally asked government permission to try to circle the moon with some future satellite.

The plan is called the "kick in the apogee" technique.

There is no thought at the moment, scientists said, of trying this with Explorer II, the second United States satellite now being rushed to completion at the jet lab.

Dr. Henry Richter explained how the "kick 'n the apogee" technique would work.

A fifth rocket stage would be added to the four stages of the Jupiter-C. The first four rockets would put the satellite into an orbit similar to Explorer's.

The part of the egg-shaped orbit closest to earth is called the perigee. The part farthest from earth is called the apogee. Because the satellite would be hundreds of miles farther out in space at the apogee, that is the best point at which to give it another boost, or "a kick in the apogee" with the fifth rocket.

Richter and other scientists at the press conference said Explorer I is performing as they expected it would. All information it has radioed back so far indicates that a human could live in a satellite. "Room temperature" is being maintained inside the satellite and measuring devices indicate no great peril from cosmic rays or small meteorites in space.

A little more push an' some o' them election promises c'd circle th' moon, too.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

What do Social Crediters believe in?

That is a question which has exercised many minds, great and small, since the present B.C. government swept into power over the corpse of the old Coalition administration in 1952.

Tony Gargrave, the vigorous young CCF member for Mackenzie, over-simplified matters Thursday when he said their general creed seems to be "For God and against sin."

But Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan—that devout looking man with the long critical nose and flowing grey hair—had a more detailed answer.

"We believe," he said, "in free enterprise under a reasonable restraint. We believe in the importance of the individual above the aims of state—in a proper balance between authority and responsibility.

"We believe that a monetary system must be the servant of the people and not its master."

So compact, so idealistic, so reasonable . . . and so simple that we old sophisticates wonder if life can ever be as straightforward and decent as Mr. Kiernan would have us believe.

So much can happen between the ideal itself and the end result.

★ ★ ★

Anyhow, it was Mr. Kiernan's day in the legislature and, aside from his full and detailed account of the mines ministry, he revealed an aggressive side to his nature.

He repeatedly needled the Opposition and went so far as to say that the comparison drawn by Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan) between the land given to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway many years ago and the Wenner-Gren project in north-central B.C. was "a deliberate falsification."

This brought an angry response from the CCF benches and a reproof from Speaker Shantz who asked the minister to withdraw the words "deliberate falsification."

Mr. Kiernan complied but still insisted the CCF had "poisoned" people's minds against the Wenner-Gren scheme.

The mines minister also referred to the press.

"We believe in a free and responsible press," he said. "We have no desire to dictate to them and they, in turn, have no desire to dictate to us.

"They feel free to criticize us whenever they choose, and I am sure they will allow us the freedom to criticize them."

Mr. Kiernan half apologized for distributing a map of B.C. to illustrate his survey of B.C.'s oil and gas resources.

"You needn't have bothered," said 83-year-old Tom Uphill, the perky Labor member for Fernie. "Anyone who plays the stock market knows that map inside out."

Tony Gargrave, a student at Victoria College when he isn't battling for the CCF in the House, mentioned Charles Dickens, an illustrious social reformer, in his criticism of the government's social service cuts.

He suggested that Mr. Dickens, if he were alive today, would regard these curtailments as "typically unenlightened Toryism."

Then, referring to Premier Bennett's promise that the province would be debt-free by 1960, he said:

"I don't think they (the government) will last until 1960. This debt reduction talk is just a political gimmick."

★ ★ ★

Mr. Gargrave also put in a word for those much-harassed folk, the B.C. school teachers.

"Even the janitors have better bargaining rights than they have," he declared.

To which the self-respecting, properly-organized janitor might reply: "Sir, I resent the word 'even'!"

George Massey, the voluble member for Delta, began speaking at 4.42 p.m. and had so much to say the House had to adjourn at 6 pm.—the official adjournment time—to allow him to finish.

He finished at 6.25 having declared:

"I don't have to cross the floor of this House to get the results I want."

Most members agreed. Mr. Massey had worn them all down.

MORE PRESSURE PUT ON FRENCH BY TUNISIANS

TUNIS (AP) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba increased his diplomatic pressure on France today and put a police blockade around three French consulates.

Bourguiba previously had asked the French to close five of their consulates. The French refused.

Police guards around the consulates at Medjez, Le Kef and Gafsa put consular officials under the same restrictions as France's 15,000 troops in Tunisia, now bottled up in their bases.

Bourguiba has asked France to withdraw her troops and give up her big naval base at Bizerte as a result of the French bombing of a frontier village last Saturday.

However, he urged the people to keep calm and limited to four hours a general strike called for today in national mourning for the bombing victims.

U.K. H-Defence Alarms Press

LONDON (Reuters) — Two British newspapers have expressed concern over government plans to develop nuclear weapons side by side with the United States.

British plans to develop an advanced type of ballistic rocket, which some papers describe as a new "wonder weapon," were revealed Thursday in the annual defence department white paper.

"Outside NATO, we are still giving priority to the nuclear deterrent, and we are developing a more advanced ballistic missile than the American rockets which are to be stationed here," says The Times in an editorial.

"But can we afford the future ramifications of an offensive capacity based on missiles?

"There will always be a better missile, or a better anti-dote, just around the corner."

The Manchester Guardian says the government is making a mistake in going ahead with a separate British nuclear deterrent.

"Is there anything to be gained by adding a British deterrent to the American deterrent?" the Liberal paper's editorial asks. "Obviously the answer is 'no'."

The Soviet news agency Tass said today that Britain's defence statement "contains unveiled threats against the Soviet Union."

The agency quoted a reference to medium-range rockets in the possession of the Western powers and located in Europe and other areas being able to "destroy practically all important targets in the Soviet Union."

Start Ordered On New City Garbage Plant

First $82,130 portion of Victoria's planned new $240,000 garbage plant was approved Thursday for immediate construction.

After more than a year of discussion, the plan passed city council almost without comment.

Funds for the project will be taken from the "tax sale lands account" and will make no direct effect on the 1958 mill rate.

NEW INCINERATOR

First phase of the renovation includes construction of a new incinerator at the garbage wharf, foot of Store Street, and reconstruction of an old building for office use.

Later developments will include a new scow, a compression unit which will make the garbage "sinkable" and complete roofing of the wharf installations.

The completed project will cut city garbage costs by $4,000 annually.

'Retaining' Case Remanded

George Gettle, 340 Burnside East, was remanded for two weeks in Saanich police court Thursday after crown evidence was completed in a charge of retaining stolen property.

Gettle was charged in connection with theft of about $500 worth of groceries, cigars, cigarets, cookies and a small clock from Bluebird Market, 3930 Douglas, last Dec. 24.

The defence admitted groceries, but nothing else, were stolen property.

Gettle has been found guilty of another charge of possessing stolen goods—two bottles of vodka—and awaits sentence.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Swing of the Pendulum

WHEN Bing popularized "Swinging on a Star," he couldn't foresee the paraphrase today's educationists would make of the title line. But if educationists ever focussed on a slogan, it's "Swinging on a Sputnik" today.

Stott

Ya gotta get educated because the Russians got educated.

Quite a few people thought education had been kicking around for a long time before the Soviets discovered it in modern terms. Quite a few other people are reacting to the idea as if it were shiny new—a sort of a baby twin that appeared immediately after man (and a Russian at that) fathered the first satellite to be heaved into space.

They're swinging on a satellite, sho' nuff. And in the Royal Oak School PTA "swinging" is the operative word. Some folk out that way want the pendulum to cross the centre line and head back to a more traditional system.

Next Monday night they'll continue a great debate on a motion to that effect—a motion calculated to help children of superior intelligence.

FLAT ON ITS FACE

Protagonists seem to believe that the educational system in recent years has leaned too heavily toward student "adjustment." It has leaned so far that way, they appear to say, that it has fallen on its face.

If I understand their position correctly, they feel they've had the course, aren't impressed, or are unfavorably impressed, and want to get back to fundamentals with a few variants.

They want emphasis on the three Rs, the humanities, and the relatively routine courses of a quarter-century ago, with science brought up to date.

They want departmental examinations at the end of each year in high school, with results—in actual marks made by the student out of a hundred—reported to the parent.

They want a firmer discipline in the schools, with children required to observe decent manners, though they don't want rule by martinet.

For those youngsters who cannot handle the routine courses of more intellectual content, they suggest less academic work transferred to a vocational school, which would also offer present high school courses in industrial arts and home economics.

Under one clause of the proposal, special facilities and guidance would be provided for students with outstanding intellectual capacities.

Under another, consideration would be given to increasing the school day, week or year.

To handle all this, sponsors of the motion suggest higher salaries and other inducements to attract the best material possible into the teaching profession. And they suggest that economies might be made in gyms, auditoria, cafeterias, and other facilities not essential to the educational process.

CONTROVERSY

To a lot of people who have interested themselves professionally and otherwise in education, this program will seem a return to the past. They'll have a number of arguments against it. One of them, quite properly, will be that some extremely bright young people have gained a broad range of knowledge from the system now in operation. They'll argue that attitudes are vital features of the school's purpose and that knowledge does not necessarily adjust the person who possesses it to the world in which he lives.

The latter point may be very true. It is also very true that many young people have come through high school in recent years with a surface adjustment that seems to equip them for their times, but that such apparently adequate adjustment falls to pieces when the young person has to face the hurdles of life which modern practice lowers or removes for them in school.

Among the sad people of this world are those who, by being unable to keep up to average in class, have developed inferiority complexes that stay with them.

On the other hand, are they any sadder than young people who have no inferiority complexes because they lack completely an appreciation for their own limitations?

The debate seems to be nicely joined at Royal Oak. It should be worth listening to.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By STANLEY BURKE

Machines on the Attack

NEW YORK—Reaction at the UN to the long-last launching of the American satellite might be described as one of frightened hopefulness.

Everyone knows why the launching was frightening—and few can have watched TV pictures of its awesome, fire-thundering ascent without feeling added pangs of fear. But disarmament specialists at the UN point to reasons for new and more exquisite fear. This lies in progress toward the not-far-off day when machines rather than men will make decisions to push the buttons.

Burke

Disarmament men say that if enemy missiles, travelling at around 20,000 miles an hour, are detected in flight there will be no time for human minds to ponder the decision to counter-attack, perhaps the most fateful decision in history. They refer, for example, to a recent statement by Dr. W. H. Pickering, head of the California Institute of Technology propulsion laboratory and one of the men chiefly responsible for launching the Explorer.

Here's part of his statement: "The decision to destroy an enemy nation, and by inference our own—will be made by a radar set, a telephone circuit, and electronic computer. It will be arrived at without the aid of human intelligence. If a human observer cries 'Stop. Let me check the calculations,' he is already too late. His launching site is destroyed and the war is lost."

Complex equipment will be needed for detection and identification. For example, equipment must be able to state, quickly and with absolute accuracy, whether an object hurtling through space is a death-bearing missile or harmless meteor. And the scientist points out that machines can make mistakes. In fact he says a period of intense, prolonged crisis would strain the "nerves" of machines, just as those of men, and failure of some components would be inevitable.

". . . the failure of a handful of vacuum tubes and transistors could determine the fate of our civilization," he said.

Here are Dr. Pickering's concluding words:

"In a few years it will not be governments which make the choice. The governments will be committed to rely on the reliability of some electronic equipment."

And finally: "If the answer is not found in a very few years there will be no need for the answer because all that is left of humanity will be starting the long climb from the stone age."

This is a marrow-chilling statement from one of the best-informed men in the world on this subject.

But among disarmament men it brings a glimmer of hope. They're hopeful because the era of the electronic general staff will bring madness to its penultimate stage. They are hopeful it will force some sort of agreement.

The American satellite rouses hopes for more immediate reasons. This is because it strengthens the West militarily and psychologically. Diplomats have been stressing that talks with the Russians are impossible until the United States has a satelite in orbit and long-range missiles on the launching pads. They say these are necessary to impress the Russians and to reassure the American people because American diplomats say privately that their ability to bargain, to make concessions, is limited at the moment by the mood of a frightened, shocked American public.

GUNS DRAWN

Senior officials of the Canadian external affairs department have said the same thing ever since the first post-Sputnik demands began to rise for talks with the Russians. "We must wait until the Americans have some hardware in the air," they've been saying.

You might say that the two great powers will soon be standing like old-time gun-fighters in a crowded saloon. Each man has his gun drawn, neither dares put his gun back into its holster, neither will be satisfied with anything save a gun as good as his enemy's, and with an equal hair-trigger.

"Force is the only thing the Russians respect," American foreign officers have been saying, and Canadians have been repeating it.

But Americans also respect force. Certainly American thought has undergone basic changes since the Sputniks went up. Things which American allies have been urging to little avail for years are now under active consideration. Today both sides have a dreadful respect for one another. Soon, when the United States can hold her head high in space, it may be possible to translate that respect into action.

The thought that man might be destroyed by a mentally defective calculating machine will surely be an added incentive.

SYNOPSIS—Winter struck in the Cariboo and Prince George region of B.C. as the mercury fell to more than 20 below zero to mark the coldest night of the winter. However, the cold air mass blanketing the interior of B.C. is retreating northward again as another active disturbance from the Pacific approaches the B.C. coast. Gale force winds have developed in waters off the northern coast and rain now falling over the Queen Charlottes and Vancouver Island will spread to the mainland during the forenoon. Present indications point to unsettled weather through the next 24 to 48 hours.

'Political Gimmick' Seen in Debt Cuts

Debt reduction program of the Social Credit government was labelled a "political gimmick" in the legislature Thursday by Tony Gargrave, CCF member for Mackenzie.

Mr. Gargrave said the government had no right to set aside an additional $12,000,000 for reducing the direct debt this year, while at the same time cutting essential services.

"This government has failed miserably in all their other policies," the CCF member said, "and this is all they have to talk about."

The government is raising a "public clamor" about reducing the debt so that it can "expand it into a political balloon to release at election time."

"UNCONVINCING"

Mr. Gargrave said Provincial Secretary Wesley Black was "most unconvincing" Tuesday when he explained staff conditions in provincial mental institutions.

Staff cuts in the mental hospitals are a retrogressive step, he said.

A cut in the 1958-59 budget for the provincial child guidance clinic is a "public disgrace," Mr. Gargrave said.

This government's policy on welfare services is typically unenlightened toryism belonging to the era of Charles Dickens."

The CCF member said that if the government can't run the province with its swollen revenues, it should make way for someone who can.

"A few years in opposition for this government would give to it a sense of proportion which up until now it has never had."

Mr. Gargrave claimed the government is "blaming everything under the sun, the press included, for its troubles."

The government should be more responsive to public opinion, he said.

It is "disintegrating" because it has no policy on the basic activities of the province such as forestry and agriculture.

Mr. Gargrave urged the government to grant more scope to the B.C. Power Commission and let it develop Columbia River hydro.

LARGER

On education, the CCF member said members of the present royal commission should have had more experience with grade school curriculum.

He suggested the commission should have been larger to include experienced members of the education department and a wider representation from the community.

Status of teachers must be raised, Mr. Gargrave said, and they should be given full bargaining rights with the school boards.

He said there is a need for more direct aid to needy university students.

Actress Dies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Helen Twelvetrees, one-time star of stage and screen, died in hospital Thursday. Her age was given as about 50. Miss Twelvetrees began her movie career in the early 1930s and stayed in Hollywood until the middle 1940s, playing opposite John Barrymore, Robert Taylor, Spencer Tracy and Clark Gable. One of her last pictures was "The Painted Desert" with Gable.

Herbs Grow Easily

At dusk Thursday I saw the first flight of Canada geese winging its musical way northward.

This means the time has come for seed sowing and planting, and a daily article. The more people who become ardent gardeners the more peaceful and beautiful will be our part of the Island, at least.

Hilda

A small herb patch near the kitchen door, or an area given over to herb growing on a larger scale, either will give satisfaction to the senses of sight, smell and taste.

Herbs are easy to grow, but require restraint in their use until you become thoroughly familiar with the effects of their various flavors.

The perennial herbs, sage, thyme, rosemary, lemon balm and chives are found in many gardens, but it is among the annual types that marvellous shades of flavor occur.

SUNNY SPOT

In addition to the usual summer savory, sweet marjoram, anise, fennel, and dill, seed is available of such interesting things as coriander, chervil and caraway.

Seed of horehound and wormwood were also found locally. These are both perennials.

When deciding to grow some of these herbs, choose a sunny location. Even a slightly raised bed will make the planting of more interest, especially if some shrubby types are grown as permanent features.

Seeds of perennials may be sown now indoors, and the annuals outdoors where they are to grow, during April, using no additional fertilizers.

9% Drop During 1957 In Canadian Car Sales

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canadians bought 457,320 motor vehicles in 1957, down 9 per cent from the 499,921 they purchased a year earlier, the bureau of statistics has announced.

Total retail value of the sales was $1,366,902,000. In 1956, the total value of new vehicle sales was $1,455,375,000.

Passenger car sales were down to 381,123 units from 408,233 a year earlier, while commercial vehicle sales dropped to 76,197 units from 91,688.

Used car sales also registered a decline, falling to 365,293 units from 382,026 a year earlier. Used commercial vehicle sales totaled 48,341 units compared with 56,818 in 1956.

EARNINGS UP

MONTREAL (CP) — The Shawinigan Water and Power Co. has reported net earnings of $12,515,060, or $1.48 a common share, for 1957, compared to the previous year's $11,355,083 or $1.41 a common share, after adjustment for the three-for-one split in the company common shares in 1957.

Western Plywood Earnings Decline

VANCOUVER (CP)—Western Plywood Limited has reported net earnings of $516,609 for 1957, compared with $1,417,459 in the previous year, a drop of 64 per cent. Sales declined 5 per cent to 17,779,551 from 18,809,105 in 1956.

President John Bene said the company opened a new outlet in Calgary last August and the Edmonton plant completed its first full year of operation in 1957.

MARKET SUMMARIES

All Sections Rise On Toronto Exchange

The Toronto stock market was higher in all sections today as buying appeared for the first time this week.

During the afternoon industrials were nearly two points higher on index and western oils were up one-half point. Base metals and golds had smaller gains.

Utilities and papers were stronger among industrials groupings.

In quiet trading the New York market held its gains in late afternoon trading.

AT TORONTO senior base metals were fractionally higher.

Juniors, uraniums, golds and coppers had a few more advances but most changes were narrow. Cochenour Willans featured trading with an 18-cent gain at $2.39 amid a turnover of 30,000 shares.

Western oils had twice as many gains as losses. Senior issues were fractionally higher while low-priced stocks moved up in a 15-cent range but most gains were 10 cents or less.

AT NEW YORK leading Canadian issues gained. International Nickel led the way, up 1½, Aluminium Ltd. was up ½, Distillers-Seagrams ⅜, Dome Mines ¼ and Granby Mining ⅛.

Preston East Dome lost ¼ in a quiet Canadian section of the American exchange.

AT MONTREAL prices turned stronger on the stock exchange. Industrial volume was moderate and mines and oils light.

Dominion Steel stood out with a gain of 2¼ at 21. Other steel issues were about steady.

Base Metals were mixed. International Nickel was down a point to 71 and Aluminium was up ⅜ at 27⅜. Producing mines showed some weakness with Steep Rock at 8.50 and Continental at 3.30, off 15 cents each.

Other groups were finer.

AT LONDON stock market gilt-edged securities and industrials were firm today with several leading issues showing good gains.

Electric, motor and aircraft issues also improved. Textiles were unsettled and shipping shares lost. Dollar stocks were uncertain and oil shares generally were lower. South African gold shares improved slightly.

AT VANCOUVER light trading saw slight price changes during the forenoon. Bata Pete sold 5,000 at 8. Giant Mascot moved 2,000 at 10. Trojan traded 5,000 at 19. Skeena moved 1,500 at 10.

IRRIGATION PLAN

Preliminary work has started on a 40,000,000-rupee irrigation scheme in Dera Ismail Khan district of West Pakistan.

Wheat Exports Show Decline

OTTAWA (CP) — Although wheat exports from the four major exporters slipped by more than 81,200,000 bushels in the first five months of the current crop year, supplies for export and carryover at Jan. 1 were 14 per cent lower than a year ago.

The bureau of statistics reported today that total exports in the August-December period dropped to an estimated 351,300,000 bushels from 432,500,000 in the corresponding period last year. The crop year ends July 31.

Canada was the only major exporter to improve its export position, shipments rising to 127,100,000 bushels from 126,700,000 a year ago. United States shipments dipped to 152,300,000 bushels from 204,200,000, Argentina to 37,200,000 and Australia to 34,700,000 from 63,000,000.

Net Income Drops

TORONTO (CP)—Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd. had net income in 1957 of $17,468,874 or $10.53 a share, compared with $19,722,043, or $11.89 a share, in 1956.

Net sales totalled $339,802,000, compared with $345,682,870.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most of the activity appeared in flax today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Early dealings disclosed liberal offerings and prices declined. However, buying by overseas and American houses and exporters produced price rallies in the late stages.

Oats and barley trade was domestic and prices moved narrowly.

Rye trading was erratic, buying by commission houses and shippers kept prices steady.

There were no reports of overnight loadings of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all down one-half cent from Thursday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly all grain futures prices held close to their previous finishes in light dealings on the board of trade today.

Belief that considerable export business might develop in the near future, held wheat to the upside during most of the session. Turkey asked U.S. exporters for offers of about 3,000,000 bushels of wheat and 720,000 bushels of corn after the close of business today.

At the close, wheat was 1¼ to 3½ cents a bushel higher, March $2.15¾-16, corn unchanged to ¼ lower, March $1.09⅞-¾; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March 64⅞-65; rye 2½ to 4¼ higher, March $1.28½-¾, and soybeans ¼-1 higher, March $2.21-20¾.

BRIEFS INVITED

THE ROYAL COMMISSION ON PRICE SPREADS OF FOOD PRODUCTS

Public hearings are to be held in the following cities on the dates indicated, with hearings in Saskatchewan and other provinces to be scheduled later:

VANCOUVER, B.C. —APRIL 9, 10, 11
EDMONTON, ALTA. —APRIL 14, 15
WINNIPEG, MAN. —APRIL 17, 18

Briefs are invited from organizations and associations wishing to provide information on the extent and causes of the spread between the prices received by producers of food products of agricultural and fisheries origin and the prices paid by consumers for such products.

Briefs must be in writing and should reach the Secretary of the Commission, 69 Sparks Street, P.O. Box 2003, Ottawa, by March 24. At least twenty copies should be forwarded. The city at which a brief is to be presented should be indicated.

Organizations and associations intending to submit briefs should inform the Commission's Secretary without delay, and will be provided with a copy of the order-in-council, which includes the terms of reference.

Full-Scale Drilling Due for Saturna Oil

Driver 'Poor' After Pile-Up On Government

Two Others Hurt In Grinding Crash

Henry Porter, 32, of 3916 Wilkinson, was reported unchanged at St. Joseph's Hospital today after being admitted in poor condition from a two-car smash at Government and Fisgard Thursday night.

He was one of three given emergency treatment. The others are:

Lily Rose Finbow, 20, of 3371 Oak, admitted with shock and face lacerations and now in good condition; and,

Kenneth Thompsett, 20, of 3119 Alder, treated for shock and head cuts, also in good condition today.

Police said Porter was driver of a car going north on Government and attempting a left turn to go west on Fisgard.

Thompsett, driver of the car in which Miss Finbow was a passenger, was going south on Government. Impact stopped this car, but the Porter car continued into a lamp standard on the west side of Government.

The accident was reported to police at 11.45.

Police cars were assisted by the navy shore patrol in taking the injured to hospital.

Porter, father of four children aged six months to six years, is a foreman for Lloyd Newton, 991 Tulip, lath contractor, who was just getting out of his parked car on Fisgard when he heard the crash.

Bigger Rigs Going To Island Project

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

First major drilling prospect ever conducted in the Vancouver Island area is about to enter its second stage.

Boyles Bros. Drilling Co. Ltd., working for Charter Oil Co. Ltd., of Vancouver, sank an exploratory hole on Saturna Island to the depth of 2,206 feet, then took down its light rig and moved out.

The drilling site, at the head of Lyall Harbor, now is being gravelled by a fleet of trucks preparatory to bringing in a full-scale drilling rig from Alberta.

It will be operated directly by Charter Oil, which is working with Imperial Oil Co. Ltd., Canadian Collieries, Pacific Petroleums, and Standard Oil of California on the prospect.

Three Shifts

Boyles Bros. moved to the site in October, and by Oct. 30 had started drilling. They worked three shifts per day, seven days each week, with a total crew of 16 until winding up their part of the operation a few days ago.

First recorded drilling in this area was between 1910 and 1913, when a hole was sunk in the vicinity of Point No Point, beyond Sooke, to a depth of 1,560 feet. It produced just as much as the second prospect, drilled in 1920 to a depth of 2,000 feet on Whiffin Spit, which was nothing.

'Tight Hole'

The Saturna Island venture is the third, and the first with modern equipment and techniques.

The company is operating the project as a "tight hole," or one about which absolutely nothing is said except the depth reached.

Oddly enough, the novel activity has caused hardly a ripple in the quiet life of the island. Clarence Matthews, Charter Oil engineer, and Ralph Smith, Boyles Bros. foreman, have made a point of using local help and materials at all time, and a bit of mild prosperity ensued, but nothing to cause any speculation of any kind.

Buy Locally

Drillers buy all their provisions at the local store, and their gas and oil from the Imperial agent on the island. The post office noted a bit of increased revenue, but otherwise no one is excited.

Children at Saturna Island Elementary School play on their slides and swings with hardly a glance at the activity on the drill site just a stone's throw away. Very rarely does a resident saunter along to the prospect out of curiosity, and even people who might stand to gain by the finding of oil are calm about the whole thing.

Ownership of under-surface rights can be complicated but the following condition applies on most properties:

If land was Crown-granted prior to 1891, then the owner holds both surface and undersurface rights. This type of land is known as freehold, and generally the undersurface rights stay with the surface rights unless specifically charged out for some reason.

There is a good deal of this freehold land in the Gulf Islands, and it does not matter how many times the property has been sold since its granting prior to 1891—the rights go to the new owner.

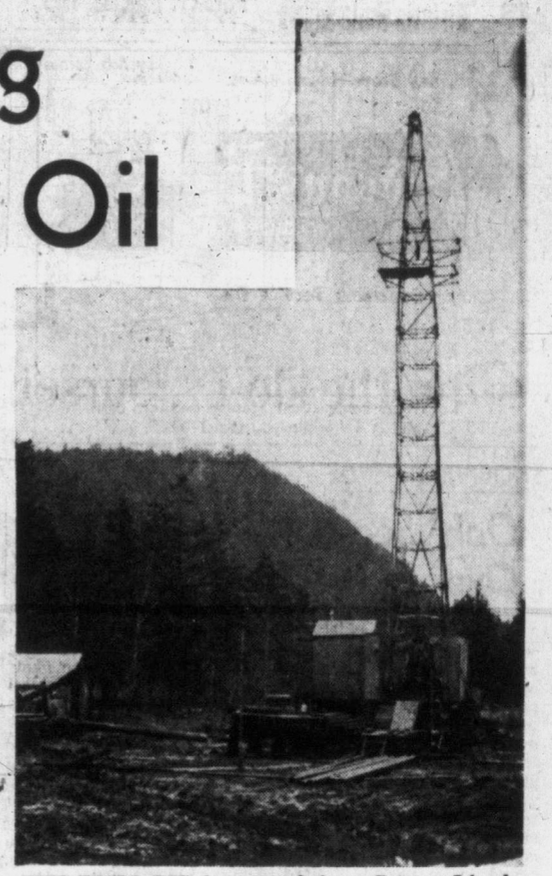
Crown-Owned

In grants made since 1891, the subsurface rights belong to the Crown.

Therefore if oil was found, and if the area was developed, and if owners of land could make satisfactory deals with oil companies, then some people might stand to make money. It so happened that at one time Royalite Oil Co. held leases on 20,000 acres of Saturna Island land, but it is not known now how many of these are active.

Saturna is a charming island, with a population of about 70 persons in winter and 300 to 400 in the summer. It could almost be called an outpost of the Gulf Islands, since it lies on Georgia Strait in the very tip of a little tongue of Canada that extends into American waters.

Drilling and prospective oil prosperity notwithstanding, the residents show every intention of leaving progress and rush to the other fellow, and retaining the jog-trot charm of Saturna for themselves.



THIS DRILL RIG drove test hole on Saturna Island to depth of 2,206 feet. Dismantled this week, it will be replaced by big Alberta derrick almost double size of prospecting unit. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

Victoria Daily Times

MONTE ROBERTS

This department appears to be irrevocably involved with squirrels, also chipmunks.

Several of the constituents have taken up the pastime of squirrel watching, and faithfully report their findings.

Last Sunday Capt. and Mrs. A. J. Barr went squirrel watching in the Thetis Lake area. They walked clear around the lake, and succeeded in watching one squirrel.

This was a red squirrel, they tell me, and Capt. Barr got a good look at it through his field glasses.

It was sitting on the end of a log, minding its own business, and not saying a word.

Mrs. Barr says it must have been a squirrel, not a chipmunk, because chipmunks are forever saying something.

An anonymous correspondent reports as follows:

"I have personally chased chipmunks through the tree tops in the Triangle Mountain area of Colwood, and taken pictures of them sassing me from a tree trunk 10 feet away at Camp Bernard in Sooke."

(You see the type of constituents I have? They go chasing chipmunks through tree tops.)

I have also been told there are lots of chipmunks around the lower part of the Island, but no squirrels.

This is a little hard to understand, as chipmunks ARE squirrels—ground squirrels, the dictionary says. But the chipmunks I remember from eastern Canada always seemed to be up a tree.

As if this isn't confusing enough, the dictionary tells me the preferred spelling of chipmunk is chipmuck, and it is also called chipminck, chipmonk and chipmuk.

It is actually a chipping squirrel, although I am not sure what it chips, and where the chips fall when they are chipped.

Why do I start things like this, anyway?

While we're on the subject of four-footed friends, I've been sent a copy of the publication issued by the Cat's Protection League of England.

In it is an item which caught my eye; it reports that the oldest cat in England finally had to be put to sleep—at the amazing age of 34 years.

Helen Kerswell of the local CPL tells me the normal life span is from 12 to 14 years. She believes there are several fairly old cats in Victoria, 15 years or perhaps more, but never heard of one here older than 20.

Is there a feline fancier in the audience who would care to make a nomination for the oldest cat on Vancouver Island?

(There I go, starting something again. Will I never learn?)

Man Buys 91c For $115; Show Tonight

It is news when a man pays $115 for 91 cents.

This happened at Lunds auction rooms Thursday when collector J. R. Pipes bid $115 for the first set of coins issued by the Royal Mint in Ottawa in 1908.

The set comprises five coins—a 50, 25, 10, five and one-cent piece—with an original value of 91 cents. They have never been used as currency but are slightly tarnished from handling by collectors.

Mr. Pipes, a charter member of Victoria Numismatic Society, said prior to 1908 Canadian coins were minted at the Royal Mint in London, England.

"These were the first coins made when the Canadian mint was set up. One complete set of five coins was presented to each of the then nine lieutenant-governors in Canada.

"The set I have originally belonged to Thomas William Paterson, lieutenant - governor of British Columbia from 1909 to 1914."

Mr. Pipes will display the coins in their plush-lined leather case at a meeting of Victoria Numismatic Society at the Art Gallery tonight at 8.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Frank Molnar, 219 Quebec, $25 for driving alone with a learner's licence, and $25 for driving without proper insurance.

Monte R. Preston, 3409 Shelbourne, $35 for careless driving.

D. A. Wheeler, 512 Simcoe, $35 for careless driving.

Full Staffs Promised Institutions

A provincial government spokesman confirmed today that the B.C. mental health service has been authorized to hire "a full complement" of medical and nursing staff in any area of the service.

Authorization has been given to Dr. A. M. Gee, director of the B.C. Mental Health Service in Vancouver, the official said.

This order did not mean the government was "back-tracking" on an earlier economy measure, he said.

"There is no question of economy where skilled help is concerned," the spokesman said. "The kind of nurses and doctors needed for this work are always difficult to find. They cannot be picked up on the street."

Disaster Plan Revision Slated

A complete revision of local disaster planning in view of more devastating nuclear weapons was approved today by Victoria civil defence planning committee.

Target director, Commodore V. S. Godfrey said immediate steps will be taken to prepare a new overall plan.

Woman Driver Convicted After Pedestrian Death

Mrs. Herta Bishop, 1243 Rudlin, was found guilty in city police court today of careless driving following the death Dec. 2 of pensioner Charles L. Sheats, 65, of 1140 Queens.

She was remanded by Magistrate H. C. Hall to Tuesday for sentence.

"You should have seen that pedestrian," said the magistrate.

Accused admitted she had struck Sheats in a crosswalk at Pandora and Vancouver Street as he was walking from south to north on the west crosswalk at the intersection.

"I suddenly saw this figure, and immediately applied my brakes," she said.

She was travelling west on Pandora at the time.

Tire burns ran 17 feet, court was told.

The fatality took place shortly after 5 p.m., at the height of rush-hour traffic.

Dairymen To Stick With Board

Vancouver Island dairymen have decided not to withdraw from jurisdiction of the B.C. Milk Board.

This was disclosed today by Dairymen's Association president, Cecil Bulman of Nanaimo, following a meeting with the provincial cabinet.

Mr. Bulman said the association executive will meet again Monday with Agriculture Minister Stacey and the Milk Board.

He said he believes a satisfactory solution will soon be reached to the problem created by the recent action of the board in eliminating the milk producer price differential paid to Island dairymen.

SELLING AGENCY

It was indicated the solution might be the creation of a single selling agency by the dairymen. The price differential might be restored until agency is established.

Mr. Bulman said the association has withdrawn its earlier demand for replacement of the three members of the Milk Board.

The association president said the dairymen had a satisfactory meeting with the cabinet today, and were appreciative of the two hearings granted this week by Premier Bennett.

The discussions with the cabinet followed an angry demonstration by some 300 Island farmers who stormed the legislative buildings Monday.

Faster Cars Considered For Police

Victoria police chief John Blackstock today said "souped-up" police cars are "under consideration" here, but he doubted any allocation would be made for their purchase in the 1958 budget.

The interview was conducted following magazine reports that Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Vancouver both were using "tailor-made" interceptor cars, capable of catching speeders in high-powered sports cars or hot-rods.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Stettler, Antigonish return 10 a.m. Feb. 22.

Cowichan returns March 2.

Fortune, James Bay, Miramichi return March 6.

Beacon Hill left today; returns 1.30 p.m., Feb. 21.

Flying Phil Hits CCF 'Downdraft'

Expenses charged by Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi while on a special inaugural flight to South America in 1956 were questioned today in the legislative public accounts committee.

Mr. Gaglardi said he made the trip at the invitation of Canadian Pacific Airlines.

CCF members on the committee asked why he had charged $15 a day expenses to the government while on the trip.

"It sounds to me like a holiday," said Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook).

CCF Leader Robert Strachan discovered the trip reference while scrutinizing highways department travel vouchers.

SIGNED

The voucher said: "Vancouver-Kamloops-Trail-South America. 18 days at $15—$270."

The inaugural flight took place May 14-26. The voucher was signed by the minister.

The minister first said no expense was involved in the trip.

"I don't know why the secretary put that down," he said.

Mr. Gaglardi said later, however, that guests on the trip paid for their own meals and other expenses. He would be entitled as a representative of the government to charge expenses, he said.

ON DUTY

"In other words, Phil, you were on duty," said Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy.

Mr. Gaglardi said he had talked with government officials in Mexico, Peru, Argentine and Chile about trade and said there had been some "follow-ups" which had gone to the provincial department of trade and industry.

The opposition members also questioned the frequency of the highways minister's trips to Kamloops.

Mr. Gaglardi said Kamloops is a regional office and the most central place in the province as far as highways are concerned.

"If you weren't living there, maybe it wouldn't be the centre, eh?" grinned Mr. Nimsick.

"That could be," Mr. Gaglardi replied.

Health Minister Martin defended Mr. Gaglardi: "He's got nothing to hide."

"How do you know," Mr. Nimsick interjected. "You've got no right to say that."

4-Month Delay In Finishing Customs Block

Delays in getting final specifications for the new Victoria customs and immigration building may stall its completion for another four months, it was learned today.

"We have been waiting since last May for the (federal) government to give okays on various parts," contractor William Hamilton of Luney Brothers and Hamilton, said today.

The renovation and partial new construction to the old Victoria post office building at Humboldt and Government has been underway almost two years. The project is estimated to cost over $1,000,000.

NEARLY FINISHED

Mr. Hamilton said the front portion of the building, entirely rebuilt, is almost completed. Crews are now carrying out renovations to the rear of the premises, which houses the customs offices at present.

Mr. Hamilton said there is no doubt the project will be completed in time for an official opening during the height of centennial celebrations this summer. No target date has been set yet however.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Langford volunteer firemen confined an attic fire to wall damage at the home of H. Mitchell, 831 Hockley, Thursday afternoon.

The blaze started when wood next to a chimney caught fire from overheated bricks next to a utility room. Estimated damage was $100.

Love Walked Out

In the spirit of Valentine's Day, I asked my friend Sam, the Chinese shoe-shine man, what he thought of the mail-order bride squabble which has upset Vancouver's Chinatown.

Keate

"Oh, velly bad, velly bad," said Sam, sadly. "Gull no good."

I asked him what had happened.

"Velly nice boy want wife," he explained. "He work hard chop suey house, save up money, send out maybe one, two thousand dolla. Lotta money, boy twenty-two year old."

Then he had never seen the girl?

"No," said Sam, "all-time done by letta. He lite letta—fo', fi', six years, Hong Kong.

"She lite boy 'I likee you,' 'I love you,' I come Van'clouva on—what you say?—steam-shlip.

"Velly nice boy, velly hon'able, send out mebbe one, two thousand dolla, get nice wife.

"She come Van'clouva, see boy. She make plomise, she blake plomise. Gull no good. No dam' good."

But couldn't the boy have married a Vancouver girl? Why did he have to send to Hong Kong for a bride?

Sam stopped shining and shrugged.

"I dunno," he confessed. "But Chinese people velly angly. Gull blake contlact. She say 'I mally you, I likee you, I love you.' Then she come, meet Van'clouva boy, say she no want mally him."

I told Sam the newspapers said the girl was afraid in Vancouver, and had left for San Francisco.

"Yes," he said, frowning anxiously. "Now she say she mally other man, go back Hong Kong. Takee money, takee steam-shlip, lite letta 'I likee you, I love you, I mally you,' come to Van'clouva, no likee boy, hide in hotel, Chinese people kick gull out.

By PENNY SAVER

I popped my head into a frozen food locker this morning and saw all sorts of frozen vegetables and fruits. I even found complete meals. Looks as if the working mother has her meal problem all solved. Why? Because these cartons are made up in such a way that all the housewife has to do is turn on the oven and pop the foil-wrapped packages in for 15 or 20 minutes!

One of these meals is a turkey pie. It's a large square filled with big pieces of turkey surrounded with vegetables and gravy. It serves two people and a bit, because there are bound to be second helpings! Directions for preparation are simple. You just place the pie in the oven for 15 to 20 minutes, and dinner is ready! The price is 43 cents.

Doesn't this sound like a tasty treat? It's fillet of sole with lemon butter. There's enough sole in the silver and blue foil packages to feed four of five healthy appetites! Then, of course, the lemon butter adds a new and interesting note to the meal and makes it worth; it's 75-cent price tag!

★ ★ ★

Every homemaker likes to economize and she can this weekend when it comes to purchasing frozen vegetables. Yes! Peas and carrots either mixed separate, are selling at two packages for 35 cents.'

If you're one of those lucky housewives with a freezer in your basement, take this advice. Keep it full at all times. That way, meal planning and shopping headaches will decrease and your budget will increase! You'll also be prepared for unexpected guests at mealtime. You can be, you know, if you've lots of frozen foods on hand.

★ ★ ★

Do you know that even fancy dessert planning has become a three-minute job, too?. Sounds unbelievable but it's true! The dessert is pie, and in the selection there is apple, blueberry and cherry. Two of these delicious pastries are in each package, selling at 49 cents.

FORMER VICTORIA WOMAN WINS SAN DIEGO CONTEST

Former Victorian Mrs. Richard H. Whidden has won a sewing contest in San Diego, sponsored by the Federation of Junior Women's Clubs. Mother of two children, Mrs. Whidden is the former Gwen Pready of this city. She believes that fit is more important than style or fabric in dress. Her winning costume is a three-piece ensemble cut in the new chemise lines. "I like the chemise. The only thing against it, really, is the men," she said. She made the ensemble in three days, "at night after the children were in bed." Sewing time totalled about 12 hours.

"WIDOWHOOD"

The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the third in a series of articles frankly written about widowhood as a service to the four out of five women in this community who will outlive their husbands.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
CHAPTER III

The first decision a widow makes with the fervent hope they are as her husband would have wanted them, are the funeral arrangements.

Wilson

Often, and without being morbid, older people who have outlived many of their contemporaries discuss last rites preferences. Younger couples, full of plans for living, seldom make any for death with the exception of buying insurance.

The task of the older widow is therefore easier. Chances are that the couple has already picked a burial plot and a funeral director. To such a widow setting the wheels in motion is so perfunctory that a friend can do it, giving her more time to compose herself.

MUST SEARCH MEMORY

If all couples were as farsighted it would help, for the widow without any real plans must search her memory for any casual remark made in her husband's lifetime which could guide her.

About a friend's funeral: "I can't see wasting all that money with a family left behind. Don't you ever be that foolish!" About being buried in the family plot up north: "I dread the idea of snow over my grave." About cremation: "I just don't like the idea."

In some cases permission to perform an autopsy is a request made by physicians and hospitals before the body is removed to the funeral home.

A CONTRIBUTION

Fearing that post-mortem surgery would harm the appearance of her husband's body, some women hesitate. They should not. Autopsies cannot be detected. And the medical knowledge gained through this continuous research program is a contribution to the living that the dead can make.

Within hours, after death a funeral director must be named to handle the body and arrangements. Although directors try to educate the public about their services through advertising, the confused widow must sometimes rely upon the judgment of a respected friend or business associate in choosing one.

Prices for funeral services range from several hundred dollars to more than a thousand, depending upon the elegance of the casket.

GIVES MANY SERVICES

But with most reliable funeral homes the services offered are just as comprehensive with the less expensive caskets as with the elaborate ones. Price of burial lot, mausoleum, or cremation is additional.

The funeral director collects biographical data and supplies it to the newspapers for obituary notices. He will notify out-of-town relatives, if necessary.

He provides limousine service to transport the mourning family to and from the funeral home and to the graveside, plus a casket-bearing car, attendants and escorts.

The widow chooses her husband's wardrobe for the last time. A few hours later she is called upon to view him so that his friends will see him as natural-looking as life.

SERVICES

A part of funeral services is a parlor where staff members bank the flowers as they arrive. There is a register on hand for friends to sign if they wish.

The funeral director's staff turns the register along with a complete list of flowers received to the widow so that she may properly acknowledge these expressions of sympathy.

She may request that the flowers later be delivered to hospitals, homes for the aged, or children's homes, however she feels her husband would want it.

In recent years the practice of omitting flowers has grown. Instead families request that a donation be sent to the late friend's favorite charity, or a medical research organization.

Sometimes the widow is guided by her husband's expressed wishes on the matter, but much of the time the choice is hers.

Actually these promised contributions to charities are often forgotten after the moment of shock has passed and are therefore embarrassingly meagre, a local funeral director pointed out. I for one prefer to make up the loss of these small amounts of money to these groups with service in future years.

"Flowers are for the living. Not the dead," is true.

It was a great solace to me to see my husband for the last time caressed by the symbols of love, the warmth and beauty of flowers. What else but flowers which spring again from their seed speaks the sermon of everlasting life so well?

TOMORROW—Mourning.

Shrove Tuesday: Peach Pancakes

Invite a few friends over for cards or conversation on Shrove Tuesday and treat them to Sunset Peach Pancakes. These dollar-sized pancakes with peaches and whipped cream are quick to make friends.

Let the refreshments be the make-your-own type. It's easier on the hostess and it assures the guests of getting just the amount they want. Set up the electric griddle and let each guest make his own tiny pancakes. While the griddle heats, shake the pancake batter in a shaker or quart jar. This new shaker method saves on dishes and makes it so easy to pour the batter from the container to the griddle. Then, too, your favorite pancake mix saves time and promises light and tender pancakes every time.

Sliced frozen peaches make a wonderful topping and later on you will want to use the tree-ripened variety. A dollop of whipped cream sweetened with maple-blended syrup makes this a dessert to dazzle your friends. It goes without saying that cups of fragrant tea or coffee are all you will need to complete the dessert menu.

Try these delicious sunset peach pancakes

SUNSET PEACH PANCAKES

Pancakes: One cup milk, 1 egg, 1 cup pancake mix, 1 tablespoon melted butter. Topping: One cup whipping cream, ½ cup maple-blended syrup, 1 10-oz. package frozen peaches, drained.

For the pancakes, place milk, egg, pancake mix and melted butter in shaker glass jar. Shake vigorously 10 to 15 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Pour about 1 tablespoon batter for each pancake onto a hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

For the topping, whip the cream; lightly stir in maple-blended syrup.

To serve, overlap 5 or 6 small pancakes on each plate. Place peaches and whipped cream mixture on each serving.

Makes 6 servings.

On Etiquette

Hats at Memorial Service:

An officer of our company died the other day. The executives have arranged for a memorial service for him to be held next week in our office building. Everyone from the president down will be going to it. Should we women employees wear our hats for the ceremony?

Louise Davis Answers:

There is no reason for wearing hats at the memorial service. If you were leaving the building to attend the service some place else, then you would naturally wear them, but it would look too obvious and forced for you to leave your desks, don hats and go to the service in the same building. You will not be on consecrated ground, such as a church, where, with some denominations, hats would be required. Your solemnity and dignity are enough so that hats would be irrelevant and almost foolishly conspicuous. If any of the officers' wives and the widow of the bereaved should be coming from home to the service, there would be no special reason for them to remove their hats.

Louise Davis

A Thank You Is Never Remiss:

When a servant passes food at a dinner party, should guests say "Thank you" or "No, thank you"?

Louise Davis Answers:

Yes, but the words should be said unobtrusively without disturbing the conversation even for an instant. They can be said inaudibly, for they are only for the one passing the food. A guest can take it for granted that the servant can read the lips, but it is always thoughtful to indicate the "Thank you" in some way, whether it is yes or no. A smile is sometimes a good substitute, for it can be "translated."

Guides, Brownies Need Leaders

East District Commissioner Mrs. E. Kennedy presided at annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the district's guides and brownies. Gonzales Division Commissioner, Mrs. Mary MacDougall was a guest.

Increase in membership and great need for leaders was shown in reports. Three new Brownie Packs were started last fall.

Guides made 265 visits to the Aged Women's Home in the year; canned foods and volunteer help was given the free food stall for the needy; a party was given for children of the Protestant Orphanage; letters were written to patients in the Solarium and a knitted blanket made for an elderly woman.

Five hampers were packed at the holiday season and a party given for retarded children.

A sum of $61.35 was collected by Guides for the Save the Children Fund and a donation of $20 given for the TB Clinic in Korea.

The group realized $468.66 at a fall fair.

The secretary, Mrs. May Jones reported 222 badges earned by Guides in the year and 163 by the Brownies.

A report was given by Mrs. Eve Robinson on the new hall being built by the Oak Bay Kiwanians for the use of Guides and Brownies.

YOUR SCHOOLS

PRESENT SCHOOL BOARD SALARY POLICY MAY HURT YOUR CHILD'S EDUCATION.

1. In the years when Victoria teachers' salaries were among the highest in the province, a high percentage of outstanding teachers was attracted to and held in Victoria.
2. During those same years, able and ambitious Victoria students achieved some of the highest scholastic honors in the province.
3. We believe that the Board's chief responsibility is to the children, the parents and the community in ensuring an adequate supply of well-trained, competent teachers.
4. There are not enough fully trained teachers to staff B.C. schools today. This situation is growing worse. Victoria must maintain a competitive salary scale if it is to attract a reasonable share of available teachers.
5. The scale arbitrarily "fixed" by the present board would leave the Victoria teachers among the poorest paid in the province.
6. This could only have a disastrous effect on the educational standards of the community.

Quality salaries attract quality teachers. We are sure that Victoria citizens will support this view.

T.V. with Lee

Cougars at Seattle, 8.30 on 13; Person to Person, 9.30 on 7

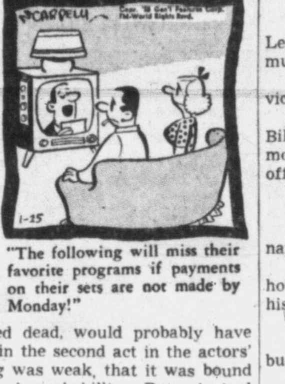
By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

OF THIS AND THAT—Although the Canadian TV season hasn't been anything to rave over owing to a pitiable lack of derring-do and pioneering by those in control, it becomes more and more apparent that our artists at last are beginning to get the "feel" of the new medium.

Two shows we rarely fail to watch, not as a critic but because we genuinely enjoy them, are Monday night's "On Camera (8.30) and Tuesday evening's "GM Theatre" (9).

Just as an advanced student will experience his days of fumbleitis and outright error, so "On Camera" and "GM Theatre" have their off-days. But more and more, as producer, director, actor, cameraman and soundman gain confidence in themselves, the plays become more solid and, therefore, more entertaining, the unsure air of the amateur giving way to the articulate air of the professional.

TV TEE-HEES



"The following will miss their favorite programs if payments on their sets are not made by Monday!"

* * *

A case in point would be last Tuesday's "Return From Darkness." A year ago this play about a wife and her lover preparing to slay the woman's husband, believed dead, would probably have dissolved helplessly early in the second act in the actors' knowledge that the ending was weak, that it was bound to bog down under its own improbability. But principal actors Katherine Blake, Austin Willis, Cec Linder and Kay Hawtrey displayed such belief in their roles that it wasn't until the dying moments of Lester Powell's play that the audience began to ponder about the whys and the wherefors. As it was, they almost carried it off.

Because of these GM Theatre plays, Tuesday night has become quite a favorite around our house.

* * *

Shooting has begun in Toronto's High Park and Rosedale areas for the all-Canadian play, "Now That April's Here"; John Drainie and Katherine Blake will star. It will take four weeks to film.

WITNESS REAFFIRMS SOMMERS CHARGE

Daniels Remains Firm Under Lawyers' Probing

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Crown witness repeated in court today that former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers was to get "all or part" of a $30,000 which his former company had made out of its business accounts.

Trevor Daniels, former chief financial officer of B.C. Forests Products, reiterated that the late Hector Munro, president of the company until his death last December, had told him this.

He said Mr. Munro had "desired that Sommers get the whole of the $30,000, but that he probably couldn't because someone would have to pay taxes on it."

"It was intended to use Mr. Wick Gray as the intermediary to get the money to Mr. Sommers," Mr. Daniels testified under cross-examination.

It was his second day as a witness in the preliminary hearing of bribery-conspiracy charges against Mr. Sommers, three other individuals and four companies. Mr. Sommers, who resigned his portfolio but still retains his legislature seat as Social Credit member for Rossland-Trail, was not in court. He is absent in Victoria by consent of magistrate Oscar Orr.

Under cross-examination by Angelo Branca, counsel for Mr. Sommers, Mr. Daniels said he could not recall all the conversation with Mr. Munro in the exact words used at the time.

"We had argued about payment of the money," he said.

"And you have an impression in your mind that might be quite faulty," Mr. Branca suggested.

"I'm quite sure it isn't," said Mr. Daniels.

Referring to Mr. Munro, Mr. Daniels said "he asked me if possible to have the whole of the $30,000 transferred to Mr. Sommers through Gray."

"I told him I wouldn't have anything to do with it."

The $30,000 referred to was in two cheques for $15,000 each drawn by B.C. Forest Products and paid to Pacific Coast Services Limited, one of the companies charged in the case.

Mr. Branca said Mr. Munro was no longer around to defend himself. He pressed Mr. Daniels to recall the conversation with Munro in full detail.

'Trying to Bully Me' Says Witness

"You're trying to bully me," the witness replied.

"Not at all," said Mr. Branca.

Mr. Daniels said he couldn't answer because it was impossible to recall all his conversation with Munro in detail. He could only recount it to the best of ability.

"Answer the question," insisted Mr. Branca.

At this point Mr. Daniels appealed to Magistrate Orr for assistance saying "Can the court help me?"

The magistrate instructed him to answer as best he could.

Mr. Daniels then recounted what he had told the court Thursday. He said that Mr. Munro told him arrangements had been made to secure a forestry management licence for B.C. Forest, but that "Sommers was to get $30,000 or part of it and that the money was to be paid through Wick Gray in a way in which it could not be traced."

Mr. Branca said Mr. Daniels did not really know whether or not Pacific Coast Services had rendered services for the two $15,000 cheques.

Mr. Daniels replied he did not. Services might have been rendered.

The crown witness agreed with D. McK. Brown, counsel for B.C. Forest, that there probably was "some arrangement" between the company's late president, Hector Munro, and Pacific Coast Services for timber acquisition, but he didn't know of it.

Mr. Brown asked Mr. Daniels—who quit his job with B.C. Forest Products in December, 1954, in a row with the president over payments by the company—if he knew that in fact a total of $56,000 had been paid to Pacific Coast Services.

Magistrate Oscar Orr interjected that the question was improper from a hearsay point of view.

Mr. Brown rephrased it and asked Mr. Daniels if he knew that B.C. Forest had paid Pacific Coast Services more than $30,000, namely $56,000.

The witness replied: "I know of no other payment than the two $15,000 cheques mentioned yesterday and a further $2,000 as the first two monthly installments on a contract in 1954." He admitted that the $1,000-a-month payments probably had to do with the purchase of timber.

Mr. Daniels reviewed the setting up of B.C. Forest from a group of companies in 1946 and said he had been asked by Toronto lawyer M. W. McCutcheon and E. P. Taylor to come to B.C. and take care of the new company until a management was formed for it.

He agreed his position could be described as financial "watchdog" of the company until he left in 1954. Mr. Munro had succeeded Mr. Taylor as president of the company, but Mr. Daniels did not agree with a suggestion by counsel that he might have got the job instead.

"I don't think I would have been competent to take over Mr. Munro's place," he said.

At one point Mr. Brown suggested Mr. Daniels had become "livid" during examination by police over something which was alleged to have been said by a B.C. Forest Products official.

Mr. Daniels admitted he had been resentful.

Mr. Brown: "You disliked Hector Munro?"

Mr. Daniels: "That's ridiculous."

Mr. Brown: "I suggest you hated Munro."

RUSSIA SAID PLANNING ICBM BASES IN CHINA

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Times quotes a "very reliable source on the China mainland" that Russia will start this spring to build intercontinental missile bases in nine northeast provinces of Red China.

The paper, which supports Nationalist China, says an advance team of over 100 Russian experts and a few Germans are completing a survey in central Manchuria.

The newspaper publishes a map showing Alaska, Honolulu and Australia as the main potential targets.

Missile-Firing A-Subs for U.S.

Delivery of First of Three Likely In 1960; Total Cost $300 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy today awarded contracts for three atomic-powered submarines to fire Polaris guided missiles.

The first deliveries of the new missile-firing submarines, which will cost an estimated $300,000,000, are expected in 1960, to coincide with the time when the ballistic missiles are expected to be ready for quantity production.

It has been estimated the first vessel will cost between $105,000,000 and $110,000,000, with the cost of the next two dropping to between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000.

The Polaris subs, designed to launch 1,500-mile range ballistic missiles while submerged, will be the largest known submarines ever built, of about 5,600 tons displacement.

The submarines will be 380 feet long, with a 33-foot beam, and presumably with a hull structure high enough for mounting the 30-foot-long missiles vertically.

Up to 16 intermediate-range missiles will be carried on each ship, each missile presumably able to mount a hydrogen warhead capable of more than 10,000,000 tons of explosive force.

CRUSADER DIES

Dame Christabel Pankhurst militant British campaigner for women's suffrage died Thursday at the age of 77 in her Santa Monica, Cal., home. She was a pioneer with her mother Emmeline and sister, Sylvia, in the "votes for women" movement and was frequently jailed in the cause. This picture was taken in 1936. (AP Wirephoto.)

Winter Hits Prairies, Maritimes

EDMONTON (CP) — The coldest weather of the winter held the Prairies in a firm grip today with temperatures dipping as low as 39 degrees below zero.

Prince Albert, home of Prime Minister Diefenbaker and site of his nomination meeting today, was the coldest reporting spot in Canada overnight with a 39-below reading.

Elsewhere, temperatures ranged from around 35 below in northern regions to 10 below in southwestern Alberta where cloud cover kept thermometers up a little.

HALIFAX (CP) — A sneak snowstorm that howled up from Maine early Thursday dumped up to 10 inches of snow on the Maritimes.

A fire at Wellington Station, P.E.I., destroyed five buildings and caused damage estimated at $100,000.

The captain and three crew members of the 42-foot Saint Pierre escaped in a dory when the fishing boat grounded near Glace Bay, N.S., at the height of the storm.

Romania Reds Hold British Envoy Worker

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain complained today that Communist authorities abducted a local member of the British legation staff in Bucharest, Romania, last Wednesday.

A foreign office statement said the legation worker, a Romanian, was accosted by five men in front of the legation and "with considerable violence" was bundled into a car and driven away.

Hurt by Land Mine

WIESBADEN, West Germany (CP)—A Canadian soldier, Cpl. R. D. Burton, of Wabamun, Alta., injured when he stepped on a land mine while patrolling the Israeli-Egyptian border with the United Nations Emergency Force, was flown here today for treatment at the United States Air Force hospital.

Moon 'Traveller' Tired But Recovers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Air Force officials said today Donald G. Farrell, on the downhill side of a make-believe seven-day trip to the moon, had shown his first signs of real fatigue in the experimental space cabin here.

"However, this morning after a real good sleep he sounded much more alert and we are very optimistic he will complete the full seven days," said Lt.-Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine at Randolph air force base.

"It was during last night's work problems that we saw for the first time indications of real fatigue. He skipped a couple and slowed down in reaction on others."

Farrell entered the experimental space cabin last Sunday morning and is scheduled to be removed at 9.35 a.m. this Sunday.

Whitby Wins 6-3

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada's entry in the forthcoming world hockey championships today won their second game in a row from the defending Swedish champions, beating the Swedish squad 6-3. The Whitby team crushed Sweden 13-0 Thursday.

Diesel Talks Broken Off

MONTREAL (CP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engine Men (CLC) today broke off negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway on the issue of the use of firemen in diesel engines.

The CPR announced that it is going to place the matter before the federal minister of labor for appropriate action.

Storm Blamed

MONTREAL (CP) — A thunderstorm expert today told the board investigating Canada's worst air accident that if a plane crashes in a thunderstorm area and there is no other cause evident, "I would suspect a thunderstorm as the cause."

No Pre-Knowledge

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today that neither the premier nor defence minister knew beforehand of France's raid last Saturday on a Tunisian frontier village.

Pineau made his statement to the foreign affairs committee of the National Assembly. Committee members emerging from the meeting reported the gist of his remarks.

Admits Murder

NEW YORK (UP)—A 33-year-old hospital cook confessed today to the murder of a 16-year-old high school girl.

Police said Pablo Vargas, a roomer in the house where the victim, Lillian Mojica, lived, admitted viciously beating, strangling and stabbing the girl and attempting to burn her body.

Canadians Second

PARIS (CP)—A Canadian team today took second place in the world dance figure skating championships, according to unofficial calculations.

Geraldine Fenton, 20, of Hamilton, and William McLachlan, 19, of Toronto, winners of the North American championship last year at Colorado Springs, Colo., were ranked slightly behind June Markham and Courtney Jones of England, the defending champions.

UN Sets Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — The United Nations Security Council will meet next Tuesday to debate Tunisian charges against France resulting from the French air attack on a Tunisian village last Saturday, it was announced today.

TRIBUTE TO ACCIDENT VICTIM

'Feeling of Deep Sadness Pervades Our School'

"A feeling of deep sadness pervades our school this morning, when we learned of the sudden and untimely end of one of our best-liked and pleasantest schoolmates, James (Jimmie) Sheard, who was killed in a car accident yesterday evening.

"Everybody in our school who knew Jimmie (and nearly everybody did) found him a good sport, a cheerful companion, a valuable friend, and a hard-working student. His small stature housed a big heart and a dynamo of energy that worked always to the advantage of our school. Whatever he did, he did well, and in every branch of school life—sports, house activities, social affairs, students' council and studies—we were always aware of his cheerful, smiling enthusiasm.

"His passing leaves a gap in our ranks that can never really be filled. May he, in some fuller and better life, find expression for all the talent that he would have shown in this one, had it not been denied to him."

JIMMIE SHEARD
. . . "superior student"

This was Mount View High School's tribute to a model student.

James Alfred (Jimmie) Sheard, 16, of 65 Lotus, was killed almost instantly when he was in collision with a car at Trans-Canada Highway and Wascana at 6.20 p.m. Thursday.

An inquest—second for a traffic death in Greater Victoria this year — will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at McCall's funeral home.

The boy, student manager of Mount View basketball team, was going home from an after-school practice in company with three other 16-year-old players.

According to police, the boys had just walked down Wascana and were waiting to cross the highway through fairly heavy traffic when Jimmie looked to his left and started to run across.

A car driven east by Allan W. Gray, 2803 Admirals, approached from the boy's right in the dusk.

DIDN'T LOOK RIGHT

The other boys said their companion did not look to his right and ran immediately in front of the car, which was travelling at about 30 miles an hour.

Sheard, an only child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Sheard, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

It is believed he had neck and skull fractures.

Terry Kochems, 16, of 3125 Earl Grey, said "Jim decided not to wait for the traffic to pass but to run for it. We yelled for him to stop but I guess he didn't hear us."

The other boys were Fred Wright, 16, of 3061 Earl Grey, and Terry Johnston, 16, of 7 Gorge West.

They said Jimmie looked as he let one car pass, but did not look the other way as he started to run.

Apparently he saw the oncoming car as he got to the white centre line, veered to try and avoid it, but failed. The others thought he had made it safely, then saw his feet fly as the impact threw him.

The driver said he did not see the boy until the collision, when he put on his brakes hard.

Kochems said he ran across the highway to where his friend lay on the gravel shoulder about 50 feet from the point of impact. He felt for a pulse.

"There was still a slight beat," he said.

At Mount View where Jimmie was in grade 11, there was a subdued, respectful aura in the rooms and corridors as teachers and students alike mourned his death.

The tribute above was run off this morning for inclusion in the school newspaper due for circulation today.

Principal Frank Rendle said: "It is not often we get such a combination of good student and sportsman."

He described the boy as a superior student, but also active in all school sports.

"He was all-around good in everything," his principal said.

Macmillan Returns To Political Crisis

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today returned from a 30,000-mile eastern Commonwealth tour to find his government facing a political crisis at home.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler, who was the leader of the government during Macmillan's six-week absence, was at the airport to give the prime minister a report on the shattering Tory setback in the Rochdale by-election this week.

Sun-tanned and chipper Macmillan told reporters at the airport that the by-election was "disappointing to me, but I am not discouraged."

"I do not intend, if I have the support of my colleagues in parliament, to abandon my task."

Macmillan scored a personal triumph in a precedent-making tour that took him to India, Pakistan, Ceylon, New Zealand and Australia. He also stopped in Singapore.

A little more push an' some o' them election promises c'd circle th' moon, too.

'IDEAL PLACES' IN RUSSIA SAY DOUKS

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Four leaders of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect said here today they found several "ideal places" in Russia for settling some 3,000 followers now living in British Columbia.

William Moojelsky of Shoreacres, B.C., would not say where his group travelled in the Soviet Union but maps of a Siberian area near the Mongolian border were hung on the walls of his hotel room.

Iraq-Jordan Merger Proclaimed

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Iraq and Jordan joined today in a new Arab federation—Al Ittihad al Arabi—proclaimed shortly after sunrise on the Moslem holy day.

Their merger created a pro-Western rival to the United Arab Republic Syria and Egypt proclaimed two weeks ago.

King Faisal II of Iraq and King Hussein of Jordan—22-year-old second cousins of the Hashemite dynasty—agreed to merge their countries' finances, economies, and foreign affairs. They will retain separate local governments and thrones, but Faisal was named chief of state.

The federation differs sharply from the UAR, which on paper will reduce Egypt and Syria to provinces of one highly centralized government to be run by Egyptian President Nasser. The Iraqui-Jordanian merger also cements the geographical wedge between Syria and Egypt, posing Nasser the problem of controlling his new province from 120 miles away. Also in between is Israel.

Leaders of the UAR look to the Communist world for military, political and economic aid. Iraq and Jordan look to the West, which buys Iraq's oil and bolsters improverished Jordan with military and economic aid.

Although the new federation is expected to continue the pro-Western policy which both governments have followed individually, one of the first results is likely to be Iraq's withdrawal from the Western-backed Baghdad Pact. This would pave the way for Saudi Arabia, which borders the federation on the south, to join.

NORMAN CRIBBENS IN THE LEGISLATURE

What do Social Crediters believe in?

That is a question which has exercised many minds, great and small, since the present B.C. government swept into power over the corpse of the old Coalition administration in 1952.

Tony Gargrave, the vigorous young CCF member for Mackenzie, over-simplified matters Thursday when he said their general creed seems to be "For God and against sin."

But Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan—that devout looking man with the long critical nose and flowing grey hair—had a more detailed answer.

"We believe," he said, "in free enterprise under a reasonable restraint. We believe in the importance of the individual above the aims of state—in a proper balance between authority and responsibility.

"We believe that a monetary system must be the servant of the people and not its master."

So compact, so idealistic, so reasonable . . . and so simple that we old sophisticates wonder if life can ever be as straightforward and decent as Mr. Kiernan would have us believe.

So much can happen between the ideal itself and the end result.

* * *

Anyhow, it was Mr. Kiernan's day in the legislature and, aside from his full and detailed account of the mines ministry, he revealed an aggressive side to his nature.

He repeatedly needled the Opposition and went so far as to say that the comparison drawn by Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan) between the land given to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway many years ago and the Wenner-Gren project in north-central B.C. was "a deliberate falsification."

This brought an angry response from the CCF benches and a reproof from Speaker Shantz who asked the minister to withdraw the words "deliberate falsification."

Mr. Kiernan complied but still insisted the CCF had "poisoned" people's minds against the Wenner-Gren scheme.

The mines minister also referred to the press.

"We believe in a free and responsible press," he said. "We have no desire to dictate to them and they, in turn, have no desire to dictate to us.

"They feel free to criticize us whenever they choose, and I am sure they will allow us the freedom to criticize them."

Mr. Kiernan half apologized for distributing a map of B.C. to illustrate his survey of B.C.'s oil and gas resources.

"You needn't have bothered," said 83-year-old Tom Uphill, the perky Labor member for Fernie. "Anyone who plays the stock market knows that map inside out."

* * *

Tony Gargrave, a student at Victoria College when he isn't battling for the CCF in the House, mentioned Charles Dickens, an illustrious social reformer, in his criticism of the government's social service cuts.

He suggested that Mr. Dickens, if he were alive today, would regard these curtailments as "typically unenlightened Toryism."

Then, referring to Premier Bennett's promise that the province would be debt-free by 1960, he said:

"I don't think they (the government) will last until 1960. This debt reduction talk is just a political gimmick."

* * *

Mr. Gargrave also put in a word for those much-harassed folk, the B.C. school teachers.

"Even the janitors have better bargaining rights than they have," he declared.

To which the self-respecting, properly-organized janitor might reply: "Sir, I resent the word 'even'!"

* * *

George Massey, the voluble member for Delta, began speaking at 4.42 p.m. and had so much to say the House had to adjourn at 6 pm.—the official adjournment time—to allow him to finish.

He finished at 6.25 having declared:

"I don't have to cross the floor of this House to get the results I want."

Most members agreed. Mr. Massey had worn them all down.

MORE PRESSURE PUT ON FRENCH BY TUNISIANS

TUNIS (AP) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba increased his diplomatic pressure on France today and put a police blockade around three French consulates.

Bourguiba previously had asked the French to close five of their consulates. The French refused

Police guards around the consulates at Medjez, Le Kef and Gafsa put consular officials under the same restrictions as France's 15,000 troops in Tunisia, now bottled up in their bases.

Bourguiba has asked France to withdraw her troops and give up her big naval base at Bizerte as a result of the French bombing of a frontier village last Saturday.

However, he urged the people to keep calm and limited to four hours a general strike called for today in national mourning for the bombing victims.

U.K. H-Defence Alarms Press

LONDON (Reuters) — Two British newspapers have expressed concern over government plans to develop nuclear weapons side by side with the United States.

British plans to develop an advanced type of ballistic rocket, which some papers describe as a new "wonder weapon," were revealed Thursday in the annual defence department white paper.

"Outside NATO, we are still giving priority to the nuclear deterrent, and we are developing a more advanced ballistic missile than the American rockets which are to be stationed here," says The Times in an editorial.

"But can we afford the future ramifications of an offensive capacity based on missiles?

"There will always be a better missile, or a better antidote, just around the corner."

The Manchester Guardian says the government is making a mistake in going ahead with a separate British nuclear deterrent.

"Is there anything to be gained by adding a British deterrent to the American deterrent?" the Liberal paper's editorial asks. "Obviously the answer is 'no'."

The Soviet news agency Tass said today that Britain's defence statement "contains unveiled threats against the Soviet Union."

The agency quoted a reference to medium-range rockets in the possession of the Western powers and located in Europe and other areas being able to "destroy practically all important targets in the Soviet Union."

Start Ordered On New City Garbage Plant

First $82,130 portion of Victoria's planned new $240,000 garbage plant was approved Thursday for immediate construction.

After more than a year of discussion, the plan passed city council almost without comment.

Funds for the project will be taken from the "tax sale lands account" and will make no direct effect on the 1958 mill rate.

NEW INCINERATOR

First phase of the renovation includes construction of a new incinerator at the garbage wharf, foot of Store Street, and reconstruction of an old building for office use.

Later developments will include a new scow, a compression unit which will make the garbage "sinkable" and complete roofing of the wharf installations.

The completed project will cut city garbage costs by $4,000 annually.

'Retaining' Case Remanded

George Gettle, 340 Burnside East, was remanded for two weeks in Saanich police court Thursday after crown evidence was completed in a charge of retaining stolen property.

Gettle was charged in connection with theft of about $500 worth of groceries, cigars, cigarets, cookies and a small clock from Bluebird Market, 3930 Douglas, last Dec. 24.

The defence admitted groceries, but nothing else, were stolen property.

Gettle has been found guilty of another charge of possessing stolen goods—two bottles of vodka—and awaits sentence.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Take care that you conduct yourself in such a way that outsiders as well as intimates like and admire you. Great time to put appearance in finest form, also to be helpful to others you like.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Here is the right time to take that little trip out of town for a bit of nonsense and gaiety. Bring a really vital friend with you and learn a great deal, too. P.M. study when you return home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—With an eye on your income and salaries, go out today and price the lovely things you would like to buy, the musical apparatus, furniture or statuary. If within your means, invest. Tonight, be loving.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Make a beeline for the individual who means the most to you and show your affection, regard. Don't stammer, but come right out with what is on your mind. Hence you clear the air and cement relations for life.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Put in those little gadgets, touches of art, etc., that will make your surroundings more attractive, efficient. Also, get the good will of fellow workers. It may mean some effort, but a pleasant manner will accomplish much.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—A day for dressing in the nicest fashion, great taste, bringing out best points, magnetism. Then meet those fascinating persons who can help you, and in p.m. get together with dearest friends for favorite sports, amusements.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Here is the free day you have wanted to devote to beautifying your home and surroundings. Wield the paintbrush, cleanse drapes, venetian blinds, etc. Then in p.m. have a group of artists or friends in for dinner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—A great many little outside tasks should be taken care of early today and with alacrity. Later, you can step out with friends and enjoy amusements that most uplift and entertain. Be gay.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Your real estate has been permitted to get rundown. Attend to getting repairs made at minimum expense and maximum of beauty and value. Look to your credit, set up a more flexible budget with a bigger savings account.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Your dynamism is at its peak today, so that it would behoove you to go after what you desire. Praise the fine qualities of others. P.M. excellent for being with longtime friends, meeting fine new ones.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Here is a wonderful day for taking inventory of your assets that will give a clear picture of your progress. Also, impress others with your indefatigability, wonderful qualities, and they back you. Give yourself credit for once.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—A good-looking pal is now in the mood to accord you the prestige, help you need and work along with you in some co-operate effort towards assured success. Make other fine agreements, too, in conjunction with this.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY

The delightful child born Saturday is the type who knows exactly what will make others like and respect him or her, but also is cognizant of the needs of others and does something to be of help. Only when this youngster knows the value of a dollar, however, will the personality be ideal. Give a formal education, teaching the religious tenets to counteract a tendency towards cold-bloodedness.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—There may be a series of arguments today with intimates if you pick them up on the slightest provocation, and vice versa. Indicate quickly your spirit of co-operation and then all will be harmonious.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Take care you do not hurt unnecessarily someone who means much to you but is in need of rest instead of enforced activity. Do own work and have patience, then all is secure, and the future will be better.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—While you would prefer to go off with irresponsible, gay persons today, it is far better to attend your church, or study those things that elevate the soul, bring about greater success. Live right and live.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—A most wide-from-the-mark intuition occurs to you which makes you feel is just what you have waited for. Ponder and reflect seriously, for it may be but the father of your desires. Discard it, and use commonsense.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—A clever associate today reacts in such a peculiar fashion that it has you nonplussed for a while. But remember that this is one of those days when all sorts of strangeness prevail. Keep perfect equilibrium yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—While mentally you are very eager to get a great deal of work done, the aspects indicate that rest is wisdom. Think and plan more methods of operation instead. Force will only cause accidents.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Although entertainment at any cost is your goal today, if you persist in following this whim, you will pay dearly, especially since it leads you into the path of rather worthless persons. Devote time to true mate instead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—If you give those about you any heed today, you will feel very frustrated and annoyed. Give only half an ear to their complaints as you labor diligently. Once they have aired their grievances, all is well again.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Particular care must be taken today not to get into any unfortunate accident en route to work or pleasure, walking or driving. Guard your words, too. Show appreciation instead, and confer with kind advisor.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—This day calls for wisdom and tenacity of purpose, since you must decide between carrying through with old-fashioned standards learned at parents' knee, or go modern, as the saying goes. Stick to old, put on veneer of new.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Here is one of those days when those in your immediate orbit all seem bound to effect great changes in you and your mode of living, which would be unfortunate if you capitulated. Study deeper into the truths instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You have real cause for feeling so angry you could pick up heavy objects and heave them, or give off a volley of terrible language. Don't! Your poise today will throw the other person instead. Learn a very great lesson.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY

The rascally little type of young individual born Sunday is the tyke who early thinks that by being an instigator, then standing by judicially, he can make a great hit in the world. Put your youngster early in the hands of some fine religious leader, give a very good education, and the potentially great mind-power will then be released in the right directions, and you have a leader, a real success.

"RICH VELVET"

"Rich Velvet" is the only way to describe the lawns surrounding this gentleman's home. Located on Despard Avenue (the street long associated with Victoria's elite). The home will be appreciated by those accustomed to a quality residence, includes such luxury features as master bedroom with its own facilities, comfortable den and an exceptional kitchen, the kind that makes "cook" happy and keeps "the help." Full price for this home is $39,000
Have your solicitor investigate the terms and title and ask him to call Eric A. Macfadyen, 2-8748 or 5-6741.

"Lakefront Property AGAIN"

Surrounded by ¾ of an acre of rolling lawns. Sandy beach, wharf, change house and outdoor barbecue. This white siding, seven-year-old bungalow has four bedrooms, den, large living room, dining room and electric kitchen, utility and Oil-O-Matic heat. Close to the city. "A Real Home." "Amazing Terms."
Full price $16,000
It won't last long, so dial Mrs. V. Roberts now at 5-6741 or 2-1988.

"Another Lakefront"

White cedar shake bungalow, 20-foot living room, 2 bedrooms, Oil-O-Matic hot water, on our other lovely lake. This, too, has ¾ of an acre with lawns and dogwood trees. For peaceful, gracious living see it now.
Full price $14,600
Dial Mrs. V. Roberts at 5-6741 or 2-1988 for full particulars.

"EXPENSIVE SEAVIEW"

Here is a dandy NHA-built 3-bedroom home that could be built for less elsewhere BUT the view is worth a small fortune. Confidentially, make an offer, these folk are moving soon. Call Mrs. Isabell Wellings, 5-6741 or 7-2769.

"THE BLUE DOOR"

Snuggled on a Saanich hillside, surrounded by a much-loved garden, this 2-bedroom home is just the stuff that dreams are made of. On the practical side, full basement, dining room, wonderful construction, and the front door IS painted blue.
Dial Isabell Wellings, 5-6741 or 7-2769.

"UNIQUE FAIRFIELD"

Modern looking stucco semi-bungalow that has a number of unique features that set it apart. Here are a few: large living room-dining room combination with French doors. No steps, 5 bedrooms or 4 and a den. Worth investigating if you are looking for a home or revenue possibilities. Priced to sell, so hurry and phone Mrs. Isabell Wellings, 5-6741 or 7-2769.

"BRAND NEW"

A beautiful 6-room, full basement, oil-heated home just completed in a close-in city location. Call George Chan at 5-6741, res. 2-9416, and enjoy the comforts of luxurious living. Full price on terms at only $12,800

"OAK BAY NORTH SPECIAL"

Choose your dream home today. 5-room stucco bungalow. Large living room, fireplace, small dining room, electric cabinet kitchen, 4-piece bath, plus utility room on main floor. Oil-O-Matic heat. Landscaped, and carport, too.

18 ESCAPE PLANE CRASH

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—A twin-engined Western Airlines transport, making its daily run from this desert resort to San Diego, crash-landed and burned just after takeoff Thursday afternoon. Authorities said 15 passengers and the crew of three ran to safety after the Convair transport slid to a stop. Flames then destroyed the ship. One of the plane's occupants was injured.

Rescue Came Late; Hiker Found Dead

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—A daring rescuer who Thursday inched 300 feet down a jagged, crumbling cliff found a 13-year-old boy dead on an icy ledge.

Donald Burns plunged over a waterfall during a hike with schoolmates. He tumbled 100 feet down in the waterfall, then hurtled another 200 feet down the rough face of 11,485-foot San Gorgonio Mountain.

John Matthews of Alhembra, a member of the Sierra Madre search and rescue unit, reached him 25 hours later.

He signalled that the boy was dead.

Matthews' descent climaxed the efforts of 24 rescuers—sheriff's deputies and air force men—to reach Donald.

His mother, Mrs. Eula Burns, who had stood quietly at the base of the cliff, 400 feet below her son, got the news of Donald's death from San Bernardino's County Sheriff Frank Bland.

"Oh, no! Oh, God! Don't let it be true," she sobbed.

Strike of 300 Affects 40,000

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—A strike by 300 key men threw 8,800 other automotive employees out of work yesterday.

The labor trouble also threatened the jobs of 40,000 more men employed by the British Motor Corporation.

Kiernan Barbs Spark Hottest House Flare-Up

Minister Clashes With CCFers; Forced to Withdraw Harsh Words

A stinging attack on the Opposition by Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan produced the hottest fireworks of the session in the Legislature Thursday.

Mr. Kiernan tore into the Opposition on a number of counts, but had his sharpest words for CCFer Randolph Harding.

He described Mr. Harding's comparison of the Wenner-Gren plan with the E&N land grant as "the most cold-blooded, deliberate falsification of facts I have yet witnessed."

Mr. Harding objected angrily and Speaker Hugh Shantz ordered Mr. Kiernan to withdraw the phrase "deliberate falsification."

The minister complied, but kept after the Opposition by accusing it of attempting to "poison the minds of the people" over the Wenner-Gren scheme.

That touched off a general uproar, with CCF Leader Robert Strachan repeatedly calling the minister's remarks "garbage," and the Speaker pounding his gavel for order.

Speaker Threatens Discipline

The Speaker finally restored order by threatening to discipline some of the members.

Mr. Kiernan said Mr. Harding could not produce "one iota" of evidence to back up his charge that the proposed Wenner-Gren development is a giveaway.

"He was deliberately misinforming the public," the minister said.

"There are no secret documents. There is no giveaway, and you know it."

It is not fair to "deliberately misconstrue" the project, Mr. Kiernan said, adding that misinformation about the Wenner-Gren agreement had spread all over the country.

"You're deliberately poisoning the people's minds against a project that can be nothing but good for the people of this province," he said.

Mr. Strachan asked the Speaker if "deliberately poison minds" was acceptable in the House.

"Because if it is, I'll use it plenty," he said.

"That's no change," interjected Attorney-General Bonner. "You've been doing it for years."

"Garbage, that's what that is," Mr. Strachan retorted hotly.

Mr. Kiernan twitted the Opposition for not being able to take criticism.

"Nothing personal was intended," the minister said, "but when I see people not prepared to deal with projects on their merits, I have a right, a responsibility . . ."

"Political garbage," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Kiernan got the Opposition leader angry again when he said the government had made provision for a research assistant for him "partly in self defence" so he would get the facts.

"I expected this," Mr. Strachan commented.

'Gladly Repeat Outside House'

Mr. Harding said the government showed by its actions it is "worried and ashamed."

"You'll be ashamed of what you said," he told Mr. Kiernan.

"I'm never ashamed of anything I say," Mr. Kiernan replied. "Anything I say in this House I'll gladly repeat outside the House."

"That's how low you are," said Arthur Turner (CCF, Vancouver East).

Government members began shouting "withdraw, withdraw" at Mr. Turner and the Speaker broke in.

"If I have to speak again to some members," he said, "I will use my authority under the standing orders."

(The rules permit the Speaker to order a member out of the assembly chamber for wilfully blocking the procedure of the House.)

Mr. Kiernan's free-swinging attack was the strongest delivered by any government member so far, and his barbs were repeatedly applauded by his supporters.

He hit out at Opposition "innuendos" over a number of issues, including the appointment of former chief justice Gordon Sloan as government forests adviser, and the settling of the IWA strike last summer.

The minister defended the government's current economy drive.

"It's the taxpayers' money we're spending," he said, "and we want to get the best possible value for it."

The minister also upheld the government's policy of listing borrowings of the PGE and Power Commission as "contingent liabilities" and not direct debt.

The debt of these self sustaining agencies should be paid off by the people who use their services as in any other business, he said.

Sunset Shows To Be Subject Of Meeting

Annual sunset and retreat ceremonies by all service branches, will be subject of a special meeting at Bay Street Armories, 8 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 20.

Brig. John S. Adam, Commander 25 Militia Group, said five years of the tri-service programs has provided ". . . a wealth of satisfaction to both the participating units . . . and the public."

He added, "A precedent has been set for the rest of Canada . . . in 'bringing the flag to the people'."

Representatives of 18 military and naval units, and cadet groups, as well as civic officials, are expected to attend the meeting in the officers' mess of 5 Independent Medium Battery, RCA.

The sunset ceremonies, featuring a military band, guard of honor, parade and flag lowering before the Legislative Buildings, has been a major attraction to tourists and residents alike, in recent years.

Blasts Hoped To Eliminate Snowslides

VANCOUVER (CP) — Blasting of heavy snow deposits next week at Ross Point in the Glacier, B.C., area may lead to the elimination of devastating snowslides in the Rockies, a CPR spokesman said Thursday.

The army announced in Calgary Thursday that the blasting operation would be carried out next Tuesday.

The CPR spokesman said a "great deal of scientific study has been given this plan and the results may solve many snow problems for railways and highways in the future."

Proposal to Close Douglas St. Old Hat

There is nothing new in the suggestion of Prof. Fred Lasserre of the University of British Columbia, that downtown Douglas Street be closed to vehicular traffic and become a pedestrian shopping area.

Prof. Lasserre made the suggestion to a Kiwanis Club this week.

The idea was expressed some time ago by Dr. Jackson Faustman, consulting traffic engineer from California, in his 1956 Victoria traffic survey report.

At the time, Roderick Clack, architect, who has since become assistant city engineer in charge of planning, strongly supported the scheme.

Mr. Clack who argued in favor of the Faustman proposal at the time felt that such a scheme would do much to solve the parking problem and would make the shopping area more attractive to shoppers.

'A KICK IN THE APOGEE'

One More Rocket Motor—Zoom Jupiter Missile Circles Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Put one more rocket motor on the Jupiter-C missile that launched the American satellite and you could reach the moon.

Scientists who designed Explorer I made this claim Thursday at a press conference called to report on the satellite's progress through the heavens.

California Institute of Technology's jet propulsion laboratory has formally asked government permission to try to circle the moon with some future satellite.

The plan is called the "kick in the apogee" technique.

There is no thought at the moment, scientists said, of trying this with Explorer II, the second United States satellite now being rushed to completion at the jet lab.

Dr. Henry Richter explained how the "kick 'n the apogee" technique would work.

A fifth rocket stage would be added to the four stages of the Jupiter-C. The first four rockets would put the satellite into an orbit similar to Explorer's.

The part of the egg-shaped orbit closest to earth is called the perigee. The part farthest from earth is called the apogee. Because the satellite would be hundreds of miles farther out in space at the apogee, that is the best point at which to give it another boost, or "a kick in the apogee" with the fifth rocket.

Richter and other scientists at the press conference said Explorer I is performing as they expected it would. All information it has radioed back so far indicates that a human could live in a satellite. "Room temperature" is being maintained inside the satellite and measuring devices indicate no great peril from cosmic rays or small meteorites in space.

Edmonton Man Requests Jury Trial

An Edmonton man was committed in city police court Thursday to trial by judge and jury on a charge of false pretenses involving a worthless cheque for $62.57.

Robert Young faces four false pretense charges, one of which was withdrawn and preliminary hearings for the two remaining were set for next Wednesday.

Charges went back to July 22, 1955, and involve Alan's Ladies' Wear, 725 Yates; W. and J. Wilson Ltd., 1221 Government; Coronation Motors Ltd., 2978 Douglas, and O. H. Dorman Ltd., 1328 Douglas.

The Wilson charge was withdrawn today when the principal crown witness was unable to identify the accused positively.

Young was committed on the Coronation Motors charge. It is alleged he obtained gasoline, oil and grease to a value of $6.08, receiving the balance of the cheque in cash.

The accused is represented by H. L. Matthews. Bail was set at $1,000.

Punishment Carried Too Far, Father Told

A parent's rights and duties include punishment of his children, Magistrate H. C. Hall said in Saanich police court Thursday, but it can be carried too far.

Thomas Edward Drysdale, 1570 Arrow, was given a suspended sentence and placed on $250 bond for six months' good behavior when he was found guilty of assault causing actual harm to his 12½-year-old daughter Linda.

"A parent has the right and duty to chastise the child," the court said. "Under the circumstances I think you went beyond the normal . . ."

During a family disagreement in which Drysdale's two daughters refused to obey him, the accused struck Linda on the ear, resulting in medical treatment for a perforated eardrum, the court was told.

. . . SOMMERS

Mr. Daniels: "Oh, come now, I have been to dinner with him and to his house since I left the company."

Mr. Brown: "I suggest you hated him."

Mr. Daniels: "That is an absolute fabrication."

Mr. Brown: "You resented the fact that he had been made president of the company."

Mr. Daniels: "I certainly did not."

Mr. Daniels had said Thursday the company paid out $30,000 in consideration for a forest management licence and that all or part of it went to Mr. Sommers.

Mr. Daniels told Mr. Brown that he did not have any direct participation in the ultimate decisions on timber purchases by BCFP.

He said he had no knowledge of any services performed by H. Wilson Gray or PCS in connection with attempts by BCFP to acquire Jorgenson Timber Co. or the Kapoor Timber.

However, he agreed that a substantial commission would be paid to anyone who could arrange purchase of the assets of Kapoor. He said he believed BCFP was prepared to pay $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 for the Kapoor company.

Mr. Daniels said BCFP "definitely decided" to buy Kapoor if it could purchase the assets and not the shares of the company.

"You wouldn't be surprised to learn that Pacific Coast Services were engaged to help in attempting the purchase," asked Mr. Brown.

"It would surprise me considerably," Mr. Daniels said.

Mr. Daniels later said he had heard rumors about Schultz Ltd. and had thought they should be investigated because BCFP had retained the consultant firm in an application for a forest management licence.

Magistrate Orr ended the exchange between Mr. Brown and Mr. Daniels by ordering a five-minute adjournment.

Mr. Daniels, who was flushed, complained that his latent ulcer was acting up. It had begun bothering him recently.

Labor Crews Cut At BCPC Plant

CHEMAINUS — Construction work on the B.C. Power Commission power plant at Bare Point is now being carried on by a reduced labor crew.

Engineers are awaiting arrival of parts for the second power unit, and for the arrival of the final two generating units.

The one unit now in operation is ready to furnish power when needed.

300 Surrey Teachers to Fight Award by Arbitration Board

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER — More than 300 teachers in suburban Surrey municipality have decided to take court action against an award of a 7.9 per cent wage increase made by an arbitration board.

The teachers decided at a meeting Thursday to donate $5 a month each to pay legal costs for the battle against the award, made in the face of their request for an 11 per cent raise. Letters are to be sent to parents of school children explaining the teachers' stand.

General secretary Charles Ovans of the B.C. Teachers' Federation told the Surrey teachers the federation will give its full support.

Chairman Hal Sinclair of the Surrey Teachers' Association said the group is prepared to spend $10,000 to $20,000 in fighting the award, which he said was made after the school board obtained a court order appointing an arbitrator.

SWEET-TOOTHED THIEF

VANCOUVER — A thief with a sweet tooth stole 1,680 chocolate bars from the parked auto of Leon Kahn early Thursday.

Police believed a youth was responsible for taking the bars, worth $168, and a $300 camera. Several other cars in the area were broken into, but nothing was stolen.

CRIME REDUCED

VANCOUVER — The general crime situation in Vancouver last month was "better than we had dared hope," Chief Constable George Archer said here Thursday.

But he said the breaking and entering picture was still bad with a total of 336 breakins for the month—13 more than in December, 1957.

LAWYER, CLIENT ON TRIAL

VANCOUVER—The trial of a lawyer and his client charged with attempting to defeat the course of justice opened in county court Thursday before Judge R. A. Sargent.

George G. Chapman, 39-year-old barrister, and Samuel J. Carra, 27, are accused of conspiring to defeat the course of justice, attempting to defeat the course of justice by counselling witnesses to commit perjury, perjury, and conspiring to commit perjury.

The charges grew out of Carra's trial on an impaired driving charge.

DAMAGES AWARDED

VANCOUVER — Judge Stanley J. Remnant, one of two new county court judges sworn in here Thursday, awarded $240 damages to a woman for "nausea" suffered when she found a blood-soaked bandage in a hot cross bun she had purchased.

The damages were awarded to Mrs. Marie Evans. The defendant was baker James T. Knight.

CITY GETS ALL OPTIONS ON NEW FIRE HALL SITE

A special meeting of city council to wind up negotiations for the site of the new main fire hall at Yates and Camosun, has been set for Tuesday.

Council fire wardens committee chairman Ald. A. I. Curtis told council only that the meeting was required in connection with land dealings for the hall.

He later confirmed that options on all the required property have now been obtained. Approval of a $90,000 purchase must be obtained.

The committee hopes to regain $30,000 through resale of some of the homes involved.

Outspoken Taxpayers Upset Revision Court

A three-man court of revision sitting in the Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall Thursday started hearing 250 complaints against increased assessments on property and dwellings in the urban part of Saanich.

The hall was crowded with about 160 ratepayers, but only 25 managed to present their cases at the session. The remainder were assigned to appear at hearings to be held within the next two weeks.

The court is composed of lawyer J. G. McIntosh, ex-city alderman Waldo Skillings and ex-Saanich councillor Eugene Diespecker.

Three reductions were granted by the court.

One woman won a $50 reduction in land assessment because the lot was poor.

UNDER WATER

Another taxpayer had a $150 assessment on improvements wiped out because the improvements—a shack—was situated on adjoining property. The same person received a reduction on land assessment after he complained the property was under water during the winter months.

Some ratepayers were dissatisfied with the methods used by Mr. McIntosh to maintain order in the court.

The chairman reminded outspoken taxpayers that the court had the power to find them in contempt, and impose fines.

The court warned a man who complained that he had taken the day off to appear before the court and now had to appear on another day.

ABIDE BY LAW

Mr. McIntosh explained that the court had to work according to provincial law.

But the man continued complaining to the assessor.

The chairman told him: "Now, any more talk like that and we are going to fine you for contempt."

A woman who exclaimed, "Well, thank God for that," after the court told ratepayers they had the right to appeal their cases, also was warned of contempt.

"Might as well tell you now we won't take any abuse from you or anyone else," Mr. McIntosh said.

Chemainus Resumes Shipments of Chips

CHEMAINUS — MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus Division, this week began shipping pulp chips to the Harmac pulp mill near Nanaimo, which was strike-bound for three months.

The company has not yet announced plans for the disposal of the huge mountain of chips, some 24,000 units in all, stored in the ball park. The huge pile of chips circles the big ball park on two sides and completely blankets the former little league park.
